AN OLD RESIDENT HAD UNIQUE BIRTHDAY CAKE

Abram Hoppins, Stuart Street Was Eighty-seven Years Old on Friday.

Abram Hoppins, of 213 Stuart street, one of Kingston's oldest and best-known citizens, was eighty-seven years old today (Friday) and was the recipient of the congratulations of his very wide circle of friends.

Although born in the States, Mr. Hoppins has been a resident of Kingston the greater part of his life. He owns considerable property on Stuart street, and to his immediate friends and acquaintances he is known as "Daddy." He is well liked and very popular in the neighborhood, and many called on him to extend congratulations and best wishes. For some years he has lived a retired life. Mr. Hoppins has always taken a keen interest in Kingston's welfare and in his earlier days, was an active worker in the Workingmen's Association. This association held meetings every week, at which subjects of great interest to citizens were discussed. Mr. Hoppins is well read, and from time to time contributed many valuable letters to the Whig, on timely subjects.

Although well over his three score years and ten, Mr. Hoppins is very active, and when interviewed by a representative of the Whig was in fine spirits, and outside of a slight cold which he was endeavoring to "shake", was in the best of health. "Eighty-seven years young," best describes Mr. Hoppins. On Thursday evening a social gathering was held at the home of a friend to mark Mr. Hoppin's birthday, and a magnificent birthday cake, made by one of his neighbors, James McLaughlin, attracted much attention. The figures "Eighty-seven" were worked out in candles on the top of the cake, while the figures "1835-1922," and the words "Eighty-seven years young," also appeared in the neat decorations. The cake was a masterpiece in workmanship and was much admired.

The Whig joins with citizens in general, in extending congratulations to Mr. Hoppins.

KICKED BY A HORSE AND DANGEROUSLY HURT

Austin Armstrong, Denbigh, Driven 150 Miles in Auto to Kingston.

Austin Armstrong, Denbigh, is lying in the General Hospital in a critical condition due to the kick of a horse, the animal's heels striking him in the head, causing a dangerous wound. Denbigh is one hundred and fifty miles north of Kingston, and the injured man was brought to Kingston in an automobile, arriving here at midnight Thursday. He is under the care of Dr. L. J. Austin, who performed an operation Friday afternoon.

JUDGMENT FOR $10,000

Given in Regard to an Old Promissory Note.

Brookville, May 5.—A judgment in the sum of approximately $10,000, which represents the principal of a promissory note and interest from the date of execution, 1894 to 1920, was handed down in Ontario supreme court late Tuesday to Mrs. Samantha Dillenbeck, of Evans Mills, Jefferson county, N.Y., as plaintiff in an action against Mrs. Elias Strong, Brookville, administratrix, of the estate of the late Pitt W. Strong.

While the court allowed the customary thirty days of grace for the filing of an appeal, it is not believed that appeal from the decision will be taken. Whether the judgment will be collectible is an open question; it is said, for it is not known whether Strong left an estate sufficient to meet the claim.

Mrs. Dillenbeck is the former wife of Barzell Strong, who died in 1910. In 1863 the homestead at Evans Mills was sold to one Lawton by Barzell and Pitt W. Strong, brothers, with an agreement that possession was not to go to the purchaser until the death of the mother of the Strong. She died in 1887. In 1894, a settlement was reached between the Strong and Frank L. Lawton, now of Syracuse, son of the original purchaser.

The day of the settlement, June 11th, 1894, it was alleged in trial, Pitt W. Strong made a note for $3,870.38 in favor of his brother, with interest, the note not to fall due until the death of Pitt W. Strong. Mrs. Dillenbeck alleged the note and interest never had been paid by Barzell Strong and sought to collect it from the estate.

Investigating Complaints About Children's Aid

Inspector J. J. Kelso, provincial inspector of the Children's Aid Society, is in the city to investigate the complaints lodged against the local management. DR. JAMES MILLER RETURNS

Was Guest of Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador at Washington.

Professor James Miller, of Queen's Medical College, returned on Thursday from a trip to New York and Washington. In New York he was the guest in the Canadian Club of the Queen's University, New York Society, at whose annual banquet he was one of the speakers. The dinner was a great success, between forty and fifty Queen's graduates being present. The president of the Society, Dr. Nelson Raymond, acted as chairman and proposed the toast of Queen's. In his speech, Dr. Miller dealt with the principle events of the past year in the university in the various faculties and in athletics. Particular attention was paid to the progress and development of the medical school, the larger number of those present being medical graduates. Other speakers of the evening were the Hon. Francis M. Hugo, former Secretary of State for New York, a graduate in arts of Queen's, and Albert Oliver, president of the Canadian Club. A number of popular Queen's songs were given and the menu prepared by the president contained numerous humorous topical allusions. Other guests present included the Rev. Tillman B. Johnson, Dr. Gordon Gibson, representing McGill, and Mr. T. Kennard Thomson, representing Toronto University. Dr. Miller paid a tribute to the cordiality and kindness of his reception and to the vitality and vigor of the Queen's University New York Society which owes much to the interest and hard work of Dr. Pope and Mr. Goodearle, B. Sc., the secretary.

On leaving New York, Dr. Miller travelled to Washington where he attended the meetings of the International Association of Medical Museums and the Association of American Pathologists contributing papers and speaking at both associations. Dr. Miller was the guest at luncheon of His Excellency the Rt. Hon. Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador to the United States, who is an old school and college friend of his.
