INCIDENTS OF THE DAY

Racy Local News and Items of General Public Interest.

Rev. Dr. McFadyen preached at both services in Deseronto on Sunday.

Mr. Swaine, piano tuner, orders received at 100 Clergy street w Phone 554 w.

Cyril Bell, Queen's University, spent the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Bell, 23 John street, Brockville.

Lawrence J. Duling, formerly manager of the Hotel Woodruff, Watertown, N.Y., will be manager of the Crossman House, Alexandria Bay, N.Y.

On Sunday afternoon, some citizens who visited the Mowat hospital were surprised to find that dandelions were in bloom. These are probably the first of the season.

On Monday morning the street railway company had a gang of men taking the bark off the cedar ties which will be used on the Brock and Ontario street pavement.

The vestry meeting of St. George's cathedral, which was to have been held to-night, has been postponed for two weeks to permit of the receiving of the report of the auditors.

The funeral of the late Mrs. McGillivray took place from her late residence, Washburn, to Cataract cemetery on Saturday morning, under the direction of John Cornelius, undertaker. Rev. Mr. McLean officiated.

The body of the late Mrs. John Lackie was, last week, removed to Gananoque cemetery and placed in the vault there, on the order of Coroner George W. Graham, Toronto, who conducted the inquest into the cause of her death.

Moving pictures of the Mission Fields of the Canadian Church and of the Missionaries at their work, taken by the Pathoscope Company of Canada, will be shown in St. James' Sunday School at eight o'clock this evening. Silver collection at the door.

The funeral of the late Mrs. William Holder took place from the residence of her niece, Mrs. Smith, 45 Clergy street west, to Sand Hill cemetery, on Friday morning, under the direction of John Cornelius, undertaker. Rev. E. Codling officiated.

An interesting innovation was introduced at the special Easter services in Calvary Congregational church on Sunday, when the choir appeared in gown and "mortar-board," it being announced by Rev. A. F. Brown that this was the first time for such a happening in the history of this church.

Receive Attendance Pins.

Sunday afternoon's session of Queen street Methodist church Sunday school was one of especial interest. About a year ago the school offered a special reward to all its members who were absent from not more than two sessions of the school during the year. The reward took the form of a specially designed silver pin decorated with light blue enamel and bearing the letters Q.S.M.S.S. Twenty members of the school qualified for the reward from the junior, intermediate, senior and adult departments and received the pins from the superintendent, Dr. C. C. Nash, Sunday afternoon.

Y.M.C.A. Easter Service.

A special Easter service was observed at the regular Bible class conducted for Y.M.C.A. boys on Sunday morning. Odden Hambrook presided, with about fifty boys present. The special speaker was John Kinch, who gave an interesting Easter message to the young members. Miss Condie rendered several fine solos, and Norman Way gave violin selections, also acting as accompanist for the hymns. Some of the returns for the campaign for a boys' secretary in India were received, and there is every indication that the workers will "go over the top" before the end of the week.

Queen's New Library.

It is learned at Queen's that it is the intention of the university authorities to go ahead with the erection of the new library building this summer. At the present time the plans are being prepared and the work on the foundation will be pushed along as quickly as possible. The building will be of stone and will mean a great deal of work for the stone cutters and masons. It is fully expected that it will give work all next winter to a gang of expert stone cutters. The building will be erected at the corner of Union street and University avenue, north of the Ontario hall.

Dangerous Street Play.

A number of readers have called our attention to the fact that boys are playing baseball on the city streets. On Wellington street, the other day, a lady was struck in the head by a ball. There is a by-law against playing ball on any of the city streets, but this is not enforced. Boys must have some place to play, and when public grounds are not available, it is almost too much to expect that they will not use the city streets on occasion. They should, however, be very careful and not injure passers-by.

IN MARINE CIRCLES

This week will probably see some of the vessels, which have been in winter quarters in the harbor for the past few months, start on their long summer schedule once again. The majority of the boats are ready now, but are held back owing to the fact that the canals are not opened until the official date for the opening of navigation. Generally the vessels leave here before this date, and wait at the head of the lake for the opening. In the meantime, steam is up on most of the boats, and the final preparations are being made. Many of the members of the crews joined up over the week-end, though few of the captains have reported as yet, there being no immediate need for their presence.

