INSPECTION OF CHEESE

At the Point of Shipment Is Asked by the Cheese Makers.

William Fawcett, Wolfe Island, went to Ottawa on Saturday as delegate from the Frontenac cheese board to the dairy conference called for the purpose of considering the advisability of changes in the methods of shipping cheese and butter. The government dairy and cold storage commission, of which Dr. Rudnick is head, is endeavoring to reach a decision as to the necessity for a change from the present system of weighing and grading at Montreal, against which strong representations have been made from time to time. The conference will be held on the 7th, 8th and 9th. Every cheese board was asked to send a representative and William Fawcett, owner of Silver Springs cheese factory, and a former president of the Frontenac board, will represent the Kingston and Napanee boards.

The cheese makers want something done as they are determined not to send cheese to Montreal subject to weighing and grading by the buyers, and the proposal has been made to have the inspectors now engaged in enforcing the Dairy Standards act, inspect all cheese at the point of shipment, in which event Kingston would be one of the grading points as an average of two refrigerator cars leave via G.T.R. for Montreal per week during the season and about the same quantity by boat. The adoption of the scheme would mean that more factories would ship through Kingston and the amount of cheese boarded here might be greatly increased. The plan is merely a return to the old system by which every salesman sold his cheese upon the tests as to weights and grade carried out under his own observation. Allegations of irregularities prejudicial to the factory have been constantly made.

 NO CHANGE IN PRICE.
 A representative of the Imperial Oil Company when asked by the Whig if he expected there would be any drop in the price of gasoline this year, stated that the company did not look forward to any change. The retail price at the present time is thirty-eight cents a gallon. This is about the same price as a year ago.

HAD TO CHANGE THE GANG

Of Workmen Building Sewers—Not Enough Work For All in Need.

On Saturday afternoon seventy-six men, who were employed by the Board of Works department in putting in new sewers on Johnson and Regent streets, were greatly disappointed when they learned that a new gang of men would take their place on Monday morning. It was found necessary to give a second gang some work, as these men had been out of work for a considerable time and they had nothing with which to feed their wives and children. In many cases they have been getting relief from the unemployment relief fund, but there are some men who do not wish to take any relief of that kind. Some of these men find themselves up against it for the first time in their lives.

When the sewer work was spoken of, it was thought that it would provide work for about one hundred men at least. It is evident that the Board of Works department has been unable to take on more than fifty men on the Regent street sewer. It is understood that Ald. C. J. Graham, chairman of the Board of Works, was anxious to give steady work to the men, but when Allan Stroud, local representative of the Ontario employment bureau, showed him the list of men who were badly in need of work, he was satisfied that Mr. Stroud did the right thing when he changed the gang on Monday morning. The men are being paid at the rate of twenty-five cents an hour.

During the past week about thirty farmers have made application to the Ontario government labor employment bureau for first class experienced help to work on the farms. It is almost impossible to get experienced help so it is very likely that the farmers will have to be satisfied with men who have only had very limited farm experience.

CADADA TAKES BETTER CARE OF ITS SOLDIERS

Than the United States, Mrs. Asquith Tells New York Reporters.

New York, March 6.—"Canada is taking much better care of its sick and crippled soldiers than the United States authorities are," was the frank statement made to reporters last night by Mrs. Margot Asquith. "I am afraid that, speaking generally, the United States has forgotten its disabled soldiers," she declared. "The people take no personal interest in them."

ROB PAY STATIONS OF BELL TELEPHONE CO.

Five Boxes Are Smashed Open and Relieved of Their Contents.

Five local pay stations of the Bell Telephone Company were robbed on Friday last, and the thief or thieves secured about $20.

The stations robbed included one at the outer station, Queens Hotel, Anglo-American hotel, Army and Navy veterans headquarters and the Orpheum pool room.

The guilty party or parties went into the telephone booths under the ruse of using the telephones, and while in there smashed open the box and relieved it of its contents.

QUEEN'S STUDENTS LIKE JAZZ.

Hopes Collegiate Orchestra Members Will Come Here.
 Brockville Recorder.

"The younger people of Queen's have gone in so much for jazz lately that perhaps they don't hear enough of this class of music," said Dr. Arthur L. Clark, dean of the Faculty of Applied Science at Queen's University, Kingston, referring in Victoria Hall on Friday night to selections which had been rendered prior to his illustrated lecture on "Holland" by members of the Brockville Collegiate Institute orchestra. Dr. Clark expressed the hope that members of the orchestra might in course of time find their way to rejuvenate the student orchestra at the University of the staff of which he is a member.

DAME BUTT TO-NIGHT.

To-night, Kingston will have the opportunity which comes so seldom, of hearing one of the world's greatest artists in the person of Dame Clara Butt, who sings in Grant Hall at 8.14 o'clock. Toronto has been driven to frantic enthusiasm when she sang there Thursday and Friday, and the critics have given reports of unalloyed approval. The Mail and Empire said in part: "Many English hearts swelled to breaking point in Massey Hall last night. . . . Seldom does anything speak so clearly of the Old Land as did the concert of Dame Clara Butt, last night. . . . Her voice is one of the most extraordinary organs ever given to a human being. . . . The bigness, the majestic power of that tremendous contralto stirs people. . . . There is something so stirring in Dame Butt's interpretations that. . . they were received with storms of acclamations. . . ." (Toronto Star). Some songs on her programme: "Creation's Hymn," "Home Coming of the Unknown Warrior," "Have You News of My Boy," as sung by her are moving in the extreme. The assisting artists, Kennerley Rumford, baritone, Daniel Melsa, violinist, have made as deep an impression as Dame Butt herself. Their concert will live long in the musical annals of Kingston and no one should miss the rare opportunity which will probably not return in many years.—Adv.

 Your dear one is not dead."
