PRESERVATION OF TIMBER

Subject of Robertson Black's Address Before Kiwanis Club.

The preservation of Canada's timber wealth was the subject dealt with in an admirable address before the Kiwanis Club at the weekly dinner in the Frontenac Hotel on Monday evening by Robertson Black. Moving pictures of forest and river scenes added greatly to the interest and entertainment of the audience while the information imparted by the speaker was most instructive.

Noble Steacy, president of the club, occupied the chair and during the roll call the following guests were announced: Angus Orr, J. W. Ballow, G. M. Drew, A. W. Truesdale, W. A. McDonald, Percy H. Hall, Robertson Black, A. Thompson and J. N. Sullivan.

W. N. Linton, proprietor of W. N. Linton and Company, dealers in dry goods, successor to R. Waldron, was the booster, and he received the usual Kiwanis salutation which was given in a most hearty manner, for "Billy" is known throughout business circles as one of the coming business men of the city, one who enjoys a reputation of the highest integrity from long and intimate associations and honorable business dealing. He carries with him the good will of all classes in the city. He donated several valuable prizes of which the winners were: W. K. Mason, Ted. Green, W. Y. Mills, Geo. Bawden, Jack Sutherland, J. Davis and Columbus Hanley.

Robertson Black, manager and secretary of the Canadian Forestry Association, who has done, and is doing invaluable educational work was warmly received. He told of the enormous losses Canada has sustained by forest fires throughout the Maritime provinces, Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia, and of the methods being employed by our governments in an endeavor to lessen the havoc wrought. Millions of dollars worth of timber has been lost, but the worst feature of this is that the loss is, too often, a loss that can never be recovered. It is a loss that was preventable because most of the fires originated through carelessness. Stands of pine have been reduced to ashes in a few days, that contained sufficient timber to last the whole province many years, a national calamity because this timber was not the property of private corporations but of the country, because ninety per cent of our timber land still belongs to the government.

But with all of the loss there is still sufficient timber forest to last for a long time if it is preserved, and the efforts of governments are now directed to the preservation of what still remains, rather than to replanting of trees. It is estimated that there is still available for timber an almost inexhaustible supply if a system of continuous crop production is rigidly enforced together with effective fire prevention. This is the only method and the people have got to be educated to the value of our forests and the need for their co-operation in fire prevention. For this purpose the aeroplane is being brought into use in forest survey to detect fires, and as a means of transport to the fire area. No forest rangers are now to be employed to spot fires, as the aeroplane is the most effective. From an aeroplane it is possible to cover an area with a radius of from sixty to eighty miles. The aeroplane was in use last year.

In contrast with Canada, which has lost fully one half of its timber through fire, Norway, Sweden, Germany and France have doubled their timber supply by scientific forestry. Long ago forest areas were set aside and protected by the state so that continuous production has been realized. The forest production of Canada is now the only source of government wealth and we must have forest protection as a definite public policy.

Mr. Black took his audience on a tour of the region about Lake Nipigon by means of beautiful moving pictures cast upon the screen; also through the giant trees of British Columbia. Pictures of camping parties whose carelessness caused fires were also shown.

Ambrose Shea in moving a vote of thanks to the speaker expressed the delight of the audience and suggested that the pictures be shown at the public schools. Dr. Winnett seconded the vote of thanks.

Major-Gen. Sir Archibald Macdonell discussed the celebration of the 250th anniversary of the founding of Kingston, and outlined briefly the important historical events since that time. He urged that if the proposal received the favorable consideration of the business men, an organization be formed to assist in carrying it forward. President Noble Steacy announced that the matter would be taken up by the executive committee immediately. He also complimented the finance committee upon the success of the charity ball last week to which the wives of the members contributed greatly. On behalf of the attendance committee he stated that the members were urged to make the average attendance during March as high as possible, seventy-five per cent, was aimed at in order to improve Kingston's standing among the clubs.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Mary Stewart.

On October 12th at the ripe old age of ninety-five, Mary Molyné, wife of the late Israel Stewart, passed out of the life's earthly shadows, into that clearer light and heavenly joy, which God has prepared for his saints. Mrs. Stewart lived for those around her, unselfish, kind to all, as those who knew her best can testify. She was a true friend in the hour of trouble, always wise and capable. A consistent member of the Methodist church, her godly life proved that her hope was anchored to that everlasting rock that stands firm even in the hour of death. Three children mourn the loss of a precious mother: J. W. Stewart, of Camden East, Mrs. Evans, of Moscow, and Mrs. A. B. Frizzell, of Toronto. Oh no! not dead, but past all fear of dying. And with all suffering o'er; Say not that she is dead, when Jesus called her, To live forever more.

Emma Stewart Evans.

On November 9th, four weeks after the day her mother, the late Mrs. Mary A. Stewart, passed to her reward, Mrs. Evans, mother of Everett Evans, of Moscow, and widow of the late Levi S. Evans, also crossed over the silent river. She had been a great sufferer for over a year, and the call came as a blessed release. She was a woman of kindly and sterling character, a loving mother and a faithful worker in the Methodist church. She took an intense interest in all its activities, and was a woman beloved by all who knew her. She has left behind her to greatly mourn her loss, an only son, Everett Evans, and a brother and sister, J. W. Stewart, of Camden East, and Mrs. A. B. Frizzell, of Toronto.

And if through patient toil we reach the land, Where tired feet with sandals may rest. Where we can clearly see and understand, I think that we will say, God knew the best.

A NEW MANAGER.

Appointed for C. W. Lindsay Limited, Local Store.

On March 1st we welcome to our city a new resident and business man, C. L. Gordon, who will take over the management of Messrs. C. W. Lindsay Limited, 121 Princess street, upon the retirement from that position of Mr. Grace.

Mr. Gordon has for many years been connected with this company as manager of their Brookville branch and his sound business experience and knowledge of the trade through which he is to serve us, will guarantee a service to the community in conjunction with a company which is highly esteemed not only in Kingston but through the whole of Canada. Remember Mr. Gordon represents a Kingston industry, and his work here will bring him in touch with most of us and we will be glad to meet him.

SOIREE FRANCAISE AT R.M.C.

To Take Place on Thursday Next—Distinguished Visitors.

The second annual Soiree Francaise at the Royal Military College, which takes place on March 2nd, is raising great interest in Eastern Canada and promises to be one of the most prominent social events of the college year. A number of prominent Canadians have signified their intention of being present, including Bishop Couturier of Alexandria, Hon. C. P. Beaubien, Col. LaRochelle, of the Civil Service Commission; Joseph Archambault, M.P., Montreal; the consul general of France, and Col. J. A. Macdonell, K.C., Greenfield.

The great aim underlying the inauguration of a French entertainment at the Royal Military College is to firmly impress upon the cadets the wonderful traditions of Canada which date from the discovery of the dominion by Jacques Cartier in 1534. The commandant believes that the heroic achievements of New France belong just as much to those of the English-speaking race as they do to our compatriots of Quebec, and that the fame of Montcalm, LaSalle and de Salaberry is entitled to an equal place in the annals of Canada's history with Wolfe, Brock and Aylmer. The Royal Military College bases its curriculum on the ground that a proficiency in French on the part of its graduates will do much to advance our national unity and progress and will increase a sympathetic understanding between the two great races of the dominion.

The money-made individual who through some freak of nature has become the manager of Jack Dempsey, champion pugilist of the world, objects to his charge fighting Tom Gibbons.
