THE GREAT NEED FOR CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

Pointed Out by Rev. A. F. Brown in Sermon to the Foresters.

There was a large attendance at the evening service at Calvary Congregational church on Sunday evening, the Independent, or rather the Companion Order of Foresters, attending worship in a body. The pastor, Rev. A. F. Brown, preached the sermon, taking as his text, 1st Peter, 2nd chap. 7th verse: "Honor all men, love the Brotherhood, fear God and honor the King."

In a most eloquent and forceful address, Rev. Mr. Brown brought before the minds of his audience, the fundamental principles pertaining to the wonderful work of this splendid organization, dealing at great length on the Christian fellowship among the members, which at the present time numbers 176,000, and also the great amount of good that is being done in caring for the widows and orphans of deceased members, spending large sums of money in trying to alleviate the pain and suffering of their fellow man. At the present time, there are 10,000 orphans being cared for and also two free sanitoriums for those of a tubercular nature. And since the formation of this order, no less than $72,000,000 has been paid in benefits, etc., and today, the order is in a most flourishing condition, being 100 per cent. sound.

Mr. Brown also impressed upon his hearers the great need of Christian fellowship in the world today. If we can bring gladness to the hearts of those who may be less fortunate than we, let us praise Almighty God, from whom our strength is given, and He will amply reward us at the end of the journey.

At the offering, the choir rendered, "Come Ye Disconsolate," the duet was taken by Miss Margaret LeSage and Miss Beatrice Brown in excellent voice.
