Why Night Calls Are Popular

"How good it would sound to hear Mother's voice to-night. If it didn't cost so much I would call her up. Perhaps it doesn't cost as much as I think."

"Long Distance, what will it cost to talk with 624 Springville?"

"The day rate for a Station-to-Station call is 90 cents, but as it's now nine o'clock you can talk for 45 cents. After twelve o'clock the rate is only 25 cents."

"Great!" said John, "Get me 624 Springville." Soon the welcome voice was telling him the things he wanted to hear, and a midnight talk for every Wednesday was arranged. Did Mother grudge the little sleep she lost when Wednesday night came 'round?"

These low rates on Station-to-Station calls are a precious boon to thousands enabling them to talk with dear ones far away.

HOME BREW, HOOTCH AND MOONSHINE

Tanks for "Tanks" Women bootleggers wear copper containers which fit their bodies in the fashion of baseball catchers' chest protectors, a raid on an illicit still clubman who died thirty years ago at Peabody, Mass., revealed. Wear one of these strapped to her body A rush for jobs as house-wreckers followed, but the majority of them bootlegger could carry a gallon of moonshine to the place of delivery. Such padding was not so good for the woman bootlegger's figure as for the figure of her bank account. It reminds one of some extravagant advertisement writer's description of dainty lingerie—"made of cobwebs and moonshine."

Put It On Ice Government agents seized a sleigh bearing $8,000 worth of whiskey across the ice on Lake Champlain near the New York side. At modern prices that was entirely too small an amount of whiskey to mix with so much ice, even if it had been cracked, to make any kind of high ball. Apparently the whiskey-laden sleigh was not properly equipped with run-runners.

Use a Dry Plate Camera Representative Volstead has become camera-shy since references to his famous dry act have called down hisses in some theatres and since he has received threatening letters from cranks. He constantly refuses to be photographed, probably denying a sitting to the real weeklies because every movie camera has a couple of cranks to it. As for newspaper photographs, he possibly declines them because they are called "stills."

Handed Across the Sea Good money was spent on cable tolls to inform us that Americans in London now sing the following thirty ditty: Sing a song of expense, A bottle full of rye, Four-and-twenty Yankoes Sitting parched and dry, When the rye was opened The Yanks began to sing "We won't go back to the U. S. A. God save the King!" To which the Prohibitionists might paraphrase that they care not who writes the songs as long as they make the lamp.

Extra Dry Note When the newest theatre in New York was christened recently, the owner's wife broke a bottle of real champagne over its "bow," thereby causing real pain to the thirty holders. Any one of the actors present probably would have furnished the bow.
