Opportunity and Canadian Boys

The Shawbridge Boys' Farm and Training School at Shawbridge, Ont. Left—Mr. E. W. Beatty, snapped with one of the Shawbridge boys. Right—Good fishing helps make happy days for the boys.

In the heart of the Laurentians surrounded by lakes and mountains that compose that far-famed summer resort of Eastern Canada is the Shawbridge Boys' Farm and Training School, an institution that is doing a great and much needed work. Its several fine buildings are set in surroundings that make for the upbuilding of physical and moral stamina, and upwards of two hundred lads of varying ages are there being given a new and better chance to make good in this country of opportunity for young men.

The farm is supported partly by a grant from the Quebec Provincial Government, and partly by public subscription. Its president is E. W. Beatty, President of the C. P. R., and at a recent gathering there, Mr. Beatty gave an address in which he said many things that might profitably be read by all Canadian boys.

He said in part:

"When I was a very young boy at school I did not believe in study. I worked a little, but I played a lot, and I did many of the things I should not do, and left undone many of those I should. When I was thirteen years of age and had finished one year's course in a prominent school in Toronto, my parents received a report which without bragging, I think I may say was the worst report ever written about a boy. I was in trouble from the beginning of the year. I had spent most of my time after hours in school, doing the things I should have done during the class period. When this report was received it was accompanied by a note that in the opinion of the principal of that school it would get along fairly well if I did not return.

"I do not remember ever having felt so humiliated about anything as I was when I read that report. I felt that I had proved to the college and to the other pupils my inability to do as well as others and take advantage of the educational opportunities which were offered me. I was sent to another school where my record was not known, for which I was very thankful. It there fell into the hands of a teacher who was one of the best teachers for boys I had ever met though he had a very violent temper. He encouraged me when he was not abusing me. If anyone showed inattention he was likely to be hit on the head with a ruler, but the first words of encouragement I ever received came from that man. He told me that some day if I worked hard I might amount to something, which was news to me—I had never heard it before. In any event he gave me an inspiration to study, and so I worked, and the more I worked the more I realized how valuable it was, and as the years went by my appreciation of this fact increased until I am now satisfied that no one ever succeeded who did not work and that fortuitous events or accidents do not make for permanent success. None of you here will ever regret the time you have spent in mastering things which appear hard, or curing yourselves of habits which they have inherited or which you have acquired. The older you grow the more you will realize the fact that men even in this young country are fighting for a living, that competition is keen and men more numerous than good positions. You will be told that your object in life is to be a success, and that is true, because without ambition to a success no man goes very far. But success does not necessarily mean the amassing of money or the obtaining of high position. A man may be a success in the truest sense of the term if he has moderate means, is charitable and helpful to others, and above all retains his own self-respect, which inspires the respect of others, quite regardless whether he is the possessor of money or without it.

"You will find, too, that the things which you admire in others are the things which you would like to be yourself. You will see men judged by others in accordance with three or four simple standards. If he possesses those qualities and those standards he will be admired and respected by his fellows. If he does not, he will fail.

"To attain success the most essential thing is good health. A sound body usually means a sound mind, and a boy who is careful of his health and makes himself strong and vigorous has distinct advantage over those who are physically weak. While it is not impossible, it is extremely difficult for anyone to work against the handicap of ill health. And so I say to you in all seriousness, work hard and play hard, enjoy games and spend your time as much as possible in the open. Build yourselves up, because you may have a long life, and every ounce of strength you store up in your youth adds to your vitality when you are older.

"If that is a physical necessity to a man's success, there are certain moral qualities without which he cannot obtain permanent advancement. The first is honesty. No man in this, or any other country who is not honest has attained permanent success. He may appear to do so. He may amass money by means which are at least doubtful, but without honesty he cannot gain or retain the respect of his fellow-men, and without that no man can be said to be a success.

The second essential is courage.

Moral courage like physical courage, is of a great advantage to a boy. Moral courage is what enables a man to do right, regardless of what others think or say, who refuses to do wrong no matter what the temptation. Physical courage is that independence and confidence in your own physical abilities which enables a man to fight a bully, even though he is physically his superior, because he will not be put down through fear. Physical courage is very common. It exists to a more or less extent in most Canadian boys. Moral courage is more rare. The third essential is modesty. There is nothing more admirable than the modesty of a boy who at the same time maintains his own self-respect. Coupled with modesty is courtesy, and most modest people are courteous. Most conceited people are not.

The modest boy never forgets to be polite to his elders or to women, and the first thing which an older man or woman recognizes and appreciates about a boy is his attitude of respect to those who are older than he. I cannot tell you how many positions have been won by boys whose manner towards older people has been modest and respectful, or how many lost by those who forgot this essential quality.

I told you that life is a struggle. It is also a race, and if you are in the race you must be equipped so that the competition will be equal. No boy who neglects his studies has the same opportunity afterwards as a boy who does not. He finds himself handicapped in a hundred ways by a lack of knowledge which he should have acquired when the opportunity was offered him. He sees other boys go ahead of him because of this advantage, and he oftentimes is reduced to earning his living by physical work for the simple reason that he has not trained himself to think.

Learn all that you can learn. Follow the instructions of your teachers, because later what they teach you will be found of great advantage, and without it you will feel handicapped, embarrassed, and sometimes ashamed.

There is a word we use to sum up a lot of qualities which we admire in any boy, and that is manliness. Manliness means a boy who is considered courageous, fair, generous, and who respects himself and others. Everyone admires a manly boy. No one admires a boy who is a sneak, who cheats, who does mean, underhand things. We like a boy on a man who stands on his own feet, looks everyone in the eye, who succeeds because he works and because he uses his ability for his own advancement without injuring anyone else."

well, former Presbyterian pastor of this place, visited friends here last week and held a Sunday morning service at Buck Lake. A large number attended and listened to an impressive sermon.
