Boston English Opera Company Present "Il Trovatore" Tonight. When the Boston English Opera Company closed its season in Boston, Manager Beck selected the principals who made the biggest hit in Il Trovatore for a tour doing just this one opera. The result is that these same artists appearing in every performance compromise what is truly an all star cast and people who have seen Il Trovatore many times say that never before have they heard a performance where every part was all well cast or one that moved more smoothly. This all star cast together with the famous Boston opera chorus is appearing at the Grand Opera House tonight only, and it will no doubt stand as the supreme musical event of the season. The fact that only one cast is carried thereby entailing no excess expense together with the fact that packed houses are the rule everywhere this company has appeared make it possible for them to play at popular prices from 50c to $1.50 and from all indications the theatre will be packed to the doors to hear this excellent organization in the world's most popular opera.—Adv.

Alleen To-Night. Alburts, the miracle man, begins his engagement at the Alleen Theatre this evening and during the course of the performance, he will awaken the young woman who slumbers peacefully in the window of the "Song Shop," oblivious to the thousands of people who have viewed this remarkable demonstration since Saturday afternoon last. The stage of the Alleen has been enlarged so that the beautiful stage settings used by the Alburts company may be hung. The appearance of Alburts is preceded by a magnificent Hindoo prologue, in which Mlle. Sena, a noted Egyptian dancer and a ballet of Hindu Maidens offer a superbly staged dance. If you are in doubt about anything, ask Alburts. He knows. He answers all questions at the Alleen Theatre to-night. Hope Hampton in "Star Dust" First National attraction, will be the feature attraction.—Adv.

At the Strand. Balzac was probably the most prolific writer of his time, and his works are still eagerly read throughout the civilized world. Today the Strand will present for the first time in Kingston "The Conquering Power," a picture version of "Eugene Grandet," one of Balzac's most vivid stories. Perhaps the element of biggest interest to film fans in this production is the fact that Rudolph Valentino, the star of "The Sheik" and "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," plays the leading role. Opposite him plays Alice Terry, the gifted screen actress who also made a great name through her powerful work in "The Four Horsemen." Rex Ingram, who has just married Miss Terry, directed "The Conquering Power," so that the production end is of the high standard that he himself has set. Rex Ingram's capable directing, with Rudolph Valentino's and Alice Terry's combination of personality and powerful acting, make this one of the notable pictures of the season, while the mere fact that the story is by Balzac is enough to indicate that interest and variety are mingled in rich quantity throughout. Definite return dates have now been fixed for the return visit of "The Sheik." It will be seen at the Strand again on Mar. 27-29.—Adv.

U. S. MISSIONARY SLAIN IN THIBET

Rev. Dr. A. L. Shelton But Recently Had Been Kidnapped by Brigands. St. Louis, March 6.—The Rev. Dr. Albert Leroy Shelton, medical missionary of the Disciples of Christ (Christian church), who was the first Christian missionary to be allowed to enter Thibet, and, who, five years ago, was kidnapped and held by Chinese brigands sixty days, was murdered by Chinese robbers February 17th last, it was announced here on Saturday.

Montreal Civic Records Escaped the Big Fire. Montreal, March 6.—Many important documents, thought to have been lost in the city hall fire, including taxation and other valuable records, were found to have come through unscathed when work on examining the debris in the building was begun this morning. The vital records of the city were in a vault which resisted the fire.

EARLY SIGNS OF SPRING. Watertown, N.Y., March 6.—Reports from St. Lawrence county are to the effect that woodchucks have been seen, that crows are flying north and that other indications are apparent that spring is at hand. Last year woodchucks were reported in Jefferson county on Feb. 28th. However, one robin, claimed to have been seen in this city, has been added to the harbinger's as Watertown's contribution.

"CHARACTER" CONCERT. Given by the Choir of Princess Street Church. A splendid "Character" concert was given in Princess street Methodist church on Friday evening by the members of the choir, under the direction of Miss Beattie Rogers. Rev. J. Waddell presided, and lauded the efforts of the choir under such able leadership throughout the past year. The programme included selections by a quartette composed of Mrs. E. Treneer, Mrs. W. N. Archibald, E. Treneer and A. Kerr; duet, "The Singing Master," Mrs. E. Treneer and A. Kerr; solos, Mrs. E. Treneer, "Indian Songs," Mrs. W. N. Archibald, "The Flight of Agas," and Miss Gertrude Peters, "A Little Bit of Honey;" trio, Mrs. P. Ward, Misses R. Redmond and E. Graham, Character Song; Mrs. L. Loney, readings, in costume; Sgt. Maj. Kelly, monologues; Allan Kerr, songs in costume; "Paddy" Kettle, in Irish songs; and Jack Elder, in Scotch character songs. A number of choruses were also rendered by the choir.

