

NEWS AND VIEWS FOR WOMEN READERS

Life's Social Side

Editor of Women's Page, Telephone 229; Private phone 857w.

The soft grey sky of Saturday afternoon and the vivid green of the links, brought the thought of home to the minds of Scotch and English people at the opening of the new club house of the Catewaqui Golf and Country Club, and to everyone the beautiful view from the verandah appealed, the land falling to the water, where, beyond the elms that fringe the shores, is the shoreless lake. The club house is one of which Kingston may be justly proud and here the earlier guests were received by Mrs. H. W. Richardson and Mrs. Arthur Cunningham and sat in comfortable chairs on the verandah or wandered through the club house to admire the woodwork of the cosy room where a huge fireplace with its mantel gay with silver cups and above it a huge elk's head, shot by T. S. Scott, and loaded by him, was rich in promise of happy hours on autumn evenings. Refreshments were served by some of the members and towers in big jars gave a homelike touch. Driving, putting, etc., was much enjoyed by the crowds of spectators and all the time the music of an orchestra stationed in the upper flat floated softly on the air. In the evening there was a dance and bridge in the cosy bridge rooms. Crowds of visitors in town for the ball were among the guests, a few of whom were Col. and Mrs. A. N. Lyster, Mrs. Rae, Quebec, the Dean of Ontario, Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Anglin, Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Wilson, Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Clark, Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Gardner, Rev. W. E. and Mrs. Kidd, Mrs. J. C. eral and Mrs. Emsley for the ball. Mrs. E. E. Nelson, Calgary, Alta., who is in town for the Royal Military College ball and on a visit to her son, Cadet Nelson, is with Mrs. Booth, William street. Dr. C. A. Szeager, Provost of Trinity College, Toronto, is the guest of the Dean of Ontario.

Dr. R. W. McQuay, Portage la Prairie, spent the week-end with his cousin, Mrs. A. G. Fleit, and Mr. Fleit, Colborn street. Mayor Church, Toronto, is a visitor in town for the ball. Dr. A. B. Haffner, of Belleville, spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. P. A. Haffner, Johnson street. Ex-cadets C. E. Prince and B. W. Belson, are in town from London, Ont., for the ball tonight. Ex-cadet George Kirkpatrick is in town for the week-end.

Amongst the out of town visitors in Kingston today to attend the Royal Military College ball tonight are a party of six from Ottawa, Miss Nan Beach, Miss Jean Plaunt, Mr. and Mrs. Hadley Fraser, Geoffrey Birkett, and Keith Davidson. They motored from the Capital, on Sunday to Echo Lodge, opposite Alexandria Bay, and came on to Kingston today. They will remain here and in Alexandria Bay vicinity for two or three days before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Penwarden, Collingwood street, motored to Ottawa, Saturday, and were the guests of Mrs. Smith, Laurier avenue, an aunt of Mrs. Penwarden's, bringing back with them Miss Reta Penwarden, who has been taking the normal school course of instruction.

Captain and Mrs. Anthony A. Rocheforte, 83 Division street, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Katherine Cecilia, to Matthew J. Danaher, Montreal, the marriage to take place the latter part of June.

TORONTO GIRL WRITES OF AUDIENCE WITH POPE
An audience with the new Pope Pius the eleventh, was vividly described in a recent letter by Miss Kathleen Sullivan, the eighteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Sullivan of Toronto, who during a recent visit in Rome a short time ago with her young brother Darcy, a school friend of his and her sister Natalie, went alone to the Vatican and were given this honor. She says: "Mother intended going with us but was ill. We had letters to the head of the Irish college and he had no difficulty in getting the necessary tickets for us. Natalie and I went out and got our black veils, which we wore with dark dresses and with the boys in their evening clothes, feeling very self-conscious, we drove through the streets of Rome and through endless courtyards until we

A Chat on Jelly-Making.
Jelly-making time has come again! The housekeeper who loves her work, will welcome it. "Pectin" is the essential jelly-making substance found in fruits. A combination of pectin, fruit juices, acid and sugar, in the correct proportions, is necessary in order to make a good jelly. It has been found that pectin is more abundant in under-ripe fruit than in that which is fully ripe. The best fruits for jelly-making are apples, currants, gooseberries, grapes and oranges. Some fruits rich in pectin do not contain acid and will not, therefore, make jelly unless acid is added (the quince and guava are examples of this truth).

The fruits that do not contain enough pectin to make jelly by themselves, are cherries, rhubarb, peaches, pineapples, strawberries, and sometimes raspberries. These fruits must have pectin added to them in some way. One good way is to combine them with the juice of one of those fruits which are rich in pectin; and another way, is to make your own prepared pectin from the thick, white under-skin or oranges, and add this to the non-pectin fruits.

