WHAT TIDINGS FOR THIS SUMMER?

How Will Kingston Shine on Baseball Map in 1922 Season.

Many baseball fans are beginning to ask themselves about Kingston baseball this coming summer. Perhaps it was that thunder and lightning last Sunday night, or maybe the heavy rain yesterday that set them to thinking about the "ole pill" and the "ole hick" and the "ole man" and the "ole game."

What this year's situation will turn into is hard to say. There has been a little activity on the part of one well-known baseball man which points as clear as daylight to "business as usual," but on the other hand there are rumors and alarms every day about all the players leaving town.

But what if they have gone? There is no need for dismay. We have two or three hundred youngsters hanging around town who have done nothing but play baseball and eat every summer since they were born and when they come to maturity and their full size they will make some of these old fellows look sick as ball players.

Of course, we may have to put up with a little less finished style of playing than we have been accustomed to and all that sort of stuff, but the additional interests of competition and "pep" should more than make up for it, especially if Kingston could arrange a team in some baseball series similar to the O.H.A. group here this winter with Belleville, Cornwall, Brockville and Kingston competing.

There were about a dozen likely youngsters idle last summer because the one really good team in the city did not have room for them and could not use them. They, of course, will soon get sick of such a state of affairs and move along. There were many others who were not quite up to the mark of last year and had to stay out of it. A general evacuation by the older players would give them a chance.

We may have seen better teams and higher class baseball last year than we ever have in Kingston before, but did we have as much fun as in the old days when Y.L.C.B.A., Victorias and C.L.C. fought it out in the senior city league? Not by a justful.

However, it doesn't matter much. The fans will enjoy it no matter how the turn of events shapes the game, so long as there is baseball, and we'll all be on hand as usual.

A medical student remarks that some of the junior years are shortly to be used as "subs" because of the fact that they don't intend to go to this evening's game.

Had to the champions, Queen's Juniors, who have copped the Junior college title again this year.

TO-NIGHT.

This evening the last of the senior intercollegiate hockey matches will be played at the Jock Hartly Arena when McGill and Queen's try conclusions. A win for Queen's will make them fifty-fifty second placers with McGill. If the McGill team comes out on top it means second place for them, unshared by Queen's and the tri-color in the cellar with four defeats and nary a victory.

In Montreal these teams played thirty minutes overtime to have McGill win by one point and not a few people thought the local college men had the better of the play. On their own ice they should revenge this defeat and obtain at least an even break with the Shagmen.

Many Kingston fans have been waiting for a look at the McGill outfit this winter and their opportunity comes this evening. The seat sale has been going along right merrily and there is a very generous student patronage for this game. Queen's will put out the best six possible and so will McGill. The entertainment should be lively.

Basketball Played Tonight. On Friday night the Sydenham street girls play the Baptist aggregation at basketball and a good contest is assured. A juvenile game is also scheduled between St. James' and St. Andrew's. On Saturday evening, the strong Sydenham street quintette stack up against Queen street in the Junior series.

The Toronto Globe (per ?) says that Kingston should now be satisfied that senior O.H.A. is 'way over its head.

WALLY ELMER STARRED.

In Hockey at St. Paul—His Team is Leading.

An account of the St. Paul-Cleveland series of hockey games played recently in the former city, is contained in St. Paul papers received in Kingston this week. "Wally" Elmer, formerly of Kingston, and the Junior Frontenacs, starred in the two contests, which were both won by the western city. Elmer's team now has the leadership of group 2 in the United States Hockey Association and will make a strong bid for the American amateur title. Cleveland, last year's champions, are now practically out of the race, their chances have been spoiled by the fast St. Paul aggregation. "Wally" comes in for a goodly share of the praise handed out by the St. Paul papers for the two victories, and he is considered one of the best all-around men on the team. Kingstonsians will watch the career of the western team for the rest of the winter with keen interest, and it is hoped that the team which has a Kingston representative in its ranks may win the American championship.

Another note of interest in the St. Paul papers was the mention of "Mike" Goodman, former Winnipeg Falcon star, whose eye will be quite well in a few days, after some weeks of uncertainty as to whether it could be saved or not after his serious accident. The well-known "Mike" stars with the Duluth outfit which entertains "Wally" Elmer and his "gang" next week.

ICE-TICKLES.

This evening Frontenacs are up against Cleveland in that city for the rest of their two games. They will have to work, as the withdrawal of the expected stars throws them entirely on their own merits.

Some of that interyear hockey at Queen's could well be studied by the O.H.A. and intercollegiate teams of the city.

Too bad Queen's III. cannot challenge for the Memorial Cup. Now that they've hit their stride a little again, it would be interesting to see them up against the Junior O.H.A. winners.

