AN INSURANCE JUDGMENT

By Judge Lavell Against London Life Company and William Walters.

Judge Lavell has given judgment in the first division court, county of Frontenac, in the case of Burch vs. The London Life Insurance Company and William Walters heard in this court some time ago, a claim for commission on an insurance policy. The judgment follows:

"The insurance contract which forms the basis of part of the claim in this section was made between Henry and the insurance company and not between Henry and Walters, the latter not acting in his personal but his representative capacity. Burch relies upon his written agreement with the company under which he is entitled to receive a commission on policies issued from applications secured by him.

"In this case I have not the slightest doubt that he did secure the application even though it was not signed and delivered in his presence, but in the presence of the superintendent of company who knew Burch had procured Henry's promise to sign it, and who undertook to see that Burch would receive the commission.

"The qualification as to the payment of premium cannot be invoked. No cash at all was paid the superintendent at the time the policy was issued. Henry was a creditor of the company and allowed his account to be applied on the premium to that extent and gave notes to the company for the balance, and yet the company, knowing this, paid the commission to Walters thus recognizing that actual receipt of the premium by the agent was not a sine qua non as long as the premium was in fact paid—as it was in this instance to Walters.

"I find that Burch, as agent of the company, did everything to entitle him to the remuneration fixed by his agreement. If, in any detail, he failed—and he did not in any essential part—it was because of the action of the company through its representative and it cannot escape liability by now repudiating or attempting to avoid the responsibility of its acts in this connection. The evidence makes it clear that wide powers were given their superintendent in practice and policy. All matters affecting the local office and sub-agents were dealt with wholly through that officer and if by his misconduct of the affairs of the company so entrusted to him loss is occasioned to any person—and no less to a sub-agent—the company must be held responsible.

"And Walters is responsible not merely as an agent of the company. He is personally liable for having wrongfully procured and retained for his own use monies which he not only knew belonged to the plaintiff but which he had undertaken to pay over to him in due course and as a trust action may be properly brought by the trust funds.

"There will be judgment against both defendants for the amount claimed for commission, being $59.12 and costs, including the costs of the first trial.

"As to the damages claimed for wrongfully detaining the letter from the company to the plaintiff I find that Walters improperly prevented delivery of it and is liable in damages for so doing. The evidence on this point is meagre and unsatisfactory. I cannot with any exactness or assurance fix the amount but upon the whole I think $10 is a fair and reasonable sum and I direct judgment for that amount against the defendant Walters alone in addition to the sum above awarded."

Difference in Cabinet

Winnipeg, June 21—A report is published in the Manitoba Free Press that a division exists in the Morris cabinet as to the date of the provincial elections. It is said that Hon. Edward Brown, provincial treasurer, is desirous of delaying the polling date, the reason assigned being that he "feels there is a gradual growth of public opinion in rural districts in favor of the Liberal candidates." Other members of the cabinet, it is said, want the election held about mid-July.

MARRIED FIVE TIMES IN SIXTY-NINE YEARS

Chicago Man Neglects to Go Through Divorce Court Meantime.

Chicago, June 21—Sixty-nine years old and married to five women without the formality of divorce, Thomas Worland smiled with relief when Judge McKimley sent him to the penitentiary on a sentence of from one to five years. Worland cheered up perceptibly when sentence was passed, probably because two of his wives advanced to the bar of justice arm in arm.

Worland was first sent to the penitentiary in 1917 on a charge of bigamy. He admits he "has a way" with women and they cannot resist him, some even going to the extreme of kidnapping him.

After getting out he married Olive Heath and Tillie Carlington, both of Chicago, in rapid succession. It was his fourth wife who tripped him this time.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

Epidemic Breaks Out Worse Than Ever in Britain

London, June 21—Foot and mouth disease has again broken out among animals in this country, this being the worst outbreak yet reported to the board of agriculture. The peak has occurred in the Derbyshire area, where over 100 animals, have been certified affected by the disease. Slaughtering has begun with a view to preventing the spread of the infection, and urgent restrictions have been issued to the same end. A fresh outbreak among pigs is reported from Birmingham.

In March last, when it was thought the disease was about stamped out, the board of agriculture estimated that the cost of overcoming the foot and mouth disease outbreak was about £1,000,000.
