CHRIST WORKING FOR US AN EDUCATIONAL APPEAL

Says Rev. W. G. G. Dreyer, Toronto, in Sermon at St. James' Church.

"Christ, our Priest, is working for us to-day, interceding for us in Heaven, keeping our prayers continually before the Father; only place your prayers in Christ's hands, and through Him they will be effectual," was the appealing message of hope, delivered by Rev. W. G. G. Dreyer, Toronto, during the course of his sermon in St. James' church on Sunday morning.

His text, "But now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that slept (Corinthians XV:20) is suggestive of the joy that the reader is to dwell upon, not of the pain and humiliation of the Cross. "A man who was gentle, loving, extraordinary, the Son of God, what love and sacrifice was His! And who can say that he or she deserves such love at the hands of Jesus, our Redeemer? As a butterfly or a moth comes out of the cocoon, so Jesus arose from the dead, from the grave that was sealed and guarded by soldiers, and He, our Priest who suffered upon the cross, is working for us to-day.

"Do you feel your uncleanness? If so, in love, let me direct you to your Priest and Saviour. Ask Him to make you better and you will be fully cleansed and pardoned. "Why stand ye gazing to Heaven?" The world is not through with Christ yet, for that same Jesus whose name they take in vain, will set up His Kingdom over the earth, and every tongue spoken against Him will be silenced. A Christless grave is very cold and dark, and he who rejects Christ will never enter yonder City. "Blessed as the homesick, for they shall go home."

"May the spirit of God enable us to bow ourselves humbly before our glorious Lord. As Jesus Christ arose from the dead, so we will rise, for you and I have an instinct in our hearts, that this world is not our end. God is not going to be untrue to you when He is not untrue to the little birds. On Resurrection morn soul and body meet, and we shall all assemble in one great company because God's word is true."

Following the conclusion of his sermon, Rev. Mr. Dreyer appealed to the girls of the congregation to take the Deaconess Training Course, if they felt so inclined. "I feel that there are many girls," he said, "who may do a splendid work for the church. There is a wonderful field, a great appreciation, and a great need. For the first time we are having one of our graduates becoming a clergywoman, going to Quill Lake, where she will take charge of the parish."

Made by Rev. A. J. Thomas, Montreal, in Queen St. Methodist Church.

A special appeal was made in Queen street church on Sunday by Rev. A. J. Thomas, B.A., B.D., St. James' Methodist church, Montreal, in the interests of the Educational Society of the conference. The speaker gave an interesting talk on the need for subscriptions to assist in maintaining the Methodist universities and theological colleges, and to aid probationers for the ministry to obtain a suitable education.

The minister took his text from Luke XI, 2, "Thy Kingdom Come," and during his brief preliminary sermon, he gave a splendid outline of the beauties of God's Kingdom on earth. This was compared to many of the loftiest mountains which pierced the sky, but had never been scaled by man; and so it was with the Kingdom of God, the summit of which has never been reached. Continuing, the speaker told of the great power that intellect and culture had in bringing God's influence nearer to man. Even though intellect has been used by some men for evil purposes, this was no reason why education should be discouraged.

The church needs men and women with brains, who have been educated to think for themselves and know what they are talking about. A minister must be baptized to the work of Christ, but he must also be trained, know the Bible, and to understand why he believes what he believes. At the same time he must be able to be interesting to his hearers, and training and education can alone give them simplicity.