Not 'tall oldtimer, not 'tall. On the contrary, Kingston fans have lost most of their respect for the senior O.H.A. as a high-calibre hockey factory.

Their team work is good now and then, we admit, and they are no slouches in getting down the ice, but after a season together, either one of the All-Star teams used by Kingston would be giving them pointers.

The County League men are having a great old time. Wolfe Island, Barriefield or Cataract, and Sunbury will have to settle the final battles.

Medical Game. In an interyear hockey match at the Arena yesterday afternoon Meds. 23 defeated their old enemies Meds. 24 by the score of 8 to 4 and after three strenuous periods of hockey. Many old-timers were on deck with both teams and added not a little to their former glory. "Johnny" Evans and Gratton were the star forwards for '24 and Quinn, in goal, and Ryan on the defence put up a great defensive argument. However, the next to marvellous work of Flanagan in the opposite goal and Grant and Bell as score-getters, proved too much for the '24 year and they were given to mitten in spite of desperate efforts to even things up.

Tendered a Banquet. Les Montagnards, champions of the Ottawa League, and who defeated the R.M.C. team recently by 5 to 2, were tendered a banquet in Ottawa on Tuesday night, at which many well known sportsmen and officials of the capital city were present. Plans are now being made by the champions to make a strong bid for the Allan cup this year.

However, Montreals should have no kick coming, as they have a thing or two to steady the nerves when they need it. Canadians can put St. Patrick's out of second place in the N.H.L. by the use of a lot of "ifs," or rather, by making the "ifs" into "dids."

LITTLE BITS.

Pretty near time some person thought of agitating daylight saving for the baseball this summer. Must have it.

Montreal writers have handed the title of "champion kidders" to the Canadians. This last-minute-wit stuff is very hard on the nerves down there.

"Willie" Hoppe is said to think that Younk Jake Schaefer has been playing with his title long enough. All right "Willie", Hoppe to it and take it back.

There are Aura Lee teams in all three O.H.A. series after the first round for the first time in the history of that organization. They ought to make it real history and all stay in until the end.

"Babe Ruth and Company", as they are now styling the New York Americans, are expected to play in Toronto on August the ninth this year. The terms say that Ruth will be there.

With Watson, Romerdi and Fox working together on the forward line, it is no wonder Granites have held to second place.

Ottawa paper says that one of the sensations of the hockey season is that the City League referees have all come through without a scratch. Same here, brother, same here.

Belleville is still climbing the ladder. Here's hoping the Group No. 1 team walks off with the final honours.

William Oliver of St. Paul, amateur indoor skating champion of the northwest, won the outdoor title at the northwestern outdoor skating races. He won first place in each of the four senior events.

While Loughlin of Philadelphia was given the judges' decision over Ralph Schenckert of Wilkesbarre, Pa., at the end of their 12-round bout at Troy, N.Y. The boxers are welterweights. Leonard Youngs of Montreal was outpointed by Tommy Conroy of Troy in the ten-round semifinals.

There is a deal of speculation as to whether the winner of the Harry Greb and Tom Gibbons shuffle will be elected an opponent for Jack Dempsey. While it is generally believed either man would be too small to tackle Dempsey, it should not be forgotten that either measures up to the proportions of Carpenter.

Jack Clifford of St. Paul gave Joe Burke, heavyweight champion of Michigan, such a beating at Detroit in two rounds that the main bout on the Elks boxing show was stopped to save the Detroit heavyweight further needless punishment.

Billy Mies, St. Paul heavyweight, won his bout at Philadelphia from Capt. Bob Roper, Chicago, on a foul. Roper was disqualified by the referee and sent from the ring at the end of the sixth round. The bout was scheduled for eight rounds.

Percy N. Collins, Chicago, defeated Equard Rondil, France in the afternoon match of the international class round in Madison Square Garden tonight. A 15.2 balkline amateur billiard championship tournament at Philadelphia, 300 to 154. Collins' average was 9.21-21 and his high runs were 58, 52 and 40. Rondil's average fell to 50-50. His high runs were 45, 27 and 15. Yesterday's defeat precluded his winning the tournament.

Stanislaus Zbyzskos, New York, world's wrestling champion, plans to retire undefeated in May, and to place his title in the care of his younger brother, Wladek. The younger of the grappling Zbyzskos is to engage Joe Stecher, former champion, in a bout in Madison Square Garden tonight. If Wladek wins, his older brother will make immediate plans for retirement.

Frank Shaughnessy Will Continue. It was announced by Charles Fraser, secretary of the McGill Students' Council, that Frank Shaughnessy would continue as coach of the McGill rugby and hockey squads for another year. Shaughnessy will take charge of the rugby squad about the middle of September next autumn.
