What the Press Agents Say About Coming Attractions

At the Allen To-day. Fear as a subject for comedy has been made the central idea of a delightful photoplay by the Goldwyn company in the pictured version of John Frederick's story, "His Back Against the Wall."

At The Strand. Much credit is due the management of the Strand theatre in bringing to Kingston such a big screen production as Mary Pickford in Little Lord Fauntleroy.

"It is the policy of the Paramount Theatre company to give its patrons the very best to be had in screen production. Little Lord Fauntleroy is the biggest picture ever presented in Kingston at popular prices.

DOGS ASSIST LONDON POLICE

Well-Trained Animals Have Been Found of Great Help in Apprehension of Criminals.

The present wave of crime has given an impetus in Great Britain to the training of dogs for police purposes. Police dogs were used to assist in the breaking of laws to justice before the word police was ever known.

The training of these dogs calls for a large amount of patience, intelligence and resource, far removed from the old idea of dog breaking, which was usually to beat the animal mercilessly into the observance of a few set rules.

It is step by step in his daily lessons that a dog gradually becomes a tracker of criminals by their scent, pursues escaping prisoners, discovers missing people, or finds suspected ones in concealment.

He learns fearlessly to seize and pull down any aggressor, whether his master or himself be attacked, and to do it with the least possible damage, ceasing at once when the enemy gives in.

The popular conception of the police dog is a wild, savage brute, which probably accounts for the antipathy to his use displayed in some quarters, and it is well that the public should realize that the properly trained dog is at all times perfectly under control.

ONE THING THEY OVERLOOKED

British Military Authorities Forgot the Humble Printer in Desire to Preserve War Secrets.

The marquis of Hartington tells an episode from the war days when the spy scare was at its height, according to a writer in the Halifax Chronicle.

Certain confidential information that the military authorities wanted to keep absolutely secret was sent round by trusted couriers in locked dispatch boxes, with elaborate precautions of signing and countersigning and checking every stage.

After a time it was found that these weighty documents, which were circulated in printed form, were being set up by ordinary printers, who were under no obligation to preserve secrecy, and, in fact, took no precautions whatever against leakage.

Getting Ready for Channel Tunnel. The gigantic task of moving back the railway station platforms throughout the Great Northern system to allow the passage of continental trains when the channel tunnel is opened has been begun, the Daily Mail is informed.

The work of making the stations to fit the trains will take several years, said an official. "It means that every platform in both freight and passenger stations will have to be altered."

The distance the platforms are being set back is two inches. This will allow a good clearance for the continental sleeping cars, and also the large freight cars.

When He Died, He Died All Over. "Doggone!" said Jesse Eechbach, chief examiner for the state board of accounts, as he read one of the letters in his mail. "Here is one."

The letter told of a man who had paid his dog tax to the township assessor and the ungrateful cur had gone and died. The dog died before the assessor had turned in his books to the county assessor and the inquirer wished to know whether there was any way to get back the dog tax.

Desert Land and Desert Sea. A portion of the journey between Sydney, the New South Wales capital, and Broken Hill, the mining heart of Australia, lies over waterless hot country. Lieut. Sydney Pickles, who has shown the feasibility of an air service between the two cities, saw no landmark as he crossed the barren stretch and so had to use his compass.

Got Rid of Pesticiferous Fly. Health authorities at Syracuse, N. Y., declare that this probably is the first "flyless town" in the world. Despite the unusually hot weather of last June and July, there were scarcely any more flies in the town than most places have in January.

MORVICH'S DERBY

Block's Champion Captures Kentucky Classic Before Tremendous Crowd.

At Louisville, Kentucky, before an immense crowd, Morvich fulfilled the expectations of Benjamin Block, owner, by romping home two lengths ahead of the rest of the field in the Kentucky Derby here today.

Nature furnished a perfect setting for the race, with the air clear and cool. Showers soaked the tracks yesterday but the moisture was quickly absorbed and the going was fast. The purse was $50,000 and it is estimated that the great Morvich cleared $45,625 on the classic.

At the finish, Fred Burlew, trainer, was on the course almost as soon as Morvich crossed the line, and tenderly patted the speedster. He had been worried early in the morning when the track looked heavy for fear that some injury might befall his pet.

The popular conception of the police dog is a wild, savage brute, which probably accounts for the antipathy to his use displayed in some quarters, and it is well that the public should realize that the properly trained dog is at all times perfectly under control.

INTERCOUNTY LEAGUE

Printers' Baseball Team. The Printers had a good work-out on Saturday afternoon on the cricket field, when about twenty men turned out for two hours practice. Two teams were picked out, and a corking seven innings resulted in a 13-to-12 score, with the team captained by Weaver at the losing end.

Weaver's team put across four runs in the opening innings, to nil for their opponents, but this lead was cut down in the fifth. Some good hitting was in evidence, though several of the men were away off; and the pitching was good for a preliminary practice. The batteries were McIntyre and Lennox for the winners; and Weaver, Lipsett and Clark for the losers.

LONDON TIMES PRAISES U. S. AMBASSADOR

It Says That Anglo-American Relations Have Steadily Improved.

London, May 15.—The Times prints a special article reviewing the first year's work of George Harvey as American ambassador at the court of St. James, paying tribute to his efforts to smooth away existing misunderstandings between England and America, and recalling his many public speeches, in which, says the article, "he bent his energies to dispel illusions, even at the risk of hurting feelings which could not be ignored and had to be reckoned with in dealing with the American people."

"Thanks, largely, to his untiring efforts," the article continues, "Anglo-American relations have steadily improved, until at the present moment there is no question in dispute or argument between the two countries. Ambassador Harvey has acted throughout as the interpreter of President Harding, the success of whose policy he has been greatly instrumental in assuring."

RAINS EXTINGUISHED FIRES.

That Were Making Progress Near Gull Lake in Ardoch Region.

Ardoch, May 11.—A number from this locality attended the auction sale of farm implements and stock held at J. D. Fike's, Plevna, last Saturday. The recent rains have been very beneficial extinguishing forest fires, which were making rapid progress near Gull Lake. George Hamilton and Zeb Mitchell have been appointed as fire rangers for that district. William Derue motored from Campbellford with his new McLaughlin car to spend over Sunday at his home here. F. Armstrong and T. Fox, Marysville, made a flying trip through here last week. After spending the past week at M. Schwager's, Miss Ella Oledgett has again returned to L. McDonald's. Mrs. William Young and little Kenneth have returned to their home in Tamworth after enjoying a few months' visit with her mother, Mrs. A. Gray. J. Derue's are improving the appearance of their new dwelling by building a cement verandah. We are pleased to learn that Mrs. J. H. Smith is recovering from her recent illness. J. B. Myers and J. Derue's visited last Sunday at M. Webers', and J. Gunstingers at A. Jeanneret's.

Mrs. Stillman Not To Marry McCormick Boy

Foughkeepsie, N. Y., May 15.—John E. Mack, guardian ad litem for young Guy Stillman, rested from his labors at pruning his apple trees long enough to squash reports that Mrs. Anne U. Stillman would marry Fowler McCormick shortly after a decree is granted in the divorce action brought against her by her husband. "The rumor is foolish on the face of it," said Mr. Mack, "for it is not Mrs. Stillman who is seeking the decree. Moreover, she says she would not marry the best man living."
