THE CURLING RINK BURNED

Principal Bruce Taylor, of Queen's University, when interviewed by the Whig, stated that it was almost certain that the curling rink would not be rebuilt on the present site. A few years ago, the executive committee of the club entered into an agreement with the authorities at Queen's University for a lease of the rink. This lease will not expire for a couple of years. At the time it was decided to build the new Harry Arena, the university authorities thought that it would be wise to move the curling rink to the site on which the covered rink stood for years. An expert was brought to the city and he was successful in moving the building in one piece. The intention of the Queen's authorities was only to allow the executive committee of the Kingston Curling Club to have the use of the rink until the lease expired and then they would have to look for other quarters. Now that the building has been burned the lease will automatically expire. Principal Taylor stated that the fire department did nobly and the people of Kingston should know that if it were not for the good work of the men of the fire brigade, the surrounding buildings would certainly have been burned to the ground. Thanks to the good work of the firemen and the fact that the wind was not blowing in the direction of the arena, that building would have been a total loss. It is thought that if the arena had taken fire it would only be a few minutes until the gymnasium and the new medical building would have been the prey of the flames.

Up until a late hour on Tuesday morning, it was impossible to learn the cause of the fire, but it is thought that it might have been caused by a lighted match or cigarette and which had been thrown on the floor. It is understood that some of the members of the club were in the rooms on Monday evening playing cards.

Looking for Stones.
On Tuesday morning when the members of the curling club learned that the building had been destroyed by fire many made their way to the wrecked building to see if they could find their curling stones. It is stated that there were about 127 pairs of stones, which would be worth about $27 a pair. M. P. Reid, president of the club, stated he thought about $4,000 worth of stones were lost. Some of the curlers had been carrying insurance on their stones for years. A number of lockers were built at the expense of the club, and the members who paid the yearly rental of $1 were allowed the use of the cupboards as well as having their stones insured. There were a number of curling stones in boxes and in most cases they were a total loss. All the stones which were in the club lockers are a total loss. Many were cracked by the intense heat. A couple of pairs of stones which had been left at the north end of the building were O.K. One curler found that the box which contained his granites had been burned, but the stones were in good shape. On Saturday last, J. B. Walkem, one of the honorary members of the curling club, thought that it would be wise to place some insurance on his stones, and for that reason took out a policy. Mr. Walkem, although eighty years of age, still enjoys the curling game.

Gymnasium Was Flooded.
A few minutes after the fire was noticed, James Bews, physical director at the university, was notified and he was soon on the job. When he arrived, the heat from the blaze was terrific and the windows on the north side of the gymnasium were being melted out of the frames. The fire hose, which was located in the gymnasium, was put into service and did wonderful work. After the fire was under control, Mr. Bews and about twenty-five students, who had heard the fire alarm, got to work of cleaning the water off the floor of the gymnasium. There was fully three inches of water on the floor. Commencing at the east end of the gymnasium the students turned benches on their sides and made a sort of a plow. The water was sent down the stairs leading to the basement and it found its way to the main drains. At ten o'clock the floor was in condition for classes. The broken windows will be replaced as soon as the insurance underwriters make a survey of the loss. All the curling trophies, with one exception, were saved. The Rockwood Tankard trophy is the only piece of silverware which fell to the prey of the flames. The other trophies had been taken to a jeweller for the purpose of having them engraved.

Club Loss $3,000.
It is estimated that the loss to the Kingston Curling Club executive will be about $3,000, which does not include the cost of the stones. During the year of 1918, extensive repairs were made to the club rooms and the lighting system of the rink. The total cost of improvements was $3,500, of which the Queen's authorities paid $3,000. During the past fall the light system was completely overhauled, but it is understood that no additional insurance was placed after these repairs were finished. The curling club rooms were looked upon as being up-to-date in every respect. There were separate rooms for ladies and gentlemen and the rooms were modern in every detail. There were two well-equipped kitchens.

A very large moose head, the gift of A. B. Cunningham, was lost. The sweater coats and caps, the property of the curlers, were totally destroyed. The executive committee had planned for a meeting to be held Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of arranging for the winding up of business for the season and the presentation of the different trophies. It is very likely that a meeting of the curlers will be held in the course of a few days to see what will be done in connection with the erection of a new building.

HON. T. A. LOW HAS CLEVER SECRETARY

Miss Charlotte Whitton Declares Renfrew's Infant Mortality is High.

Renfrew, March 28.—It is said that Hon. T. A. Low, minister without portfolio, has engaged Miss Charlotte Whitton, M.A., a brilliant graduate of Queen's University, as his parliamentary secretary. Her home is in Renfrew, where her parents reside. She was one of the most brilliant students that ever attended Renfrew Collegiate and her career through Queen's was noted far and wide. For some years she has been engaged in the social service work of the Ontario government, and as a lecturer she has won high praise throughout Canada. She lectured here last Thursday evening before a large audience in the Methodist church. During her discourse she opened the eyes of those present by alleging that the infant mortality in Renfrew and particularly Pembroke is greater than either Toronto, New York, or London, England.

The Junetown cheese factory has opened, with Donald Morris, of Athens, as maker for the season.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dearly beloved child, Gladys Lillian Light, who died March 28th, 1920.
Two years have passed since that sad day,
God called the one we loved away!
Forget her? No, we never will,
As years roll on we miss her still;
It was hard to lose the one we loved,
But God who knoweth best,
Held wide his loving arms and said:
"Come to me, thy dear child, and rest."
A void is from our household gone;
Her voice we loved is still,
Her place is vacant at our home,
Which never can be filled.
—Sister, Miss M. J. Fisher, mother, brothers and sister.
"Gone but not forgotten."

CARD OF THANKS.
J. G. Storms, Sydenham, wishes to extend to his friends his appreciation of their kindness to himself and family during his recent illness. He is on the gain and is able to go to work again in his barber shop.

NEW Spring Frocks

There are many different styles, each possessing some little smart touch that gives it character and individuality. The materials, the workmanship and the details of finish one would only expect to find in higher priced dresses. The materials are the newest for Spring and are being shown in all leading fashion centres. The colors too are very, very smart, and there are many pretty shades just introduced for the Spring promenade.

SILK FROCKS In Exclusive Styles and New Shades

You may have a softly draped Canton, a shimmering moon glow a graceful Crepe de Chene, and then there are many Taffetas, Krepe Knit and Radium Lace Frocks. Long waisted models, flaring panels, pretty drapes of various lengths, straight silhouettes and interesting sleeve arrangements.

$18.50 to $82.50

SILK FROCKS For Formal Wear

Simplicity and straight lines—not as decollete as in seasons past—with many pretty novelties in beadwork and little loops of ribbon here and there. Radium Lace is very smart and comes in many pretty combinations. Materials: Georgette, Charmeuse and Taffeta. Colors: American Beauty, Fire-fly, Orchid, Flesh and White.

$24.50 to $54.00

STREET FROCKS In Many New Styles

Navy Tricotine and Serge—straight line effects, some beaded, others embroidered in oriental colors or braid-trimmed. Simple straight lines—but all very clever—all chic.

The materials are, of course, all wool and made from strong yarns, and the dresses are made by expert tailors who understand every detail of dressmaking. Navy Blue is the most popular and fashionable color for Spring.

$10.00 to $49.50

FLANNEL DRESSES In the New Billie Burke Style

These Flannel Dresses are decidedly popular for Spring. They are warm yet not too much so—just a correct weight for the cooler days of Spring. Made from all wool flannel—all have a cute Peter Pan Collar of plain white or self color—many nicely trimmed with white buttons, wool embroidery work or neat girdles.

$9.00 to $12.95
