Belleville, July 15.—W. C. Mikel, K.C., of Belleville, in an address at the Orange celebration at Marmora, made a strong appeal to members of all religious denominations to drop bickerings and discord over religious differences and endeavor to bring about a "better understanding." The greatest need of the day is a "better understanding." A better understanding, not only between the East and the West, between Capital and Labor, between the manufacturer and the farmer, between the producer and the consumer, between the English-speaking and French-speaking Canadians, but more especially the adherents of all Christian denominations. If there was a "better understanding" between the members of all Christian denominations, he said, the Christian spirit would not only develop strength throughout Christendom, but Christianity would spread with leaps and bounds in the foreign missionary fields.

GROUP RULE ONCE AGAIN

No Party Will Control in Manitoba.

Premier Norris Makes Plea At Winnipeg For Responsible Government.

Winnipeg, July 15.—Manitoba is again on the verge of electing a group legislature. With three minor parties, Liberals, Farmers and Conservatives, endeavoring to gain control of the legislature, and remote possibility of any of them doing so, the last days of a three months' election campaign finds political seers already speculating as to the possibilities of a fusion between the Liberals and Farmers, following the elections.

An accurate forecast as to the outcome of the elections in Manitoba Tuesday is somewhat hazardous owing to the many three-cornered fights and the appearance of new parties into the field. Indications, however, are the United Farmers of Manitoba and the Winnipeg wing of the organization (the Progressives), will return the largest group in the legislature, with the Liberal party second in strength, Conservatives third in voting power and labor a close fourth.

AN EXAMPLE FOR MANKIND

Canada-U.S. Boundary Without Fort.

Canadian Premier's Proposal Has Marked Effect on New York Press.

New York, July 15.—The object of Premier King's visit to Washington and the sentiments expressed by him have impressed the New York press to an extraordinary degree.

The World prints a big cartoon showing the figure of Peace walking "the boundary with a fort" and entitled "An Example for the World." Editorially the World says: "In suggesting to our State Department that the Rush-Bagot agreement between the United States and Canada may be in need of extension and modernization, Premier King of the Dominion Government, used words which appeal to the justice pride of citizens on both sides of the long boundary that separates the two countries. Said he: 'At the recent conference on disarmament the single aspect of international relations attracted more attention than the unfortified frontier of from three to four thousand miles between the United States and Canada. Over and over again reference was made to the so-called Rush-Bagot agreement of 1817, under which armament on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence River was restricted to four vessels of 100 tons burden, each carrying not more than one eighteen pounder.'

"This agreement, he further said, was dwelt upon by old world delegates not only as an economic fact tempting to altruism; as maintaining friendship and good-will as an object lesson to the continents of Europe and Asia of new-world method in the maintenance of international peace."

Shining For Century.

"In these days of forebodings that follow the material waste and waned passions of the war it is good to know that such an example does exist; that it has been shining for more than a century; that it has prevailed over many discouraging circumstances; and that what has been possible here should be possible anywhere.
"Political questions have arisen and again threaten the peace of the border and have been solved by methods of adjudication such as the League of Nations was formed to install. The everlasting fisheries question; the main boundary; fifty-fourty-or-eight; the Fenian raids; the 'under-ground railroad' for slaves escaping to Canada; the Alaska boundary—history is full of provocations to conflict which happily were left unused.
"The material world has been so changed by invention within 105 years that the Rush-Bagot agreement activities which a century ago were never dreamed of—telegraphy, the wireless, even the railroad have come since then. But as the matter stands, the Canadian boundary-line is the world's finest example of common sense applied to exercising the nightmare menace of war."

ARABS IN UGLY MOOD.

Aggressive Action Against British Mandate Started.
Cairo, July 15.—Despatches from different parts of Palestine today describe the inauguration of aggressive Arab action against the British mandate in its present form. It is stated that a general strike throughout Palestine by the Arabs began this morning, and that sympathetic messages were received from Transjordan and Syria. Competent observers state that the Arabs are well-armed with resentment and that they are in an ugly temper. The authorities will have to exercise the greatest tact pending a reaction.
It is thought that, due to the unrest, the Arab delegation will return to London.

BRITISH DETERMINED TO BUILD AERIAL FORCE

Admiralty Wants to Keep Up With United States Sea Department.

London, July 15.—The British admiralty is demanding that the British navy be permitted to organize an aviation force as a result of the United States navy's ambitious programme, according to the naval correspondent of The London Evening News, who pointed out that America intends to spend $10,000,000 in building 213 machines, including a super-Zeppelin.

He states that the British air force is to be converted soon into a civilian airship station for services between London and Berlin, in which will be used the latest type of German dirigibles, including two Parsevals under construction as a part of reparations.