The steamer Keybell was taking on coal at Crawford's wharf this morning. The steamer Kenora was floated from the Collingwood Shipbuilding Company's drydock on Friday and the Vinmount is now entered for repairs.

The steamer Wolfe Isander had its first rough passage of the season this morning with quite a stiff south-east wind blowing.

The steamer Brockville is being fitted out and will soon be serving the Bay of Quinte ports again. She is now receiving a coat of paint.

On Sunday afternoon, a number of citizens were attracted to Swift's wharf, when the steamer Trevisa was trying out its propeller shaft and engines. The surrounding waters received a great stirring up, and the slip resembled a great whirlpool, owing to the action of the powerful propellers, while the vessel was stationary.

To Release the Pentland.

The steamer Pentland, which ran ashore on the north side of Goose-neck Island last fall, came through the winter in good shape, and it is expected that further efforts will be made to refloat the craft in the near future.

To Release the Concretia.

The Donnelly Salvage and Wrecking Company will soon endeavor to release the steamer Concretia, owned by the Dominion government, which went ashore at the Main Ducks last fall. Capt. Taylor, Prescott, who is in charge of placing the gas buoys on Lake Ontario and the River St. Lawrence, arrived in the city on Sunday and had intended going to the scene of the wreck on Monday morning, but the weather would not permit the trip. It is not expected that the steamer will be damaged as a result of remaining on the shore all winter, as the captain of the Concretia beached his vessel in a sheltered place before he and the crew were taken off.

The steamer Scout has arrived in port and will do the work of placing out the gas buoys.

Last fall when the steamer Concretia was missing for a couple of days there was great anxiety as to her safety. After the wind dropped the tug Mary P. Hall left for up the lake with the hope of finding the missing steamer, and about five o'clock the same evening the crew were returned to the city.

APRIL USHERS IN MANY PRETTY WASH FABRICS

All are new patterns and the pretty colorings are entirely different from those of former years.

GINGHAMS 25c. to $1.25

SEARSUCKER 25c. yard

ORGANDIES 50c. to $1.50

Checks are the pronounced patterns in Gingham for Spring. Very dainty and neat and come in pretty colors — among which you are sure to find one that will become you. The Ginghams are excellent quality and come in most suitable widths.

This is a labor-saving material, for as you know it requires no ironing after being washed. A material specially suited for children's wear. A very complete range of patterns to choose from in very pretty colorings.

This sheer fabric is very popular, for it makes up so beautifully for either afternoon or party frocks. There are a number of excellent qualities in stock and the colors are grey, pink, mauve, Nile, deep rose, shades of blue, lavender, maize, canary, peach, flame, navy.

COTTON DRESS VOILES

Excellent qualities combined with low pricings and such a complete range of patterns will make choice an easy matter.

45c. to $1.90 yard

This is the reasonable price range for the new Spring Voiles. This year the small patterns are most favored, including the dots, checks and small flowered patterns. The Voiles are working away from the darker colors (although there is plenty of these, too), and the lighter colors will be seen a great deal this summer. The beauty of these can only be appreciated by seeing them and noting their pretty colors and becoming patterns.

SPORTS SUITINGS 60c. yard

RATINE SUITINGS $1.25 to $2.95

Dotted Swiss MUSLINS $1.50 up

For light summer Sport Suits and Jumper Dresses this fabric is ideal — not too heavy in weight and of excellent width, this popular material comes in such pretty shades as Sky, Copen, Natural, Orchid, Pink, Rose.

Perhaps the newest material for the making of Suits and Dresses is the Ratines. They are of a rough texture, which is very fashionable in cotton goods, and come in plain colors or with a pretty spot, Rose, Copen, Pea Green, Natural, Pink, White.

Dotted Swiss Muslins were very popular last year, and they remain so this year, too. Last year they were very scarce and expensive, but this year a complete range, reasonably priced, awaits your choosing—Salmon, Dark Green, Peach, Pink, Lavender, Sky, Navy, Henna, Jade, Copen, Rose, White.
