THE POULTRY ASSOCIATION

Hears Report as to Provincial Proposal Regarding Payment of Judges.

At the final meeting of the Kingston Poultry Association before the summer's vacation, held Thursday evening, J. C. Munzie, the representative of the association at the poultry conference at Guelph June 5th, 6th and 7th gave an excellent report of the business conducted at the meeting and also of the instructive addresses which were given. The association adjourned until September 14th when the plans and preparations for the annual fall exhibition will be discussed.

Mr. Munzie, in his report, stated that there were 52 delegates present and the conference consisted of committee work and reports and addresses on subjects of the greatest interest to the poultry men, Prof. W. R. Graham and W. A. Brown being two of the principal speakers. The principal subject for discussion was the budget for the ensuing year, the money granted by the government being approximately $1200 short of the suggested requirements. The budget called for $4,500 for grants to local associations; $2571, for judges paid by the department; for lecturers, and $1000 for the Guelph conference. This made a total of $8771, which was $1271 short of the grant.

The principal resolution to overcome the deficit was that as about 60 per cent. of the local associations require one judge only, the judge being paid by the local association and the department of agriculture on an equal basis, it was decided that all associations requiring more than one judge should meet the expense of the extra judge or judges and in doing so a saving of $1,400 will be made and thus overcome the deficit.

WAS ACTIVE IN CHURCH LIFE

Late Mrs. Elgin S. Parrott Beloved By Large Circle.

The late Mrs. Elgin S. Parrott was born in Camden township on April 23rd, 1854. Her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Burgess, were of Irish descent. When Nellie was five years old they removed to Ernestown township, where she lived until married on April 2nd, 1882, to her now sorrowing husband, Rev. S. T. Bartlett, then of Grace church, Napanee, performed the marriage ceremony, and since then they had lived on the old Albert Parrott homestead, about two miles west of Odessa. Mrs. Parrott, when quite young, was committed to God in a revival meeting held in Wilton, and was a member of the Methodist church. She loved the place of worship, and because an active worker in every phase of church life. She was very fond of music, and enjoyed the three years ago, symptoms of cancer appeared, and shortly after an operation was performed, which was thought to be a success. At short intervals, however, two more operations were found necessary, after which the patient seemed free from the disease. But last winter her failing health indicated that more trouble had developed, and she was removed to the hospital for further treatment, and she grew so weak that her friends were summoned to her bedside, fearing the end was near, but with wonderful recuperative power, she rallied and returned to her home and seemed much better in health, but in a few months, she again grew worse and gradually failed, until on June 9th, 1922, she passed away. She bore her suffering with great patience and cheerfulness, and a courage seldom exceeded. Deceased had an intelligent grasp of the truth of the gospel and a fine reliance on the merits of Jesus Christ as her personal Saviour.

Besides her husband and little daughter, Ruth, she leaves to mourn her loss, two sisters, Mrs. P. H. Roberts, of Sydenham, and Mrs. Fred Woods, of Rutland, Vermont, both of whom spent much time in loving attendance; also two brothers, R. W. of Odessa, and M. C., of Napanee.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Geo. Nickle, of Odessa, and her pastor, Rev. R. C. Tall, of Morven, and all that was mortal was interred in the fourth concession cemetery.