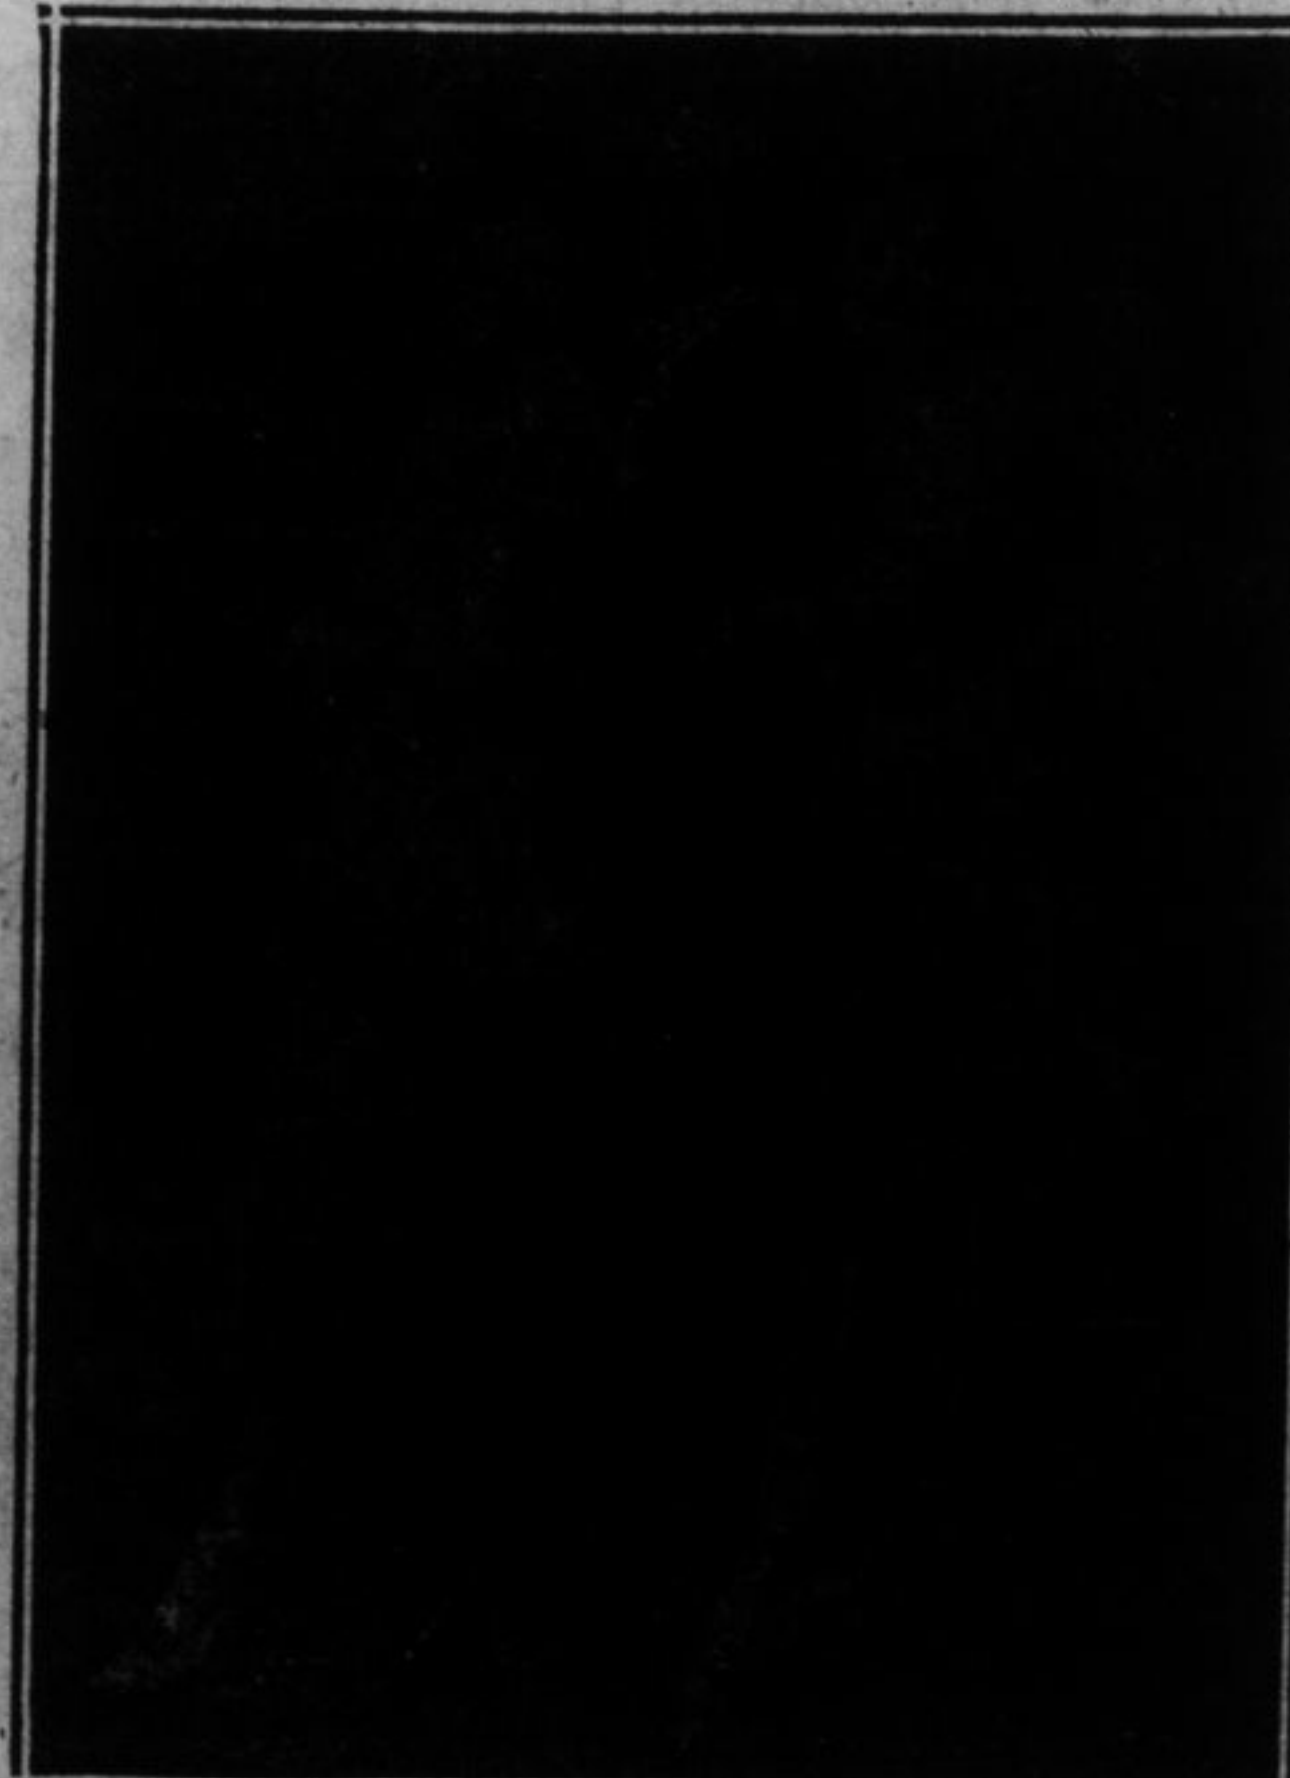

The speaker concluded by sketching the work of the various denominational colleges, which had been turning out Christian men and women into all walks of life. They should be supported, even if it meant a sacrifice on the part of the giver, if these colleges are to continue through the years.

30,000 Islands—Georgian Bay.

It is impossible to describe this wonderful waterway with any degree of satisfaction. Nature having been so generous in beautifying and adorning it and having dowered it with so many gorgeous scenic effects, including rugged promontories, intricate channels and narrows, and vast amphitheatres of open water. This entire district is so full of interest and altogether so charming that to go there once is to want to return and take your friends. The air is dry and bracing, and a sure cure for hay fever. There is no end of good fishing—deep fishing for big fish and fly fishing for black bass. And for those who do not care to fish, there is motor-boating, a row or sail, bathing and darning, lawn tennis and other pastimes. "And always there is the wildwood that welcomes, rejuvenates and sends the visitor home with happy memories. The principal gateway is Midland, 101 miles north of Toronto and reached by the Grand Trunk. Free copy of interesting publication with map and list of hotels sent for the asking. Write to J. P. Hanley, C.P. & T.A., G.T. Ry., Kingston, Ont.

