QUEEN'S SUMMER SCHOOL

Will Close at End of Week—Association to Have Constitution.

At the special meeting of the Queen's summer school association, held in Convocation hall Saturday evening, it was decided that the society should have a written constitution. The subject was one of great importance to the students who since the organization of the school have followed precedent of former years, but now as the school has grown to its present size was thought necessary to have some more definite plan of procedure for the executives to follow. The proposed constitution was considered and several amendments were made. The meeting, which was largely attended, was presided over by C. A. Lapp, the president.

This is the last week for the summer school and soon all the students will have left for their homes to study for the examinations which are held during September.

Miss Dickson, who has been giving the dancing instruction, completed her work last week and the students hope for a similar course next year.

The baseball schedule was completed Saturday. In the men's series the Toronto team have won the series, taking three games. Erie peninsula is next with two wins and the East and West trail in the rear.

It is expected that a baseball game between the professors and the students may be arranged.

The last sing-song of the session was held in convocation hall Sunday evening and was much enjoyed.

HEARD VIA RADIO

Furnished By Canada Radio Stores To British Whig.

Many persons heard their first radio concert on Saturday evening, and the result will probably be more aerials strung up in different parts of the city. Quite a number of broadcasting stations were sending and there was no difficulty in picking up any station. Starting at 7 p.m. Kingston time, CFCA, the station of the Toronto Star, was heard with selections from "San Toy," followed by the baseball scores and news, then a bedtime story for the youngsters. At 8 p.m., the new radio broadcasting station, of the Eastman School of Music was heard very strongly. This is located at Rochester, N.Y. Call WHAM, First, a record was played for tuning and adjusting purposes, then the stock reports, baseball scores, market reports, a little more music and a bedtime story for the kiddies. What child doesn't want a receiving set when they can hear the adventures of Peter Rabbit, Johnny Chuck, Reddy Fox, Farmer Brown's boy and a host of other famous kid stories, characters right from the mouth of the author?

A little later, WJZ, the Westinghouse Station at Newark, N.J., was plainly heard by the listeners with a fine programme of music by the Shadowland Dance Orchestra, Paterson, N.Y., followed at 9.15 p.m. by "Stolen Sweets," a vaudeville turn by Kitty and Fanny Watson, by the courtesy of the Shubert Vaudeville Circuit. Tocha Seidel the famous young violinist also gave a few selections, among them being the favorite "Minuet in G."

When one tired of WJZ, they could turn a knob and hear KDKA, of Pittsburgh, Pa., who also had a very fine programme of music by the Avalon Four, of Charleroi, Pa. The music kept up until 11 p.m. when the Arlington time signals were sent out and many people were seen setting their watches by them.

Sunday receiving was from KDKA, when the services of the First Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, Pa. were transmitted at 8.30 p.m. WJZ also came in with a musical programme by Edna Robinson which was much enjoyed by the listeners. Sunday afternoon, different broadcasting stations were heard, with religious services. The old favourite KDKA was on hand with the Radio Chapel Services at 3 p.m. and WJZ, with the same.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.
Sermon in Zion Church by Rev. E. H. Burgess.

In Zion Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, Rev. Edwin H. Burgess preached the text "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath." This passage has been ignorantly quoted, according to the speaker, and while amusements in their own place are a blessing, the Sabbath was given for a different purpose. It was to be kept "holy," it was a day of rest for the body, that it might be fitted for the duties of the week.

Sunday golf came in for some criticism from the speaker, and this sport was scored on account of the danger of a wedge being entered which would allow other less harmless sports to creep in gradually. The effect on these same children would eventually be the fathers and mothers, lax ideas concerning Sunday would be ingrained in them. Sunday movies and baseball matches, as in the United States, would soon be tolerated here, and then the opening of stores and shops would soon follow. In this way the working man would lose the day set aside for his rest.

"We are all weak," continued the speaker, "and we all need divine grace to resist temptations within and without. The Sabbath helps to keep us in touch with God. If we do not want vice and crime to increase and the standards of business honor to be lowered, if we would cultivate noble manhood and womanhood, we must remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy."

Letters to the Editor

Road at Tichborne.

Tichborne, Aug. 6.—(To the Editor): Will you please allow me space in your valuable paper to reply to a letter written by Mr. Robson of Tichborne, and published in the Whig of Aug. 2nd, in regard to a piece of new road built on Mr. Robson's property. Mr. Robson states that when the road leaves Eagle Creek Hill it was turned to the right. This is not the case. When Mr. Swerbrick built this new piece of road, he did it to strengthen the road as the old road turns to the left, and is so narrow that is very dangerous for teams and cars to travel. He says they drew gravel from his property to build this road. They never got a load of gravel off his place, nor is it even good sand. It looks to me as though Mr. Robson wants something for nothing. The place where this new road was put through is worthless as we had to blast our way through to get a road. It has never even been fenced, as the fencing would cost several times what the land is worth. It looks as though Mr. Robson wants to put a bad story up against Mr. Swerbrick for putting the road there. But Mr. Swerbrick took the men all down and asked them about it, and they all agreed to a man, that that was the best place to build it. I will sign myself as a Tichborne farmer.

John Black Not Whipped.
"Tall Gene I have no made my last putt," said John Black, the golfer, at San Jose, Cal., when a message of sympathy and encouragement from Gene Sarason was read to him. "No by a sight," he added.

Black, who is recovering almost miraculously from what was thought to be a fatal accident recently, is said to be on the sure road to recovery now, and probably will regain all his faculties, his physicians think.
