BAND VISITS SYDENHAM

Kingston Salvationists Hold a Service—The Late James Foxtan.

Sydenham, May 15.—A meeting arranged by the Kingston branch of the Salvation Army, in connection with their self-denial week, was held in Wesley hall on Friday evening. About fifteen members of the band were present, and rendered several fine selections. Adjutant Condie opened the meeting, and invited Rev. G. Stafford to take the chair. An address on the practical work of the Salvation Army was given by Mrs. (Adjutant) Condie. Before the close a collection was taken, and it is also expected that a canvass of the village will be made to secure more subscriptions. Adjutant Condie expressed his appreciation to Mrs. H. W. Guesse and Mrs. G. W. McNaughton for their efforts in helping him to arrange the meeting.

Funeral services for the late James Foxtan were held on Friday afternoon at his late residence and in St. Paul's Anglican church. A lingering illness during the past few months resulted in his death on Wednesday evening. For a number of years he had acted as justice of the peace in Sydenham. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife, one brother, Thomas, of Sydenham, and four sisters, Mrs. Charles Sickling, Mrs. Arnold Foxtan, and the Misses Foxtan, all of Sydenham. One son, Dixon, of Toronto, and three daughters also survive. Rev. T. Leech conducted the service on Friday afternoon.

John R. Rutledge was in Kingston last Wednesday to receive the B.A. degree from Queen's University at their annual convocation.

Arle Marks and company of players gave an entertainment in Wesley hall on Saturday night.

Mrs. D. Oederirk is undergoing treatment in the Kingston General Hospital.

A Mother's Day programme was presented in the Methodist Sunday school on Sunday afternoon. Special musical numbers were rendered, and talks were given on all that the word "mother" means. There were 178 present.

Seeding operations on the part of the farmers have gone on apace during the past week. Fine weather has favored the work and it is now nearing completion.

Work on the swamp road at Sparfordon is proceeding, and much improvement is being made. The new tractor, which was recently purchased by the township council, is being used.

Adam Davy has moved the frame part of John McConnell's garage into a position behind his house, and will use it as a blacksmith shop.

Mr. Rowley, formerly of Westport, has moved to Sydenham, and is working with the railway section men.

CURRIE HALL TO BE FORMALLY OPENED

Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Militia, Will Officiate Next Wednesday.

The Sir Arthur Currie Hall at the Royal Military College is to be formally opened next Wednesday afternoon at 5.30 p.m., by the Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Militia and Defence, and it is hoped that General Sir Arthur Currie will himself be present at the ceremony. In view of the dinner of the 21st Battalion on the same evening, which both the minister and Gen. Currie will attend, it has been deemed advisable to make the ceremony at the Royal Military College as short as possible, and a programme, lasting about half-an-hour has consequently been arranged, this including addresses by the militia head and the late corps commander.

It is hoped that all friends of the college will be present for the event, not only because of the esteem with which the Royal Military College is held by Kingstonsians, but to witness the completed hall, which has been designed by Mr. Fuller of the public works department, decorated under a color scheme devised by Prof. P. E. Nobbs, R.C.A., a distinguished architect of Montreal, and to see the artistic work of Major D. S. Forbes, M.C., and Mrs. Forbes, the major having painted the badges of Canadian Corps units on the panels surrounding the gallery, and Mrs. Forbes, having embroidered the lambrequin which adorns the stage besides giving much assistance to her husband in his work.

Whilst the seating accommodation at the Sir Arthur Currie Hall is limited, and invitations have been despatched solely to those who represent organizations, societies, and kindred formations, the college authorities hope that all friends of the college will accept the invitation extended through the press for them to be present. Every effort will be made to provide seats for those wishing to attend.
