ADULTERATION PRACTISED

By Milk Producers G. G. Publow Tells Eastern Ontario Dairy Convention.

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—At the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's convention here, G. G. Publow, Kingston, Chief Dairy Instructor for Eastern Ontario, gave a short address. "We hear a lot about factories having to shut down on account of the regulations of the Dairy Standards Act," said Mr. Publow, "but this is all rumor. There have been only seven factories closed through legislation in Ontario. The concerns being erected at the present time are meeting all the conditions called for in the act, while the ones already in existence can, with a little expense, be put in the same position." Mr. Publow explained that it was the intention of the government to administer the act with judgment and to make every effort to get all interested to see the justice of the legislation and to approve of same. The testers to be used by the government would have the confidence of the public, he assured the convention, amid considerable applause.

That there was need for every bit of legislation already in existence was amply proven by this speaker, who claimed that the quality and reputation of Ontario dairy products were suffering for lack of enforcing the law. "Fifty to 60 per cent, of the cheese shipped from eastern Ontario to Montreal at a certain period during the past season," he stated, "was under grade, open and off-flavor, and I am convinced 75 per cent, of the defects can be placed to unpasteurized whey. The loss from this cause alone in the same section amounts to over one million dollars annually."

Mr. Publow explained that the whey in these cases is returned to the farmer, who hauls it away in the whole-milk cans. The whey, when unpasteurized, develops bacteria which ruins the quality of the cheese and is transmitted to it through the milk cans. Ordinary washing cannot destroy the germ. "Compulsory pasteurizing of whey has cured this damage (sometimes amounting to 50 per cent, of the output) in three days, stated the speaker. "And at least a quarter of a million dollars will be saved, over and above the cost of the work, when this practice becomes general, besides halting the spread of tuberculosis among hogs through the same agency."

"There has been a lot of hostility to pasteurizing, factory men claiming that their present equipment is inadequate to handle the work, and that the expense of installing new machinery is prohibitive. This criticism was also answered by Mr. Publow, who claims that any boiler large enough to operate a cheese factory was large enough to pasteurize the whey, and that there was more steam wasted by the average factory in the course of a year than would be required to perform the work.

Something akin to a sensation was caused when the speaker stated that there were 65 outstanding cases of adulteration of milk during the past year and that if the inspectors had pushed this sort of thing at least 400 convictions would have been made. "As a result of this permitious practice and the other causes already mentioned it now requires 11.27 pounds of milk to make one pound of cheese, which is just .27 of a pound more than has ever been previously recorded," stated Mr. Publow. "This loss in one year amounts to over $250,000."

The speaker said that he was ashamed to announce that he was now well-nigh impossible to find cheese without a defect in eastern Ontario.

In closing, Mr. Publow asked for co-operation on the part of all interested. "Give us the same quality of milk you sell to the consumer or the creamery," he stated, "and we will put the cheese industry on a profitable and permanent basis."

NEW DAIRY BUSINESS

Excellent Purity of Milk Sold by A. H. Fair.

We have much pleasure in recommending to the citizens of Kingston, for consideration, the Hemlock Park Stock Farm's advertisement, in another column of this issue.

A. H. Fair, the proprietor, who has established this enterprise, has done so at very great cost to himself, acting upon the best advice of milk experts in Europe and America.

We understand the quality of milk produced is equal to the highest standard of certified milk, which sells in Toronto, at 45 cents per quart. To do this, the producers must live up to certain government regulations, which experts claim has been strictly adhered to by this enterprising concern.

There is no doubt this is a great opportunity for the citizens of Kingston to secure a reliable product, the best that can be produced at a nominal price. This milk has been known to keep sweet for seven days, because of its purity under ordinary conditions.

The Protest to Proceed.

The decision to protest the Kingston election announced some time ago has, it is learned, been confirmed. The Liberal executive has placed the evidence relating to alleged corrupt practices in legal hands and nothing will be permitted to prevent the issue going through the necessary legal procedure.

There was a very short session of the police court on Saturday morning. Ivan Burns, on remand for annoying young women and girls on the street, was further remanded for a week.

TELLS ABOUT JAPAN

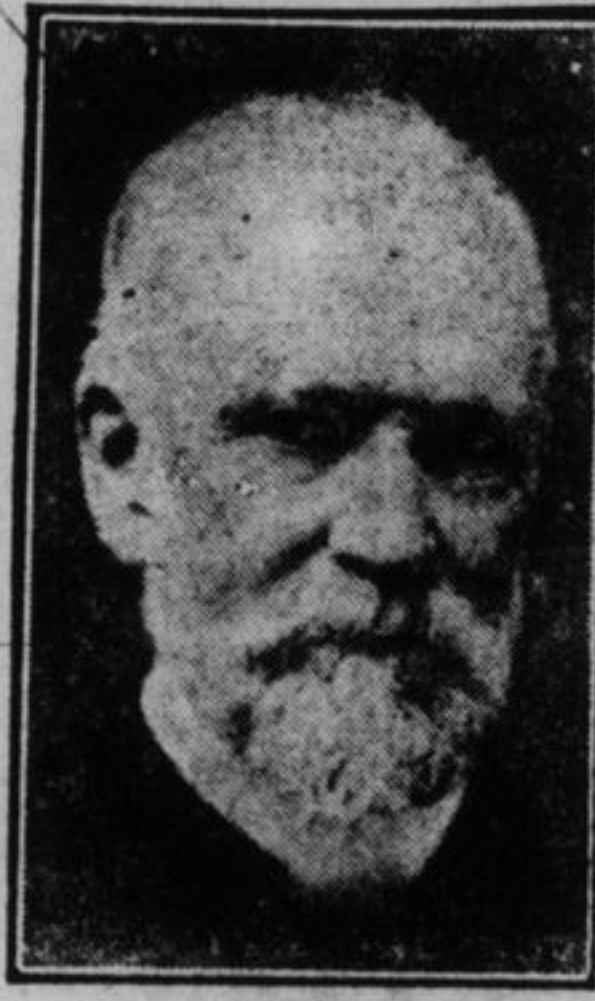

Mrs. J. G. Dunlop Addresses Sydenham Street Church Society.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society on Friday afternoon at Sydenham Street, Methodist church. The president, Miss Daisy Chown, occupied the chair.

Mrs. Dunlop, wife of Dr. Rev. J. G. Dunlop, a missionary in Japan, addressed the gathering. Mrs. Dunlop, although herself and husband are affiliated with the Presbyterian church in Japan, stated that she had received her first missionary inspiration in Sydenham street Methodist church one Sunday morning when as a child she attended a service at which a missionary spoke. She had a dollar she had earned herself and which no one knew she possessed, and she donated that to the missionary fund that morning. Mrs. Dunlop is now living in Kingston for the purpose of enabling her son to attend Queen's university. Dr. Dunlop is still in Japan.

Mrs. Dunlop read a message sent by her husband from the foreign field, and it was certainly very inspiring and appreciated by all. Mrs. Dunlop told of the advancement during the last ten years in Tokio, where she and Mr. Dunlop were stationed for a time. Heavy trucks are now travelling over roads which were built for small two-wheeled vehicles which were drawn by the civilian population. The Japanese women are adopting the American style of dress. They are also taking a very active part in athletics, and some of the girls are expert tennis players.

Mrs. R. Williams took charge of the devotional period, and made an earnest appeal for more workers, and for the consecration of the ones who are now engaged in the work. Mrs. E. Treener sang very delightfully, accompanied by Miss Bessie Rogers.

REV. T. W. PATERSON
