Human Mind Is Real Wonder of the World.

Inanimate Things That Used to Be Classed as Marvels Are Trivial in Comparison, According to Boston Writer.

An up-to-date newspaper must have an encyclopedic editor "Uncle Dudley" writes in the Boston Globe. His job is to do what he can to quench the public thirst for odd scraps of miscellaneous information. He lives close by the reservoir, a library containing the records of the race. One day he files a deposition about John Elliot's translation of the Bible for the American Indians; the next morning he testifies that on September 7, 1892, at New Orleans, Jim Corbett took the wind out of John L. Sullivan's sails in 21 rounds.

There is one stock question in particular which bobs up ever and anon. What are the seven wonders of the world? For purposes of reference, the number of wonders always has been, is now and ever shall be, apparently exactly seven. The almanacs never show ten or a dozen. The problem of selection is staggering in these days when the wonders of the world actually total much nearer 7,000 than they do seven.

Nevertheless, it is interesting to compare the compiled lists of the seven wonders of the ancient, the medieval and the modern worlds. They are an index to the history of the human intellect. Any compilation suffices. These will do.

Seven wonders of the ancient world—Pyramids of Egypt, Pharos of Egypt, Hanging Gardens of Babylon, Temple of Diana at Ephesus, Statue of Jupiter by Phidias, mausoleum of Artemisia at Halicarnassus, Colossus of Rhodes.

Seven wonders of the middle ages—Coliseum of Rome, catacombs of Alexandria, great wall of China, Stonehenge, leaning tower of Pisa, porcelain tower of Nanking, China; mosque of St. Sophia at Constantinople.

Seven wonders of the modern world—Woolworth building, Eiffel tower, etc.? No. Inanimate marvels are of the past. Here comes the lightning change. The third act is a hummer.

The compiler of the wonders does not even attempt to cover the whole modern period. He tabulates from the nineteenth and twentieth centuries only. And he calls his last list the seven new wonders of the world. Here they are:

Wireless, telephone, airplane, radium, antiseptic and antitoxin, spectrum analysis, X-rays.

What next? The great wonder of all the ages is the human mind. Its evolution is the history of the world.

Degree of Tire Doctor.

One of the tire manufacturing concerns of Akron, O., has established a school of tire repairs and the institution is so popular that it has been found necessary to increase its capacity, which is about to be doubled. This institution has averaged 35 graduates a month since last August. Every graduate of the school receives a diploma, certifying that he has finished the regular course of instruction, consisting of lectures, text-book study and practical repair work. The student is first made thoroughly acquainted with the details of tire construction before he is actually trained in repair work. Repair stocks, vulcanizing machines and methods, common sources of tire trouble, etc., are among the subjects taken up. The chief instructor and his assistants in the school are thoroughly experienced tire men from both factory and retail business standpoints.

Air Photography.

No camera has probably been developed so rapidly as the curious apparatus used in photographing from aloft. The ordinary cameras are of little use for work at high altitudes. The height plays curious tricks upon the camera. A picture taken from a height of a few hundred feet may be hazy, while if the photographer rises several thousand feet the earth may appear perfectly distinct. The latest forms of aero cameras are often six feet in length and must be equipped with many delicate adjustments unknown to ordinary apparatus. It is held by means of handles at the sides and rested (for it is very heavy) on the edge of the airplane.—Boys' Life.

He Needs a Ducking.

A New York shoe dealer with a perverted sense of humor stands to lose a lot of friends because of the "clever" advertising idea he has placed in effect. In his show-window he has placed a number of shoes, every one different from the other. Signs announcing such prices as $4, $5 and $6 are attached to each shoe. The joker lies in the fact that when the would-be customer goes in and asks to see a certain shoe he is informed that the price is "that much for one shoe."—Exchange.

Nature Kind to Snake.

A queer African species of snake, which lives on eggs, has a tooth-like spike projecting downward from its backbone, just behind the head, which is tipped with enamel. When it swallows an egg the latter passes down the gullet until it encounters the spike, which breaks the shell. Thus no part of the fluid contents is lost, as would be the case if the snake were obliged to bite the egg with its mouth-fangs.

AT CAMDEN EAST.

The Late Hilton Wilson, aged Nine, Who Died of Pneumonia. Camden East, May 10.—Born in the Hotel Dieu hospital, Kingston, on May 3rd, to Mr. and Mrs. Bert Yeomans, a son. James Skinner has taken possession of his new store recently purchased from R. J. Oster.

A variety shower was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hinch on Friday evening, May 5th, in the Parish hall. Many beautiful presents and a substantial sum of money were received. A pleasant evening was spent in dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowe and son, George, motored to Ottawa on Saturday to visit Miss Marjorie Rowe, returning home on Monday.

The funeral of Hilton Wilson, aged nine, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Wilson, Bicknell's Corners, was held in the Methodist church on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. He had been ill about a month with pneumonia despite all that loving hands could do he passed away on Thursday morning. He was a bright lad and loved by all. He leaves to mourn his loss his parents, two sisters and one brother. The bearers were six of his school chums, Bert Scott, Clarence Macdonald, Cecil Simmons, Clarence Blakely, Milton Dunn and C. Bradshaw. Interment took place in St. Luke's cemetery.

Mrs. Strain, Kingston, visited her sister, Mrs. Fred Addis, for a day. Mr. and Mrs. Reeves Comfort have moved in half of Mrs. W. J. Perry's residence. Bert Yeomans attended his father's funeral, on Monday. The Mission Circle held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Percy Scott, Bicknell's Corners, on Monday evening. Mrs. Fred Addis visited her mother in Kingston on Monday. Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Young were visitors in the village this week. Mr. Young was pastor on Newburgh Methodist circuit thirty-five years ago.

PRESENTATION AT ELGIN

To Mr. and Mrs. S. Pennock Who Are Going West.

Elgin, May 9.—Mr. and Mrs. S. Pennock were tendered a farewell in the parlors of the Methodist church, where their many friends gathered. Mrs. Pennock was presented with a life membership to the Ladies' Auxiliary and Mr. Pennock with a purse of money. They carry the good wishes of a host of friends to their western homes.

The remains of Miss Jennie Young, Fortar, were conveyed here and placed in the family plot in the cemetery. Miss Nolan spent a day at her home here last week owing to the death and funeral of Miss Ellen Bass, who died at Crosby. Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Cheney have moved to their house for the summer months.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. George Murphy, a daughter. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Warren, a son. Mrs. Libbie Bass, Newboro, is spending a few days with relatives. Miss C. Woole, Hillier, is a guest of her sister, Mrs. L. Halladay.

The Misses DeLong purchased a registered Jersey from Col. Stewart's farm on the Rideau. F. Preston, Newboro, was a guest of his daughter, Mrs. J. Pinkerton. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Myers, Portland, were guests at G. Howard's. S. Pennock was confined to his home by illness last week.

The many friends of Mrs. W. Charland are pleased to know she is around again. Work is to commence on the provincial highway this week. Mrs. (Rev.) Teskey, children and maid, Kempville, are guests at J. R. Dargavel's. Stephen Pennock is still confined to his home by illness.

This world, I believe, would be better to live in if common sense were more common and snobbery as scarce as hen's teeth.

The man who will deliberately lie to you and me would steal from us were it not for the law. Thanks to the law.

Don't forever be telling your neighbor your trials, troubles and tribulations. He may have enough of his own.