The British airships R-36 and R-37 when completed may be taken over by a French syndicate operating a London, Paris and Morocco service. The Evening News expert indicates that the British government is dissatisfied with the English type of dirigible, preferring the German models. He points out that "when the Parsevals were originally offered to the air council, they rejected them, preferring the money so they could build their own aircraft. It is now realized that these machines mean that the cost of all experiments will be defrayed by Germany, giving us two first-class ships of the latest type to build up our service."

OPPOSE STEAMSHIP SELLING ANY LIQUOR

Wets and Drys Clash in Hearing Before Attorney-General Daugherty.

Washington, July 15.—"Wets" and "drys" clashed before Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty on the issue of whether intoxicating liquors should continue to be sold on American ships operating on the high seas. Prohibitionists urged Mr. Daugherty to rule that the Prohibition Act to the Constitution of the United States and under the Volstead Act, it is just as illegal to sell intoxicating liquor on American ships as it is upon American soil.

Council for the Steamship Companies Contended that it was Plainly meant that the prohibition apply only to "the territory" and "the territorial limits" of the United States, and that it was not the intention of the law-making body that it should apply on the high seas outside the territorial waters of this country.

A rumor was circulated that a representative of the United States Shipping Board would appear at the last minute to sustain the action of that body in permitting the sale of intoxicants in government-operated vessels, but instead the board simply stood on the ruling of its solicitor that such sale is legal.

Silk Topper Doomed.

London, July 15.—King George's snub to the top hat by wearing a bowler—derby—the Goodwood races is the death-knell of the high hat in England, mourns the sartorial expert of an evening newspaper.
"The change in fashion from the top hat to the bowler and the soft velvet hats," says the paper.
"Smart gentlemen now go to the races wearing bowlers, but bank clerks still wear shiny silk hats."

FIRE LIMIT IS EXTENDED

To Make Central Area of City Safer.

Closing of Thomas Street North End Blocked By Residents Protest.

At a special meeting on Friday evening, the city council, on recommendation of the fire chief and the city engineer, and the endorsement of the fire and light committee, passed a by-law extending the limits of fire area A to include all that part of the city lying within the following streets: Commencing at the water's edge at Barrie street, along Barrie to Wellington, to Place D'Armes, to Ontario to the water's edge. This was done in view of the Finkle Hivery fire which wiped out the centre of the block between Clarence and Johnson streets and endangered many properties blocks away. It was proposed to also extend fire limit C, but this matter was laid over until a future meeting.

Hereafter in the above district no wooden building of any kind or for any purpose or use shall be erected, but only such buildings as have their main wall of iron, brick, stone, or concrete and their roofing of incombustible material or shingles laid in hair mortar not less than one quarter inch in thickness or laid on fire proofing felt, or laid on at least one thickness of asbestos paper weighing not less than fourteen pounds per one hundred square feet.

Ald. Graham moved that the yacht club premises be exempt from the above requirement, but his motion was defeated, as the majority of the members did not think the yacht club should be given special privileges.

Thomas Street Petition.

A petition was received from residents of Thomas street protesting against the closing of that street at its north end. The claim was made that the value of the property and the convenience of the residents would be adversely affected. By-laws had been prepared for the closing of Thomas street at Cowdy and for the deal in the meantime, because if the petition is properly signed, the council will be unable to consummate the proposed exchange of property.

Leases School Building.

Ald. Peters, chairman of the industries committee, announced that he had closed an agreement with the Coko Cola company for the lease of the old Cataract public school building on Rideau street at an annual rental of $400 and for a sixty-day option to purchase the building for $5,500. The company wished to start manufacturing their product here. He had received a cheque for $100 for the first quarter's rent to show that the company meant business. On motion of Alds. Peters and Sargent, the council ratified the agreement made, and Kingston now has another industry starting up.

Want King Street Paved.

A petition was read from property owners on King street between William and Barrie asking that this roadway be paved this year.
Ald. Peters said that the petition should be granted if possible, but as council had made an agreement with the railway company that the company would not be called upon to expend any more money for three years in laying heavier rails for paving purposes, he did not see how the council could do anything at present. However, he thought the Board of Works should consider the matter and see if anything could be done.

Ald. Graham referred to the existing agreement, and doubted if it was possible to pave King street in view of it.

Ald. Bawden intimated that he had discussed the matter with the superintendent of the railway company, and it was possible to go ahead with the paving provided certain concessions were granted the company. The company was willing to discuss the matter with the Board of Works and the finance committee. A change of fares was one of the things that the company would likely ask for.
The mayor referred the matter to the Board of Works, and Ald. Graham said that he would call a meeting for next Wednesday afternoon.

Band Concerts.

Ald. Bawden asked if council could vote a sum of money for band concerts in the parks this summer. The people were asking for them.
