BACCALAUREATE SERMON VERONA ROAD IS FLOODED

Preached in Convocation Hall Sunday Afternoon by Dr. R. Bruce Taylor.

The annual university baccalaureate sermon was preached by Dr. R. Bruce Taylor in Convocation hall, Sunday afternoon, to the members of the graduating classes in arts, science and medicine, who occupied the front rows of the hall. The principal spoke from the text found in Isaiah LX: 19. "The sun shall be no more thy light by day; neither thy brightness shall the moon give light unto thee; but the Lord shall be unto thee an everlasting light, and thy God thy glory." Explaining that the chapter was an example of the manner in which a prophecy may rise to an idealism. The chapter, in which the text is found, teaches the thought that symbols last for a time, and are gone. He emphasized that wherever there is life there is change and this happens in every line of thought, secular and religious.

Applying this thought to the symbols of worship, Dr. Taylor stated that the idealism of past centuries put itself into the large cathedrals such as are to be seen in England and exemplify the religious ideas of those times. Now religion is more interested in the social problems of the day. The preacher aims at giving inspiration more than instruction.

Also with symbols of faith the views changed. Queen's has always been associated with liberalism of thought in theology and other branches and from addresses given from the platform of Convocation hall have arisen discussions that have shook the religious life of Canada. The fact that things living are growing applies also to the religious life and future will have its problems to solve.

Speaking more directly to the graduating classes, Principal Taylor remarked that Queen's men and women should remember that they had been in a university which has always been associated with the liberty of thinking. The speaker hoped that besides getting instruction they had got education, which, he stated, was gained in discussion with thinking people. "I hope that you thoroughly disagreed with you professors, are challengers of what is taught and not sponges," stated the Principal. "That is the spirit we want in Queen's." The students are sent out with the idea that Queen's is a place where men think at liberty. In conclusion the speaker added that we are here for only a few years but it was his earnest wish that the temper that is being instilled will continue, and that a century hence the same spirit of truth seeking goes on. Prof. W. G. Jordan conducted the service and the hall was well filled with visitors.

And Traffic From Kingston to That Village is Almost Impossible.

During the past week, on account of the flooded condition of the main highway leading into the village of Verona, it has been practically impossible for the people of that village to get in or out. Motor traffic has been out of the question for the past week and it is very doubtful if there is any likelihood of the traffic being open for another week at the very earliest.

On Sunday, when in telephone communication with Verona, the Whig learned that the water on the Kingston-Verona highway at a point known as the Verona or Kingston swamp is about three or four feet deep. It was stated that the water had commenced to go down on Sunday account of the ice in the Napanea river, which has been stopping this water clearing away. The point where the traffic is being held up stretches for a distance of about half a mile. Years ago, in the spring time, it was impossible for the traffic of any kind to get through the Verona swamp. A sum of money was voted by the county council and the road was raised a couple of feet by placing large telephone poles across the swamp and then a macadam top was built on top of the poles.

The Petworth dam, which was blown up by some unknown parties a year or so ago, was also the cause of holding back a lot of water, thus causing the flooding of the roadway and some of the farms in that section of the country. Since that dam was blown up, it is stated that the overflow of water has not been nearly as bad. It is thought that the water will gradually disappear, since the ice in the Napanea lake is on the move.

Some citizens who intended going out to Verona last week found out to their surprise that traffic was impossible in the swamp unless a person wanted to swim. A local electrician who went out for the purpose of doing some work, got stuck in the swamp and had to be pulled out by a team of horses. When speaking to the Whig he stated that he drove his car until the water was right up to the carburetor on the engine, and then his car stood still. He decided to blow his horn, thinking it might attract some people near by who would come to his assistance with a team of horses and pull him out. The blowing of the horn had the desired result and the auto truck was pulled out. There was a report that one day last week when a man was driving a horse and buggy through the swamp, the horse took fright and the driver had to get out of the water the best way he knew how.

One Verona resident told the Whig that he could well remember when the water was so deep in the swamp that it would be right up on the seat of the buggy.

CANTATA AT ST. ANDREW'S

"Penitence, Pardon and Peace" Was Rendered on Easter Sunday Evening.

A splendid rendering of J. H. Mauder's sacred cantata, "Penitence, Pardon and Peace" was given in St. Andrew's church on Sunday evening, on the occasion of the special Easter services. This beautiful story in song was most carefully and aptly portrayed by the choir, who were under the direction of Mr. Hill, choirmaster, and Professor Milner, A.R.C.O. organist. The cantata was in three distinct parts, showing the eager search and pleading for forgiveness for sins; the rejoicing when a full pardon is given; and the thankfulness when peace settles once more over the soul of the penitent. The leading parts were taken by Harry Hill and Harold Singleton, baritone and tenor.

The church was well-filled with members of the congregation, and the pulpit area was prettily decorated with white lilies and yellow tulips. Rev. John W. Stephen conducted the opening exercises, and announced that the sermon would be dispensed with owing to the rendering of the cantata. He remarked that this was specially appropriate for Easter, and that it was one of the most beautiful cantatas ever composed. Miss Goldie Bartells gave a violin selection during the offertory.

Following are the selections in the cantata: Part I—Penitence, chorus, "How Long Will Thou Forget Me"; solo, tenor, Harold Singleton, "O That I Knew How I Might Find Him"; hymn, "I Heard The Voice of Jesus Say." Part II—Pardon, solo, baritone, Harry Hill, "Oh, Gaze Thy Burden Upon the Lord"; chorus, "Look Unto Him And Be Ye Saved"; solo, Harold Singleton, "Fearfulness and Trembling"; solo, Harry Hill, and chorus, "Behold Now Is The Accepted Time"; hymn, "Lord In This Mercy's Day." Part III—Peace, chorus, "When The Son of Man Shall Come"; solo, Harry Hill, "Come Ye Blessed"; chorus, "These Are They"; solo, Harold Singleton, "For Thou Hast Redeemed Us"; chorus, "Now Therefore Our Lord We Thank Thee."

The congregation joined in the several hymns, the singing of which was very beautiful throughout. The cantata itself was splendidly rendered, and the singing of the choir in their many difficult parts, showed very careful straining and study on the part of all concerned.

St. Mark's, Barriefield. There were two celebrations of holy communion, one at 8 a.m. and the other at 11 a.m. on Easter Sunday, and both services were well attended. The rector, Rev. A. O. Cooke, preached at the morning service and Rural Dean Crisp in the evening. The choir rendered the anthem, "He Is Not Here, But Is Risen," with fine effect. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers.

Campbell Power Supply

Again to the Rescue

The severe electric storm late Monday morning damaged the Hydro lines west of Belleville and cut the supply of from Kingston. The Campbell power from Kingston Mills was switched on and carried the load very successfully. But for this very valuable source of supply, the city would have been "stalled."

Y.M.C.A. Song Service. There was the usual good attendance at the song service at the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday evening. The programme included solos by Mrs. Watson and Miss Mildred Flitz; selections by an orchestra composed of Messrs. E. Madrand, N. Way and K. McKinstry; and a number of Easter choruses. After the singing refreshments were served by Mrs. E. Rutan and Mrs. John Wright.
