LOCATED IN KINGSTON.

William C. Thompson Served Fifteen Years in British Army.

William C. Thompson, now of Watertown, N. Y., who lived in Kingston for some time, has the proud record of having served fifteen years in the British army, and three years with the Northwest Mounted Police.

He is now seventy years of age and in his period of service under the British colors, Mr. Thompson was stationed in Scotland, Ireland, in the Mediterranean, in Canada, and the West Indies. He has travelled far and has seen much, but through it all has remained hearty as many a man half his years.

Mr. Thompson lived in Kingston after retiring from the Northwest Mounted Police, and was a member of a band of local musicians who played all over this part of the country.

The urge to join the British colors came early to Mr. Thompson, and he came by it honestly, for his father, when he was born, was serving with the 29th Worcestershire Regiment, in India, in the Punjab valley. Mr. Thompson was born about the time of the terrible Sepoy rebellion, that scourge of death that swept India, spreading death and violence in its wake. His mother died while he was still an infant, and he was cared for by the women of the regiment for in those days the soldiers detailed to service in that country took their wives along with them for they would often be away from their homeland for years.

The regiment soon moved to Burma, where his father, who had been a sergeant-major was made provost-marshal. This was in 1856, when Mr. Thompson was about six years old.

Mr. Thompson had some lively experiences with the Northwest Mounted Police and held the rank of senior sergeant in the Mounted Police.

Humorous to the Last Degree.
A film version of Mark Twain's famous novel, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," was shown for the first time at the Alhambra yesterday.

It is a delightful, nonsensical fantasy, humorous to the last degree. The principal character, played admirably by Harry Meyers, is a Yankee of to-day, Martin Cavendish, who, though engaged to a wealthy aristocrat is in love with her secretary.

While reading a copy of his book he is attacked by a burglar, who strikes him down with a lance which he finds in the room. Cavendish, while falling, strikes his head against the furniture, and imagines himself attacked and taken prisoner to the Court of King Arthur.

He is sentenced to death, but threatens to take away the sun, and as a solar eclipse happily occurs he is hailed as a great magician and appointed Prime Minister.

Later he gets into the power of the wicked Morgan Le Fay, and is again sentenced to death, but is rescued by Sir Lancelot on a fiery black, snorting Max-Eagle-spirited Ford.

The film is highly amusing, is very well acted, staged, and produced. Among those present yesterday was the Queen, who laughed heartily at the various witticisms against Royalty, and thoroughly entered into the spirit of the play. This unusual comedy will be the attraction at the Allen Theatre for four days commencing Monday.—Advt.

The Dairy Standards Act of Benefit to the Dairy Interests.

At a recent meeting of the Holstein Breeders' Club a resolution was passed endorsing the Ontario government's action in putting into operation the provisions of the Dairy Standards Act. This is an act that makes the butter fat content of milk the basis of value when sold to creameries, cheese factories and condenseries. Strenuous opposition has been raised by the cheese makers, and while some delay was caused in the enforcement of the law it is now in operation. It is claimed to be in the interest of dairymen to accept the inevitable and lose no time in grading up their herds. The fact that the average production of the Canadian dairy cattle during the summer months has not exceeded 3,500 pounds, shows the general lack of efficiency and intelligent direction on the part of many farmers. There are individual cows that yield as high as 12,000 pounds and it is within the power of all breeders to so improve their stock as to conform to the Dairy Standards Act, and at the same time double production.

The immediate result of the act is the maintenance of Canada's place on the foreign markets for cheese which has commanded the top price. The only way to insure the high quality of cheese is to fix a standard for the milk that enters into its manufacture, and butter fat content is a more reliable basis for valuation than the weight of the milk that means nothing.

The cheese factories are preparing to put the new into force. Tests will be made once a month and the patron is assessed fifty cents per year to cover the cost of testing and inspection.

A RIVAL TO MEIGHEN?

Hamilton Herald.
The introduction this week on the floor of the Ontario legislature of the newly-elected member for Kingston, William Folger Nickle, brings to mind that the declined post of attorney-general when it was offered to him by Premier Drury, and that he resigned his seat in the house of commons a couple of years ago because he would no longer support a hang-over government.

While the newspapers are busy with the rumor that he will supplant Howard Ferguson as the Ontario Conservative leader, I have a notion that he will be proposed at next summer's national Conservative convention as the dominion leader, and if so, it will take Mr. Meighen all his time and talent for intrigue to defeat him.

It was the federal members for Kingston who compelled Sir Robert Borden to surrender on the question of titles for Canadians strongly backed up by the member for Bromo. He could have been in one of the Borden cabinets, but he was more concerned in denouncing the rash railway policies of the government. My tip is that Nickle will go far, but will he get to the top over Arthur Meighen's prostrate body?
