MARTHA—Housework and washing is only an excuse for red and ugly who do all their own housework and yet have beautiful white hands. They wase, what I use, CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM. It is the most wonderful thing in the world for preventing chapping and redness of the hands. I wouldn't be without it. Keep a bottle of CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM on your bathroom shelf and rub a littley on your hands every time you, have had them in water to do cleaning. It will soft-them from the wear and tear of housework. You can buy CAMPANA'S ITALIAN BALM at any Druggist. 40c. a large bottle.

HOW TO MAKE MONEY.

F SW women are averse to making pin money. It doesn't matter whether they need it or not. There is special pleasure in spending money one has made through one's own initiative and resources. Each day there will appear on this page one of a series of suggestions on making money. Each article will give women readers of The Whig an idea that may be turned into a moneymaker. terial to be used in rugs. that which has been set aside for the rag carpet is a disagreeable job that the housekeeper always dreads, but it is not so unpleasant when one understands the work so well that there is little fear of failure or when the work is so planned that one is not called away from it to attend to other duties.

It is a wonder that there are not more enterprising women who have not thought to take up this form of employment as a means of making money There are women who think no more of dyeing a piece of goods than they would of washing it and they invariably obtain good results. These are the women who should advertise to do "Successful Home many women who object to the complain that goods colored new.

They like much better to know what is used in the coloring composition and one really does not lose in the long run by telling them. In fact, if you mean to build up a good business and be considered reliable you must not use anything which you are afraid to have known.

One country woman has made a great many dollars by knowing how to color a nice black with logwood chips. Everyone knows what she uses but no one feels sure of doing a piece of work so successfully as she does, and a great many would rather have the work done than take chances.

Not only does she color goods by dipping them into the dye, but those which cannot be saturated, such as men's over-Dyeing."
