LADY BYNG TO BE PRESENT

At the General Hospital Nurses' Graduation on May 12th.

The Board of Governors of Kingston General Hospital met Tuesday. The chairman and several members of the managing committee were present, but the general board which numbers about eighty, had a very small representation.

In the management committee's report the largest and most interesting item was that relating to the coming graduation. It states that Lady Byng had definitely consented to present the hospital plus to the nurses on that occasion; that an interesting musical programme was being arranged; that the date fixed is the anniversary of Florence Nightingale's birthday Friday, May 12th, and that Grant Hall had been secured and there was every indication that it would be an even more attractive affair than usual.

The visiting governors, A. Shaw and W. J. Cooke, brought in a brief report. They were carefully through the buildings and expressed pleasure and surprise that the hospital in the past had been able to do such excellent work. They look forward to the time when all the new buildings and new equipment most of which is well under way we shall be ranked among the very first hospital in the country.

The medical superintendent's report was very comprehensive, covering all departments of the institution and was listened to with a great deal of interest.

Plans for the new isolation building were submitted by the chairman who stated that in his opinion and that of the medical staff it would probably be the most complete and up-to-date isolation hospital in the country, although not the largest.

The visiting governors for the month are J. H. Birkett and William Anderson.

"WHAT IS A CHRISTIAN?"

Subject of Sermon by Rev. O. C. Elliott at First Baptist.

"What is a Christian?" A short and seemingly simple question such as that ought to be easily and accurately answered. But those who heard Rev. O. C. Elliott's discussion of the subject in the First Baptist church on Tuesday evening were brought to realize that many people have a wrong or inaccurate conception of the question, and an erroneous answer to it. His text was Gal. II, 20: "I am crucified with Christ, nevertheless I Live." His definition of the true Christian life brought out the conception that a Christian is one who is Christ redeemed, bought with the blood of Christ; Christ regenerated, changed, transformed by the power of Christ, and Christ ruled, Christ's will and wish always having first place in his life.

At the afternoon service the theme was "Unanswered Prayer." The speaker began by saying that in reality there is no such thing as unanswered prayer, pointing out that though the request is not always granted, God's refusal, or delay, or sending of something else is an answer. A careful study of the scriptures bearing on the question brought out the fact that when the answer is not according to the asking, it is because the petitioner has been selfish, or sinful or spiteful, or the petitioner lacking in faith.

With improved weather conditions and growing interest in the services it is expected that the attendance will steadily increase, as Mr. Elliott's messages are soul stirring and helpful.

Reached Garden Island. The steamer Wolfe Islander which was able to reach Garden Island on Tuesday is now making two trips a day. The people on Wolfe Island who want to reach the city have to take the ice for a short distance and then get aboard the steamer.

On Tuesday morning when the steamer left the city wharf, at the foot of Brock street, she kept close to the Kingston shore until near the plant of the Kingston Shipbuilding Company and then proceeded directly across to the island. It is stated that the steamer did not encounter heavy ice until it reached Garden Island.