The audience filled the church. The nice sum of money raised for the choir shows the appreciation given them for their efforts, and the funds will be used to further the good work of this highly trained organization. The Late Thos. Slattery. At the ripe age of eighty-four years, the late Thomas Slattery passed to his reward on Feb. 20th. With the exception of two recent years in New York state, his entire life had been spent in Picton. He was a son of the late John Slattery and Mrs. Slattery who came to Canada from England in the year 1838. For many years Mr. Slattery was a carriage builder and blacksmith, occupying a stand on the spot where the house of Dr. Whiteman now is. In the eighties he was appointed inspector of weights and measures under the government of the late Sir John A. McDonald, a position which he held for over thirty years. About ten years ago he was superannuated, being succeeded by Jas. Worrell, the present inspector. His wife was Miss Whalen, Picton, who died eight years ago. Two sons, Phillip and Thomas, both pre-deceased their father and the only daughter died in tender years. Mr. Slattery was a Conservative in politics and a devout adherent to the Roman Catholic faith.

Died at Newburgh. Miss Mary Jane Jackson, an old resident of Newburg, passed away on Tuesday. Miss Jackson had been in failing health for a number of years, but had been able to be around most of the time until Tuesday morning, when she suffered a collapse and in two hours her spirit took its flight. Miss Jackson had been cared for by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Thompson, Mrs. Thompson being a relative of Miss Jackson.

Two-Goal Lead Gained By Smith's Falls Team

Carlson Place hockey team, champions of the Upper Ottawa Valley League, and the Smith's Falls team, who hold the championship of the Rideau group of the Ottawa and District Hockey Association, met on Friday and Smith's Falls won by 4 to 2. The match was one of the cleanest and most exciting seen here this season, and was fast and clean throughout. Play was remarkably even.

Victoria Hockey. An interesting little match was staged on Saturday morning when the hockey teams of Miss Bureau's and Mr. Ettinger's classes in Victoria school played a game. Mr. Ettinger's class winning by the score of 5 to 1. C. Williams and Cruchley starred for the winners and H. Cruise was prominent for the losing team.

Miss Bureau's—Goal W. McMahon, defence A. Renton and J. Cruise, centre W. Patterson, wings H. McGuire and E. Roberts, spares M. Singleton, L. Day, E. Allen, J. Gardiner, E. Dennison. Mr. Ettinger's—Goal M. Douglas, defence E. Cruchley and H. Skelton, centre J. Arnel, wings C. Williams and L. Guy, spares R. Hunt and T. Banks. Referee—Ben. Cunningham. Timekeeper—H. Singleton.

Bath vs. WestBrooke. Westbrooke is a little "pikier" than Bath. This side the city's limits. We can tell you all about it. In just about two minutes. They have a hockey team out there; Bath beat 'em all to pieces. Like "Jeffries," they won't come back—Now isn't that delicious?

They arranged a game on Saturday With Bath boys here at home. We advertised and got a crowd. And, then, they wouldn't come. Now naturally we're sore at them. For after all our trouble They "called us up," and left us in The dickens of a muddle.

But we'll get 'em yet if possible, And we'll tell them straight and flat. By all our "gods and little fish hooks," We'll teach 'em where they're at. Our boys are not a bit afraid With "Put" as our defence, They'll play any team that has a name And hang its hide upon the fence.

For they can sure play hockey, And each "kid" is a manly chap; And we wish to tell the universe That Bath's still on the map. —E. M. C.

Too Mild For Curling. The local curlers are praying for cold weather so that the games in the club series can be completed. The executive committee has made the draw so it is expected that the semi-finals and final games will be played off during the week.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton Author of "Mrs. Norton's Cook Book."

Chicken is a popular dish in almost all parts of the world, and when a chicken dinner is disappointing the fault is more often in preparing and cooking the chicken than in the bird itself. The butcher always gets the blame, but many years of experience have taught me that it is not always his fault, for much is possible with even a poor bird if it is properly handled.

In selecting a chicken for any form of cookery, a short, plump, deep-breasted bird should be chosen, with a yellow or white skin that is clean and unbruised. Have the butcher remove the sinews from the legs before cutting off the feet, and then stow it before drawing it. The feet should have the top-nails cut off, be opened with a cleaver, scrubbed or put into boiling water and skinned before being added to the water the chicken is boiled in or used in soup.

The liver, gizzard and heart of the fowl should be well-washed, then tucked into the boiling chicken or tried with a frying chicken. They should be boiled, then browned with a roasting chicken, or fried with a frying chicken. Many cook them, then chop and add them to the gravy. To prepare the chicken for boiling after it has been cleaned and scrubbed with a brush and lukewarm water and a little white soap, cut out the neck-fold and sew the skin to make a French breast. Turn the wings under and tie them in place. Tie the feet together, not too close, running the cord around the tail piece. Put the giblets inside, lay the bird in the pot, and cover it with cold water. Drop in a few stalks of celery, a quartered onion, a bay leaf, four cloves, half a bud of garlic, pepper and salt. Let it come to the boiling point, covered closely, and boil evenly until the legs are tender when pierced with a two-tined fork. Lift and drain the chicken, and make a cream sauce, using partly milk and partly water the chicken was boiled in.