Sketch of C. Camsell. Charles Camsell, department of mines, Ottawa, who is to get an LL. D. degree at Queen's, has the honor conferred because of his eminence as a geologist and explorer, "and as one to whom Canada will ever be largely indebted for the discovery of fresh resources and for mapping out of so much of its unknown territory." Dr. Camsell graduated in natural science from St. John's College, Winnipeg, in 1894. He studied geology at Queen's in 1901, at Harvard in 1903 and at the Boston Institute of Technology in 1905. He was born on the Mackenzie River.

SATURDAY'S MARKET REGULAR OLD-TIMER

It was a regular old-time market that assembled on the square on Saturday morning, the vendors' wagons and cars filling up every available bit of space. For the most part the prices remained the same until late in the morning, when a few dropped slightly. The closed market was very well attended.

Meat prices were: Veal, 8c. to 13c. per pound; spring lamb, $2.25 for hinds and $2.50 for fronts; pork, 18c to 22c. per pound; a few turkeys offered at 45c. per pound; chickens, $1.25 to $2.25; the offering of meats was not quite so heavy as last week.

In spite of the cold spell of the past week the price of eggs remained steady, holding around 25c. per dozen. Many thrifty housewives, who were looking for large consignments, secured them for a lower price; in one case a basket was sold for 22c. a dozen. Butter was at 40c. per pound generally, and any changes were in a downward direction.

Greens were very plentiful; onions, lettuce, radishes at 10 cents per bunch; celery at 15c., and 2 bunches for 25c.; carrots at 15c. per bunch; rhubarb, 2 bunches for 25c.; spinach, 20c. per bunch.

Potatoes appeared in much larger quantities than have been prevalent for some time and went as low as $1.35 per bag, with the prevailing quotation $1.50; carrots brought 50c. per peck, parsnips 60c. and onions $1.25.

The usual array of potted and cut flowers were offered for sale, one or two loads of "pussy willows" and mayflowers. The home-made candy men did a flourishing business and the R.C.H.A. band was on deck.

Letters to the Editor

Come to Vermont and Learn. Stowe, Vt., April 20th.—(To the Editor): I saw two notes in your paper of April 13th, concerning poor old Thomas David, being a guest in the police station over the weekend, and then turned out on the road towards Picton, to which town he belongs, and that he had travelled over this road for the past few years with no means of support.