To Make Prepared Pectin From Orange Skin: Only the thick, white part of the skin lies under the yellow rind, is used. Shave this off and when you have a pound of it, add three cups of cold water to it and three tablespoons of lemon juice, and let these boil together for ten minutes. Then cool, add three more cups of cold water, reheat to boiling point, and let stand overnight in a cool place. In the morning reheat once more to boiling point, strain, and use (or bottle and keep on ice till needed).

arrived at the Papal entrance. There we were simply overcome with the magnificence of the Swiss guard and our knees shook as we ascended the grand staircase, and were ushered through many large rooms to the audience chamber, which was hung with priceless tapestry. We had not much time to look, as a Major Domo, in plum color brocade, kept arranging and rearranging us. "At last the Pope arrived, dressed all in white. He is quite corpulent, with keen and intellectual face. One could almost see his clever brain working. We knelt as he passed, and nearly everyone kissed his ring. Over fifty were in the audience and he spoke to a few. He seemed interested in us and asked us where we came from.

"We afterwards visited the Cistine chapel, the library, the picture gallery, and were spellbound in front of the Raphaels and Michel Angelos. We then went on to the Coliseum, the Forum, the Pantheon, and took a drive down the Appian way. "We visited St. Peter's and loved St. Paul's and the English cemetery where Keats and Shelley's hearts are buried." Toronto Star.

What the Editor Hears

That the newest waistcoats are merely a panel belted from the back and it can be made at home of unbleached muslin, which has come into high fashion through the Siletic source for the cross stitch is as simple as a sampler or coarse linen is substituted and crepe de chine with a ribbon design is effective.

That this year's regatta at the Yacht Club promises to be a very fine event.

That the Chautauquus will give the people in the smaller towns and villages about, a chance to hear good music. Most of the concert companies come in the winter, when it is impossible to motor to Kingston from any distance, so now that the roads are in good condition, no doubt the wise ones will take advantage of this splendid opportunity of hearing the really first class artists with the chautauqua.

That the 29th annual meeting of the Woman's National Council is being held in Fort William next week.

That the farmers' wives say the weather is most favorable for their fields and gardens and there is every promise of a bumper crop in the neighborhood of Kingston.

That the state of uncertainty as to whether one is going to have a new dress for the big ball, or whether one will wear an old one, while one's new frock it at the dressmaker's, is a bit trying.

Answer to Enquiry
The proper way to hold a fork when eating meat and vegetables, is in the left hand, concave side down, the knife with which the meat is cut, in the right hand. The use of the fork alone in this case is an American one, borrowed we hear from

To Use Home-Prepared Pectin: As fruits of various degrees of ripeness contain different amounts of pectin, no definite rules can be laid down regarding how much of this home-prepared pectin to add to the so-called "non-pectin" fruit juices. But you can find out how much to add, by experimenting with a very little jelly before attempting to make the jelly. For instance, add two teaspoons of sugar and one teaspoon of prepared pectin to two teaspoons of fruit-juice and boil this mixture (not more than 20 minutes) to see if it will "jell." If it will not, experiment again—this time, adding equal amounts of pectin, fruit juice and sugar.

If you do not care to go to the trouble of making this home-prepared pectin from orange skins, you can buy it bottled from grocery stores. There are various firms that are now getting out a pure brand of prepared pectin to use with the non-pectin fruit-juices for jelly making. (If your local grocer does not carry the bottled pectin, send me a stamped and self-addressed envelope and I will gladly send you the address of a firm that will sell you it by mail. Such firms also send their recipes telling you how to use their particular brand of pectin with the various fruit juices.)

Tomorrow—Answered Letters.
All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question—The Editor.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE
By Genevieve Kemble
TUESDAY, JUNE 20.
Contending forces bear rule on this day according to the sidereal movements of important planets. While business and employment are under friendly sway, with promise of activity and progress in these directions, yet other affairs may be under affliction. This malign influence may be felt in the household, bringing sickness, bereavement or inharmonious conditions, although the saving grace of Saturn sextile Venus may ennoble the feelings and chasten the emotions. Those whose birthday it is have the forecast of a conflicting year with business under favorable auspices, but with other affairs possibly causing anxiety. A child born on this day will be clever, and talented and may rise to a good position in life, but may be careless and imprudent, and not happy in its domestic affiliations, unless carefully trained. The classified advertisements are valuable summer and winter. Twenty-six women are holding elective offices in New Mexico and seventy in Ohio. He will never get to heaven that desires to go thither alone.

NOTHING BUT THE BEST
When you are buying general commodities such as groceries, dry goods, etc., you always make sure of the best. Do you overlook this when you buy your milk? Perhaps you don't. If you do, read further; if you don't stop right here. Milk is one of the greatest commodities of any household—it is a product that can be handled in a very unsanitary way. Price's Dairy has what is known as the Pasteurized and Clarified system. This system insures the milk consumer that he is buying the best in every respect. Call us up, and give us a trial to-day.