Should the chicken be required for salad, creaming, etc., slip the meat

HE'S NOT THE MAN WHO SHOT CHARLES DONOGHUE

Montreal Detective Brings a Former Kingstonian From Philadelphia. To make a trip to Philadelphia, Pa., for a man believed to have been implicated in a recent shooting case in Kingston, bring him to Kingston and then find that he had made one big mistake, was the experience of a detective working for an agency in Montreal. The man taken into custody could not be identified, and was given his freedom a short time after he reached the police station.

For some weeks, the Montreal detective has been in the city working on the case of the shooting of Charles Donoghue, which occurred on December 3rd last, and also in connection with the daring hold-up which was pulled off at the home of Mrs. Clark, Brock street, recently.

The detective, after working on the case some time, came to the conclusion that a former Kingstonian knew something about the shooting of Mr. Donoghue, and also about the 'air at the home of Mrs. Clark, and after locating his man he went after him.

The former Kingstonian was greatly surprised when he was accosted by the detective, but it is stated that he very willingly gave himself up, and even consented to come across the border without any fuss whatever. The Montreal slouth arrived in Kingston on Friday last, with his man and he was held at the police station for a short time and then given his freedom as he could not be identified as having had anything to do with either of the cases mentioned.

The local police had nothing whatever to do with the case, the outside detective having been called in to work on the case by interested parties.

GANANOQUE

March 6.—The funeral of the late C. H. Hurd Saturday afternoon was largely attended, showing the esteem in which he was held. The employees of the Skinner Company and members of the local lodge of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers marched in a body ahead of the hearse. The funeral service was conducted at Grace church by the pastor, Rev. D. Mick, assisted by the choir. In his remarks he spoke of the quiet and noble life of the late Mr. Hurd, whose every act was that of kindness. Mrs. A. L. Knight and Mrs. W. J. Kelly, friends of deceased and his family, sang a duet, "I Will Sing You a Song of That Beautiful Land, the Far Away Home of the Soul." The pall-bearers were Roy Fickett, R. Cliffe, O. W. Sheets, William Allen, A. L. Knight and Thomas Mallory. Friends from out of town present were Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hurd, Miss F. Hurd and Frank Hurd, Kingston, and Fred Miller, Brockville. Floral offerings were placed on the casket: Anchor, the family; pillow, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hurd and Miss F. I. Hurd; wreaths, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hurd, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller, Brockville; Skinner Company; Lodge No. 4, A.A.I.S. & T. Workers; Ladies' Auxiliary, G. W.V.A.; Young People's Society, Grace church; Mrs. O. W. Lambert, Miss Anna Kane, Miss Nellie Lake, Miss Dolong, Mrs. A. L. Knight, Mrs. W. J. Kelly and Dr. J. J. Davis. The remains were conveyed to the Gananoque cemetery and placed in the vault.

Mrs. James Donevan is spending a few days with friends in Lansdowne. The hockey game between Kingston and the local high school at the rink Saturday night was a disappointment on account of the bad condition of the ice. The crowd was amused for about half an hour by the players and the game ended without a score.

The Casey team of Brockville and the 3rd Field Battery team put up an excellent game of hockey, with a score of 5-5, at the rink Friday night. A return game will be played in Brockville to-night. A large number of friends of the Battery team will accompany them. Mr. and Mrs. Archie Crawford have returned to Toronto after spending several weeks in town with friends.

Miss Marcella McDonald, Lansdowne, is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. Vincent, Tanner street. George Mastin, who has been very ill, has so far recovered as to be able to be out again. Frank Rackman has gone to Toronto, where he has secured a situation. Kenneth Latimer, Detroit, Mich., is visiting friends in town. William Juniper, Collingwood, is visiting friends in town. Mrs. Juniper has been in town some weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Martin. Charles Johnston, who was called here by the death of his father, J. R. Johnston, Sr., has returned to Rochester, N.Y.

The fire reported on Ellerbeck street on Saturday did not start in No. 47 as stated but in No. 45.

"March" Monies. Though March is not generally regarded as a reinvestment month (because few interest dates come in this period) it so happens that the list of bonds which we have just published presents one of the most imposing groups of Government and Municipal Bonds that has been offered for some time. The variety ranges from Dominion of Canada Guaranteed Stock and Provincial Bonds, yielding as high as 5.75% to Municipals like the City of Montreal at 5 1/2% and short term Windsor bonds at 6%. There are, too, about fifty different lots of Odd Amount Bonds ranging from $150, $290, $408, $527, $627, $710, $973, and so on up through even thousands and fractions thereof to as high as $16,000. Some of these Odd Amount Bonds like Township of York bonds at 5.70% and Province of Ontario Guaranteed bonds also at 5.70% are in our opinion very good buys, because the security is gilt-edged and the interest yield above the present average. Any investor who regards safety as fundamental to investment may buy from this list with perfect confidence. The list is off the press today and therefore up to date. Write for a copy.
