Answered Letters.

"Molly": My peas are not anywhere near ripe, but I thought I would write you in advance and ask you to publish directions for canning them.

Answer: Next week I am going to publish an article on Canning Asparagus by the Intermittent Cold Pack Method, but the week after that I will publish one on canning peas—the peas, too, by the Intermittent Cold Pack, for that is the safest way to can asparagus, peas, beans and corn. Thank you for writing me well in advance. I wish my other readers would do the same. If anyone will, for instance, want to know how to dry peaches or apples in the late Summer or Fall—it is not too early to tell me their wants now! Then I can prepare for such articles in advance.

Two Girls: "Thank you for your printed-up article on 'Six Good Home-Made Candies.' Can you tell me why the chocolate creams sometimes look dull and spotted and too dry after dipping?"

Answer: You have not followed the directions closely enough. The dipping chocolate was too hot, which resulted in speckled and gray-looking candies; on the other hand, if it is too cold, the candies will be streaked. But practice in this, as in everything else, will result in success. Try again, timing yourself by the clock, so that if you succeed once you can heat the chocolate the same number of minutes the next time in the same utensil, on the same part of the range. Saucepans of various thicknesses require various lengths of time to become heated through—and all those little points count in making chocolate creams.

M.M.K.: "Please tell me the proper way to fold a dinner napkin. Is it in three and then in half and then in half again? Or is it in four and then in halves? Also where is the initial placed?"

Answer: The correct size for dinner napkins is 24 inches square (22 and 27 inch-square napkins are also used but 24 inches is the regulation size). Napkins are customarily marked just in from one corner, although some persons prefer to make them so that the initial or monogram is in the exact centre of the square when the napkin is folded. The first way of folding, which you described, is right—three times longwise, then fold this long tube exactly in half, and once more exactly in half. (Do not turn back the corner of the top thickness of the upper square—as so many women do, incorrectly).

Mrs. R. W.: "What is the matter with my Calla Lily? It has suddenly started to die, and I do not know the cause."

Answer: On April 25th I answered another reader's letter concerning the care of a Calla Lily. Did you see the paper on that date? If you did not, go to the Circulation Department and either buy a back copy of the paper for April 25th, or look through the back files of the paper, I believe your lily needs manure to enrich the soil, and this subject was taken up on that date.

Answer to L.M.L.: I am sorry that I have not the steak recipe you asked for. But I shall keep your request on file and publish such a recipe if I come across one.

Tomorrow—Some Facts About Canning That You May Not Know.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

sin a week earlier than usual this year.

The Country Club will be an attractive place this year, the tennis courts are in good order, and the Saturday afternoon teas and the frequent dinner dances are looked forward to with pleasure.

That parents and teachers should explain to the children who spend the holiday afternoon in the neighboring woods that the wild flowers should not be pulled up by the roots and that some flowers should be left in every place for seed. Many of our beautiful Canadian wild flowers, common enough some years ago, are now considered rarities, largely through the thoughtlessness of children who are not taught the simple truths about the beauties of the world in which they live.

That the coward who poisons dogs, who have far more bravery and intelligence than he has, is a road in the land again. There is no more reason why a man should have his dog destroyed than his horse or any other piece of property on which he pays taxes.

What the Editor Hears

That the housewives of Kingston are rejoicing in the thought of lower prices and will no doubt take care to look after their own interest in these matters. At present, the same brand of goods is sold at different prices in the Kingston stores; the careful housekeeper will want in the advertisements and make inquiry to see that she gets full value for her husband's hardly earned dollar.

That the ideal to be kept before the people of Kingston for the care and uplift of the unfortunate citizens should be a centre that would be the development of the present welfare station to meet all the needs of those in distress. One centre would do away with overlapping and all need for the system of espionage that mars the distribution of relief would be at an end.

DYE OLD DRESS OR DRAPERY IN DIAMOND DYES

Buy "Diamond Dyes" and follow the simple directions in every package. Don't wonder whether you can dye or tint successfully, because perfect home dyeing is guaranteed with Diamond Dyes even if you have never dyed before. Worn, faded dresses, skirts, waists, coats, sweaters, stockings, draperies, hangings, everything, become like new again. Just tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak, spot, fade or run.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 31.

This should prove to be a very active and progressive day, according to the reading of the planets' daily motions. With the Sun trine Jupiter by mutual aspect, and with both Sol and Jupiter under splendid Lunar transit, there seems nothing to prevent a brilliant and vigorous march forward to the goal of the ambitions. All manner of success, prosperity and growth are to be forecast from this sidereal rule. There should be an increase of business as well as fortune, and also promotion or recognition for those who undeniably deserve it.

Those whose birthday it is have the forecast of a year of splendid progress with advancement and increase of fortune, as well as pleasure and prosperity in all of life's contacts. A child born on this day should be ambitious, popular and generous, and should rise in life through its splendid opportunities and brilliant abilities.

If you have trouble with your feet come to Abernethy's Shoe Store on Thursday or Friday and consult Dr. Scholl's foot expert who can give you great relief.

Shredded Wheat

is the whole wheat cooked in steam, drawn into filmy, porous shreds and baked in coal ovens—a process that retains all the body-building elements in the whole wheat grain and makes them digestible in the human stomach. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits make a good nourishing meal. Saves fuel, saves strength, saves time.

Shredded Wheat is delicious with hot or cold milk, sliced bananas, prunes or canned fruits. Trix is the Shredded Wheat wafer and is eaten with butter, cheese or marmalade.

BUSINESS GIRLS.

People hold to the opinion that business girls are too hard and business-like to make good wives or to love children; but often they are vastly mistaken. In some cases a business girl may have no leaning towards a home life of her own, and prefer to continue with her business career; but if these girls do marry, they usually prove as successful as wives as they have been as business girls. The business girl, apart from being equipped with tact, has a much wider knowledge of the world and broader views. Again, she knows more of men's moods.

Besides this, the business girl is used to routine work, and should not object to it in the home. True, housework is more trivial, more monotonous, but it is routine work. Having always kept well in touch with the world's doings, the ex-business girl continues to do so, through the medium of the newspaper of her office friends. On one point she is firm—she won't "drop" the girl friends she had when single; and, in return, she encourages her husband to bring home a few of his men friends, when he feels so inclined. On account of her wider experience, she is usually a good intellectual companion for her husband, who frequently prefers her society to that of other men.

The married business girl will not grieve if her man appears to place business first. She remembers the keen longing for promotion which she herself felt in her office days; moreover, she is able to offer helpful advice upon any problem which puzzles him.

On the other hand, the home girl is apt to pout, and to speak impatiently of the "ally old office" as a

Rinso

Soap Granules absolutely different

RINSO is the most wonderful cleanser for the family wash that you ever took into your home. It will wash clothes perfectly clean week after week just by soaking overnight and rinsing in the morning—but Rinso is absolutely different from all other soaps or washing powders, therefore it is necessary to use it according to directions. Do not put the Rinso right from the package into the tub, but make the famous Rinso solution first. It's very easy and the results are simply wonderful.

IF YOU USE A WASHING MACHINE

Soak your clothes in the Rinso suds as usual; in the morning add more Rinso solution and work the machine. Then rinse and dry—you will have a clean sweet snow white wash.
