BARELY OUT OF THEIR TEENS

Three Young Men to Face the Most Serious Charge on Criminal Calendar.

Three young men, barely out of their teens, are to be placed on trial at Napanee, the latter part of next week, to answer to the most serious crime on the criminal calendar that of Murder.

The case will be followed with keen interest in this district, especially in Kingston and Napanee, for it is doubtful if a case of this kind, in which young men of such tender years had to face such a serious charge.

Sherwood and Erwood Upton, twin brothers, celebrated their 20th birthday on December 14th, in the police cells in Kingston, about ten days after they had been placed under arrest. Fred Bryant is just twenty-one years of age. He has a wife, but the other two young men are single. All three have lived in Kingston for some time. Bryant was born and brought up in this city, but the Upton boys came from the country, around Elginburg. Their father came out to Canada from the old country several years ago.

This is the first time the Upton boys have had trouble with the police, but sad to relate, young Bryant has been in the toils before, having had to answer to charges in the juvenile court.

It is expected that a portion of one day will be sufficient to hear the evidence which will be offered at the preliminary hearing when the three men are charged with the killing of Night Constable Richard Beard, at Napanee, on the morning of August 28th last. The case will go to the high court in February.

COUNTY HOCKEY LEAGUE

The Schedule of Games Was Drawn Up on Friday Evening.

At a very enthusiastic meeting of the County Hockey League executive held in the Kingston Amateur Athletic Association rooms on Friday evening, the schedules for the league were drawn up. It was decided to divide the league into three groups. Group No. 1 will be composed of Wolfe Island, Sydenham and Verona. Group No. 2, Cataract, Westbrooke and Barriefield. The winners of Group No. 2 and Group No. 3 will meet and declare a winner to meet the champion of Group No. 1. The semi-finals and final games will be played at the Harty arena, at dates to be settled by the executive committee. All the clubs were represented with the exception of Westbrooke.

George Awrey, athletic director at Queen's University, was present and told the gathering that the athletic board would always be willing to cooperate with the county teams. The teams will be able to get practices at the arena if they wish them. At the close of the meeting, Mr. Awrey invited the representatives of the teams to visit the junior O.H.A. game as the guests of Queen's University.

ONTARIO VEGETABLES AROUSING INTEREST

The Display in London Evokes Favorable Comment From Spectators.

The display of Ontario vegetables, which were recently sent to England by the department of agriculture at Toronto, has created great interest in London and elsewhere. The vegetables consisted chiefly of very large pumpkins, squashes and vegetable marrow, together with a fine selection of roots. The exhibit was attractively displayed in the shop window of the agent-general's office, also in the window of the Canadian National Railways in Trafalgar Square, London. Others parts of the exhibit were sent to the York Pat Stock Show and the various shipping agents in leading towns of Great Britain.

Epidemic of Dysentery

It affects many people more in winter than in summer—in the one case it is due to improper eating—in the other, to congestion excited by cold. A small dose of good, old Nerville's removes the trouble very promptly. If there is pain, relief is almost immediate. For cramps, colic, stomach pains, and the like, Nerville's in sweetened water is certainly a wonder. 25c. at all dealers.

Britain. Wherever shown the Ontario vegetables attracted the attention of the public to a marked degree, and many were the expressions of astonishment at the enormous size of the pumpkins and the beautiful quality of the potatoes, onions, man-gels, etc.

JOURNAL PRINTED BY INDIANS

Cherokees Once Had a Newspaper That May Be Said to Have Become a Power.

The Cherokee Indians, when still occupying what now is the state of Georgia, published a newspaper in their native tongue in 1828. One of their tribes, Sequoyah by name, in 1823 designed 80 characters that were to represent the Cherokee language in print. The national committee and council of the tribe meeting at New Echota, the capital of their nation, in 1826, voted a fund to buy type, a press and the necessary equipment. The paper was known as the Cherokee Phoenix. Half of it was printed in Cherokee and half in English. Hundreds of full-blood Indians who otherwise would have remained illiterate all their lives, were thus enabled to read after mastering the alphabet. These Indians became subscribers of the paper, as did members of neighboring states, and the paper became a power.

The Phoenix was "known in Europe," and among other famous papers that asked to be placed on the exchange list was the London Times. The paper was in operation for about five years, and was harassed when the movement having for its object the removal of the Cherokee Indians westward was at its height. It suspended publication when the Georgia state legislature forbade a white man to live among the Cherokees.

The honor of becoming the first Indian editor fell to Elias Boudinot, a native-born citizen of the nation.

DRAW ON AFRICAN FORESTS

Plan on Foot to Increase World's Supply of Wood From That Source Going Forward.

A reinforcement for the world demand for lumber is preparing in British East Africa, where there are between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 acres of woodland to draw upon, and a new industry, very infantile at present, is expected to grow so rapidly that the government is now considering plans to improve the harbor facilities for exporting the product. The best wood is suitable for wheel makers and wagon builders and the making of wood block paving, railway sleepers, bridges, ax yokes, and ax, pick and tool handles. It also makes good flooring and lining boards. The builder, however, must needs be of a patient disposition if he postpones building until these British East African woods are available. Meantime there are new sounds in some of the African forests, the rhythm of the woodsman's ax, the buzz of the sawmill, and the puffing of undrained locomotives on the narrow gauge tracks that are penetrating from the main line of railway into the woodlands. And many a workman, no doubt, will some day work with tools whose handles grew in an African forest.

Ancient Chinese Art

Attention has been called to a notable addition to the treasures of the British museum, in the shape of a colossal Chinese figure in wood. It is sculptured from cleverly jointed blocks, and represents a figure, in a sitting posture, five feet, eight inches in height. It is the first specimen of its kind to be added to the national collections in Great Britain; the date is thought to be from 1126 to 1270 A. D. It is to be hoped that the interest aroused will lead to further study of this branch of art. It is pointed out by a writer in the Burlington Magazine of Art that in Cleveland, O., a competent scholar in connection with the museum is sent to China to study the art and collect suitable art treasures on its behalf.

Cultivating Edible Bamboo

The Japanese edible bamboo has been successfully introduced into the southern portion of the United States by the department of agriculture. Several plantations are now established in Georgia and Louisiana. Popularization of the bamboo will furnish large home-grown supplies of this useful timber required by our manufacturing industries. The giant grass grows a foot a day, and its 50-foot stalk is well adapted for making frames, furniture, ladders, trellises and barrel hoops. The new sprout is a delicious vegetable and resembles asparagus in flavor and in the manner of its preparation. There is an increasing demand in America for the bamboo timber, and also for the edible bamboo shoot.

Must Have Been to Movie Show

A recent night in an eastern city two policemen saw a man swinging a woman back and forth from the fourth story window of a building while she kept up a continuous screaming. They rushed upstairs and arrested the man, saved the woman and arrested the man. But, they noticed that his eyes were closed. At police headquarters a doctor who examined him said the man was suffering from nightmare and was not aware of what he was doing. If we lived in that family it wouldn't be necessary to close the windows at night, they would be nailed down tight all the time.—Capper's Weekly.

THE BRITISH HOME

is one of Music and literary taste, but of the two, it is quite possible that the former predominates.

To arrive at this decision, there is but one reason, and that is the combination of characters found in Music and the high state of educated minds to be found in the British, which understand them.

When a British home lacks the most wonderful of all instruments, a Piano, it is usually through insufficient funds and insufficient information regarding the terms on which they may be purchased.

There are no better terms than our own and no easier way to learn of them than by coming in and hearing of them from us.
