A RECORD ESTABLISHED THE G.W.V.A. NOMINATIONS

Crossing on Ice From Kingston to Oswego—Interesting Records.

The Oswego Times has the following: From the foot of the lake comes the announcement that the ice in the lake there is of unusual thickness this year and that it extends in an unbroken field from the Main Ducks Islands to Pigeon Island Light, which is about ten miles outside of the harbor at Kingston, Ont. Not in recent years has there been such an unbroken field of solid ice in the lake, but it is said that it is nothing to what the records of past years show.

Ice records in the lake are extensively kept but in some of the old private records kept by the late Boardman C. Frost it appears that two men made the trip over the ice from Kingston across the lake on the ice.

The record says that they had a sled and light rowboat attached which they carried the boat to be used in case they encountered open water. They also had a supply of "grub."

Their first stop was made at Pigeon Island and from there they went to the Ducks. In those days neither Island was inhabited during the winter months, but on both there were buildings that in the summer season were occupied by fishermen, who left their stoves and piles of fuel handy so that if travelers found themselves there they would not be entirely without shelter.

It is recorded that there was a quantity of cured fish found there and that the travelers made their home there during a severe storm that lasted two or three days, and which made travel on the ice in the lake hazardous. On the trip to the Galloups the men encountered much "hummuck" ice, travel over which was so hard that they decided to abandon their boat and sled. After a day's rest at the Galloups they made Henderson Harbor, in time to have dinner with Captain Snow, a well known mariner who lived in those days, and then started along the shore for Oswego.

The next record of crossing the ice from Kingston was made in March, 1872. Two men made the trip landing near Port Ontario and walked to this city. One of them was James Hughes, a sailor, whose home was in this city. Record of their trip is not extant, but it is said that they were three days on the trip carrying a pack of "grub" strapped upon their backs. They spent two nights on the island in the lake and the third night was spent on the ice in the lake. Both men were sailors and they came here to ship on the schooners that were to leave here for the first run up the lakes in the spring. The distance from Kingston Harbor to this city is about sixty miles by direct water route.

April 25th, 1856, loaded teams were working on the ice in the river and the steamer Kentucky, bound from Toronto to this port, was caught and held in the ice in the lake about two miles from this port. The passengers and crew came ashore, walking the distance, while a team of horses attached to a sleigh went out and brought in the baggage. The steamer then returned to Toronto and did not get back to this port until the second week in May. It is said that there was more ice in the lake in the spring of 1856 than at any time before or since.

St. James' Mission.

Large numbers were present at both the afternoon and evening services in connection with the mission being held in St. James' church. In the afternoon Mr. McKim spoke upon "The Overcoming Life."

At the evening service Mr. McKim asked the people to consider with him what the Bible teaches about the coming back of the Lord Jesus. We are told 313 times in the New Testament that Jesus is coming back. He himself said He would. The Bible says He will. The newspapers in their chronicle of the events of the world tell us that God's programme is working out and therefore Jesus is coming. Jesus must come. Conditions in the world loudly call for him.

Visiting Leagues Entertained.

On Monday evening the members of the Epworth Leagues of Westbrooke and Cataragui Methodist churches were entertained by the members of the senior Epworth League, of Sydenham street Methodist church. There were about one hundred young people present. A number of musical numbers were given by the visiting members, after which about an hour was spent in games. Refreshments were served in the lecture hall of the church. The tables were nicely decorated with candles. Rev. Mr. Sisco, pastor of the Cataragui circuit, was in charge of the visiting leaguers.

Gave Address At Queen's Dean McLeod, the distinguished professor of philology at Toronto University, was a visitor at Queen's Monday and gave several lectures. In the afternoon he addressed an audience of medical students on the subject of "Diabetes" in which study he has made much research.

In the evening he spoke on "Color" in convocation hall. The lecturer in explaining the elements of color illustrated the address by means of a number of experiments.

A joint meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and the Canadian Club of London was addressed at noon today by Ellis H. Morrow, B.A., M.B.A., director of extension welfare work for Queen's University, Kingston.

KINGSTON POLICE MADE A SEIZURE OF LIQUOR

Woman Carrying Twenty-two Bottles From Montreal Fined $200 and Costs.

On Tuesday morning the police gathered in twenty-two bottles of good Scotch whiskey and rum at the outer station, and as a result of the seizure, a Kingston woman was before Magistrate Farrell, in the police court on Tuesday morning, charged with "having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling." The woman pleaded guilty to the charge, and Magistrate Farrell imposed a fine of $200 and costs, or three months in jail, and the fine will be paid.

The woman very frankly admitted having the liquor. She said that she had secured it to take to her own home, and was apparently quite willing to take the risk of carrying it up from Montreal. She used a small trunk and a suit case to bring up the small cargo.

Following the usual custom, the liquor will find its way to the local hospitals when an order comes from the license board at Toronto to make a distribution of the "wet goods" the local police have on hand.
