BURNS' ANNIVERSARY FITTINGLY OBSERVED

Banquet and Dance in Ontario Hall by the Sons of Scotland.

The one hundred and sixty-third anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns, Scotland's famous poet, was fittingly observed by a banquet and dance given in Ontario hall by Sir William Wallace Camp, Sons of Scotland, on Wednesday evening. The occasion was marked by brilliant addresses, the singing of beautiful songs, the feast of haggis which was served with time honored ceremonial including the Burns grace pronounced by Brother Allan Pollock. The haggis was borne into the hall, carried high above the heads of the attendants and preceded by Pipe Major Thomas McKenzie with drawn sword and Pipe Nelson. After encircling the hall the procession marched up the centre to the chieftain, James Hendry, and the grace was solemnly pronounced.

An excellent musical programme was rendered, the opening number being a selection by the pipe band. Salisbury's orchestra played throughout the evening, and Scotch dances, including "Sheep's Trews" and "Highland Fling," were given by Miss Jean Duncan, accompanied by Geo. Logan, pipe major. Songs were sung by J. D. Bankier, tenor, Mrs. Andrews, soprano and J. Elder, baritone, accompanied by Mrs. C. F. Jackson.

James Hendry, chief of camp Sir William Wallace was toastmaster and the toasts included "The Immortal Memory," proposed by Bro. Alexander Kerr, Belleville, grand chaplain, and responded to by Prof. Mitchell; "The Land We Live In," proposed by Prof. J. Roy and responded to by Bro. Brig-Gen. A. E. Ross; "The Ladies," proposed by Prof. J. F. McFadyen and responded to by Prof. James Miller.

In proposing the toast to "The Immortal Memory," Brother Kerr, conveyed fraternal greetings from Camp Rob Roy, Belleville. Referring to the poet Burns he said his memory was revered wherever there were Scotchmen, for above all other Scottish writers he interpreted the people best and glorified the simple things in a way that found an echo in the human heart.

In responding, Prof. Mitchell said Burns' fame lay in his great native genius. This was recognized by the writers of many nations, and strange as it may seem the best appreciation of the man and poet was written, not by a Scotman or an Englishman, but by a Frenchman who produced several volumes the result of a most exhaustive study and analysis of every incident in the poet's life. To appreciate the wit and sarcasm of Burns it was necessary to understand the conditions of his time. He laughed at Sunday observance and the hypocrisy prevalent, and turned a god of vengeance into a God of Love, as in "Holy Willie's Prayer." The devil, too, was ridiculed by him. His best work was, perhaps "Tam O'Shanter" Burns did not sing about the poor, but gave expression to his inmost soul and it was just in so far as he felt what he wrote that he interpreted humanity faithfully.

After the conclusion of the toasts the young people opened the dancing which was not concluded until midnight.

Late Rev. G. Horton, Belleville.
Belleville, Ont., Jan. 26.—Rev. Gilbert Horton is dead in this city. Deceased was born in the township of Rawdon, Oct. 2nd, 1849, and in that township spent the first years of his life. He received his education in the public schools of the township and at Albert College, Belleville. Entering the ministry of the Methodist church in 1872, he was married to Misses Cassie Clark, and they together worked in the following fields: Brighton, Garden Hill, Wooler, where he was twice pastor; Haliburton, Adolphustown, Enterprise, Trenton, Bobcaygeon, Bridgewater, Morven and Roblin. Nine years ago Mr Horton was superannuated and about seven years of his retirement has been spent in Belleville. His wife predeceased him. Surviving are four sons: Dr. B. B. Thornton; Dr. E. M. Enterprise; F. C. New York; Vernon Toronto, and one daughter, Mrs. Brown, Belleville.

"The Unloved Wife."
"The Unloved Wife," three act comedy, was presented at the Grand on Wednesday afternoon and evening. This play tells of a man who, for revenge, purchases for his wife the young daughter of a butterfly widow who was his sweetheart in his college days, and who jilted him. He finally grows to love his wife whom he finds to be so different from her flighty and pleasure-seeking mother. The cast is an exceptionally good one, and there are several splendid bits of character acting.

Bringing Over Produce.
The residents of Wolfe Island are busily engaged drawing their produce over to the city for sale, and returning to their homes with supplies of various kinds for the summer season. The ice is now safe for the heaviest loads, and residents are taking full advantage of this, and will continue to do so during the few short weeks remaining.

A crime wave sweeps Southern Ireland. The provisional government calls men to the colors. At Edmonton a constable and his assistant slay each other in a fierce duel. The government will pay the greater share of unemployment relief cost. D. C. Ross is named county judge for Elgin.