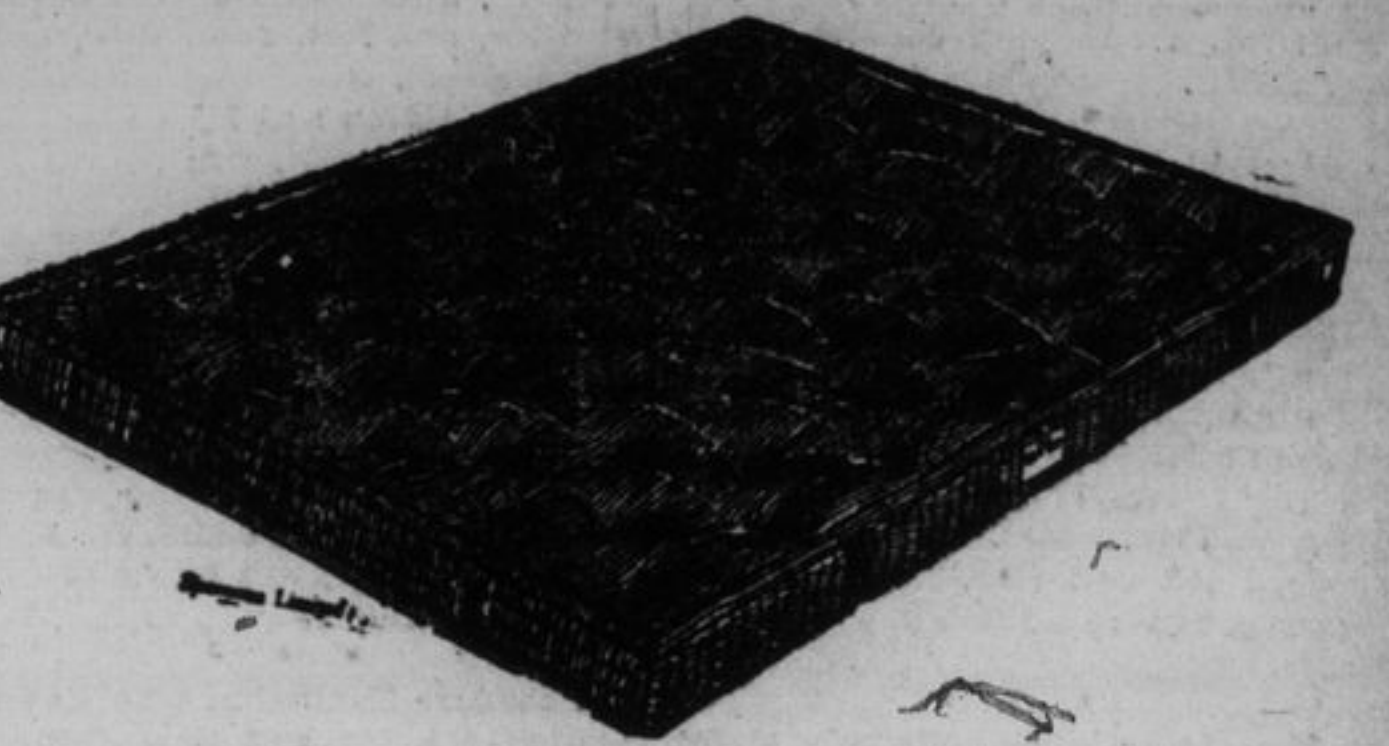

I should like to say to the Kingston authorities: Come on over to Vermont and learn how to take care of the aged poor. Here each town has an overseer of the poor, and the police have nothing to do with them.

—MRS. J. B. MCKINLEY.

Bricklayers Not To Blame. Kingston, Ont., Friday, April 21st.—(To the Editor): In last night's issue of your valuable paper a very interesting letter from one, J. McDonald, appeared, in which he makes statements concerning the Kingston bricklayers that we cannot let go unchallenged. It was interesting first, to see that a very much misinformed Mr. McDonald could not be satisfied until he rushed into print and spread his (mis) information to the public. Now, Mr. McDonald may know all there is to know about lumber, lath, etc., but his statements re the bricklayers show that he is sadly ignorant on that topic.

He says that the bricklayers look for $1.00 per hour. They may, but as yet they have looked in vain. The union rate is 85c. per hour and never has been more only on paper for a few short months, notwithstanding the fact that in Brockville in 1920 the wages were $1.00 and the rate now is 90c. Mr. McDonald also states that according to union rules a bricklayer is allowed to lay only a certain number of bricks in a day. That, Mr. Editor, is one of the meanest lies ever circulated about any trades union. Could Mr. McDonald, if called upon, prove that statement? No, nor anyone else that has helped circulate that piece of slander for the past two years. Oh, yes, that statement is far from being a new one. I defy Mr. McDonald or anyone else to prove that statement, and will say here that there is nothing in our constitution or by-laws to prevent a man from laying a million bricks in a day if it were possible to do so. In closing I might say that a bricklayer has but eight months in the year to earn a living and plenty of rainy days, to say nothing of frosty ones, in that time, that he cannot work when probably Mr. McDonald is not bothered on pay day by rainy weather.
