MANY FAST BOUTS STAGED IN QUEEN'S SEMI-FINAL ASSAULT

Fighting as Well as Boxing Featured in the Scraps—Wrestlers Are Good.

Wow, but they sure did mix it at Queen's semi-final elimination assault-at-arms last night! It was no pink tea affair and the boys went into the fighting game just as much as into the boxing game in the ring-and-glove part of it.

Least night's fracas was in the gymnasium. There were eight boxing bouts and five "wrestles." The main card, and, of course, the big attraction with most of the spectators, was the boxing and it turned out to be beyond the expectation of even the most enthusiastic of the officials in charge.

The boys just seemed to ant to scrap. They showed some pretty boxing, but there was nothing of the tap-and-run method in their tactics. Each pair of contestants seemed to mutually agree to have a good old-fashioned scrap, to go in and win or lose fighting hard, and "stalling" was not once visible.

"Billie" Hughes has been getting them down to brass tacks and hammering into their heads the fact that what boxing alone will get them nowhere, unless they also use the "scrap" ingredient and put some ginger into their work. The object is to hit hard and often, firstly, and secondly to keep your opponent from hitting you. The hardest hitter in the ring is usually one of the best of friends outside it, and the best part of the game is the giving and taking of hard knocks.

Evidently the boys took all this to heart for they "mixed" it in the good, old-fashioned way. Right bouts were staged in all, one an exhibition and the rest decision trials for the semi-final eliminations.

In the 110 lb. class Prittie won from Drew. It was a close contest but consisted rather in pretty boxing and an exchange of light blows than in a fight. Prittie secured the decision.

Bailey won from Ingram in the 118 lb. class. A little fun was mixed in with the hard pokes handed out during this round.

McCartney and Holmes put on a

THEY HAD GRIT,

And It Almost Won For Them Wednesday.

After hearing some of the facts about the Cornwall-Frontenac intermediate game on Wednesday night we have to hand it to the Cornwall boys for having grit and playing the game. The whole six players, to begin with, had to go the three twenty-minute players without relief of any kind as the Factory Town team had no substitutes. Through some accident the subs. were not able to catch the same train. Denny was not their regular goal-keeper, and, though he put up a good game, they might have felt more "at home" with their regular man behind them.

Then when they arrived here there was no referee and they had to accept a Kingston man or hold up the game. Of course, they could not have secured better than George Vanborne, but at the same time it was an awkward position in which to place a visiting team.

Despite all these handicaps, and probably others, the Cornwall boys went into the game for all they were worth, played it cleanly, and almost came out on top and they certainly deserve credit.

not refer to "mixing" in a social way.

Yes, esteemed contemporary, Foxy has made some remarks of that nature, and this time, anyway, the majority of the fans agree with him. Don't you yourself?

"Benny" Morris has proved his right to the goal position on Frontenac intermediate team. He is no wonder, as yet, but he is far better than anyone else who has been in the nets for them this year.

Lionel "Slim" or "Shorty" McKay, redeemed himself in sensational manner in Cornwall with the juniors on Wednesday night. Here's hoping he keeps it up.

There seem to be but few hockey fans at Queen's. The students turn out only when their own team is playing—and then they sometimes forget to appear.

After looking over some of the boxers at Queen's last night we pity the Varsity and McGill entrants in the intercollegiate bouts this year.

Evans Box Injured.

Evans Box, the Renfrew centre, was badly injured in the game at Carleton Place when he was body-checked by Devlin. His shoulder struck the wall of the rink and a doctor who was called to attend him stated that the ligaments were badly torn. Evans was a Queen's player in 1920-21. Doctors later found that one of the bones in his shoulder is broken and he is, besides, badly shaken up. Evans will be out of the game for at least two months and that means no more hockey for him this season. The team is weakened by his loss.

Men and Women Cannot Attend Same Ring Shows Staged in Cleveland

Boxing bouts in Cleveland, under a new ruling by Mayor Kohler, will be for men only or for women only. "In no case," the mayor said, "will a bout be permitted before a crowd of both men and women. Violation of the rule will mean revoking the license of the club.

"If women must see boxing bouts," the mayor said, "let them arrange to have them witnessed entirely by members of their own sex."

Wrestling.

But five wrestling bouts were run off, and though they were good, the main ones will be staged at the final assault a week from Monday. They resulted:

135 lbs. Myers defeated Traves. 125 lbs. Perry lost to Commer. 145 lbs. North won from Wall. 135 lbs. McIlquham won from Cardinal.

135 lbs. Susman lost to Allen. The wrestling was scheduled in six three minute rounds, with two minutes rest between. George Stewart refereed.

Notes on the Assault. Last night was good but the one a week from Monday will be a corollary, whatever that is. Means something like humdinger.

But few of the spectators had ever seen such a scrappy bunch together before. They were out for blood and some of them got quite a bit of it.

"Billie" Hughes has got all the boys down to real fighting and if he can keep them at it Varsity and McGill boxers will have a sweet time in the intercollegiate assault.

All the losers went under gamely and only after a desperate struggle. But few of the winners had little more than a shade on their opponents.

From the standpoint of boxing and fighting mixed, Holmes is still about the leader of the crowd.

Lyons took the cake for going after the bacon in short order. He went in to win with a seriousness that was almost amusing, but might not have had such an easy time had Kennedy recovered quickly from the first stiff jolt.

The wrestling does not come in for much comment because it is not quite so spectacular. How gruelling it really is only those who have tried it know.

Queen's chances in both boxing and wrestling look exceedingly good this year.

OUTLOOK IS VERY GOOD

The outlook for hockey during the coming week is exceedingly good and some lively games will be staged at the Jock Hartly Arena. The puck will really be set sliding on its fast career tonight and will continue travelling at a mile-a-minute rate all next week. Frontenac and Queen's start proceedings this evening and will put up an exhibition well worth the admission price, if only for the sake of hearing the rival spectators yell.

At one o'clock on Saturday the first intercounty game at the arena will be played when Glenburnie and Joyceville try conclusions. The county fans more than filled the old covered rink last year and should make a good showing in the big rink.

Monday night Queen's and Frontenac juniors play their second game and it will be no easy task for Queen's this time and the juniors have improved greatly and will make the bigger and more experienced collegians step lively to win out.

On Tuesday night Queen's and R.M.C. meet in the first of the intercollegiate games in this local group. This will be a regular "hummer" and Queen's are by no means starting favorites. If they win they will do so only after a hard battle, despite the fact that they hold the intermediate title.

It has not yet been decided what will take place at the Arons on Wednesday night. There may be general skating, if no match is arranged.

Thursday night Cornell juniors play their return game against Queen's and they are out for a win. Last year Queen's went down before them in the semi-finals, only to return and decisively defeat them after a protest. It will be a good game.

On Friday night comes one of the "Crossties" kind so often referred to when Cornwall intermediates, with their regular goal-keeper, and with their regular substitutes, and with the regular referee, will be on hand to try out the Queen's style of intercollegiate hockey playing in comparison to that of Frontenac's.

Saturday will see a beautiful game for a wind-up of the week, when the junior intercollegiate crack squads, R.M.C. and Queen's III, meet for the second time. They put up about the best game of the year in their last meeting and will better it in this one.

The card for this week should satisfy the most greedy hockey fan. Every night but Wednesday there is a big attraction. Let it be a full house every night.
