A GOOD OLD-FASHIONED SING-SONG ENJOYED

Great Crowd Take Part in Kiwanis Event at Queen's Stadium.

"Now, come on. It's dark. Don't be bashful. Let's sing," bowed Jules Brazil, song leader at the great Kiwanis song feast at Queen's stadium on Thursday evening. Every one of the four thousand men women and children in the crowd, which jammed every available inch of the stand, started on "It's a Long Long Way To Tipperary" and it gained in volume as the thoughts turned back to the early days of the war and some kind of a vision of the "Contemptibles" of the first British army marching up to the lines came to every mind. All the old songs which have stood the test of changing moods in music were thrown upon the screen, and before the end of the evening old and young were singing with a spirit. Little Tommy was singing "Annie Rooney" and his mother struggled bravely through "M'selle of Arm-entieres"; grave old gentlemen who used to sing "When You and I Were Young, Maggie" did just as well with "Sweet Peggy O'Neil"; Irishmen wrestled with "A Wee Deoch An' Doris" but their voices shone in the darkness when they sang "My Wild Irish Rose."

It was a wonderful evening. Every heart was lifted up by the sweet balm of beloved songs, every dull care was thrown away for a few hours and every spirit was enriched by the ever-insinuating charm of music. At half past eight the stadium was filled and throngs were still clamoring at the gates for entrance. A screen had been erected some few yards in front of the grand stand and beneath it was stretched a streamer bearing the familiar words, "Kingston Kiwanis." Directly in front of the centre of the stand was a platform decorated with national emblems and upon this Ted Treener's Novelty Five orchestra assisted Mr. Brazil in providing the music for the songs.

"Joshua Come to Town," a moving picture taken with local young people in the leading roles was first thrown upon the screen and the crowd roared out their approval with great shouts of laughter. Many well known personages were included in the "dramatis personae" as well as a number of familiar local scenes.

RADIO AT QUEEN'S.

The University Home-Made Set a Good Receiver.
Toronto, Los Angeles, Cal.; Newark, N.J.; Schenectady, N.Y.; Chicago, Ill.; New York city, and many other places were picked up at the radio station at Queen's University on Thursday evening when a representative of the Whig had the opportunity of listening in to concerts in many parts of the United States. The atmosphere was almost devoid of static disturbances and it is expected from now on there will be fewer interruptions to clear listening. The set at the university is home-made, but is one of the best in the city, having a splendid receiving power. Code messages from as far away as Germany have been heard, although nothing has ever been picked up from the Eiffel Tower in Paris. The dance music played by the best orchestras in the United States came through clearly and it is possible that at the science dance next winter several of the numbers will be danced to radio music.

Dog Tax Must Be Paid; Police Serving Notices

Owners of dogs must pay the tax of fifty cents. It was stated on Friday morning, that there are still a large number of Kingston people who have not yet paid this tax. The matter has been given over to the police, and they are serving notices on the owners to pay up, so if you receive a yellow slip one of these days, you will know that you have not paid for your tag.

A PRESENTATION IS MADE TO DR. W. T. MACCLEMMENT

Director of the Queen's Summer School, by the Graduating Class.

A happy event took place in the red room in the new arts building at Queen's Thursday afternoon, when on the eve of the closing of the summer school, at a social gathering of the members of the graduating class, Dr. W. T. MacClement, the director of the school, was presented with a handsome illuminated address and a travelling bag as a mark of the esteem in which he is held by the students.

The gathering included the students who have spent four years at the school and expect to graduate this fall, and number about fifty. J. A. Partridge, Toronto, was chairman of the gathering, and with a number of others, including C. R. Duprau, Ottawa; Rev. A. W. Drysdale, Westport, and D. D. Brown, Toronto, spoke of the students' appreciation of Dr. MacClement's interest in them and the summer school. They recounted in glowing terms the effort of the director to keep the school alive in its weaker days and now, and the manner in which Dr. MacClement is counselor, companion and friend to the students individually. Dr. MacClement is known to the students as the "Father of the Summer School."

Expressing their appreciation of his kindly interest in a more tangible form, G. R. Mikel, Ottawa, read an illuminated address, which was prepared by the Roman Catholic nuns in attendance and is a real work of art. The address set forth the sentiments of the students in the recipient's regard. Accompanying the address was a handsome club bag which was presented by Miss Willoughby, The Mother Superior of Notre Dame Convent was among those present.

Better Late Than Never; Raft for Use of Swimmers

At last, when the season is nearing an end, the raft for the use of those patronizing the Richardson bathing house at Macdonald park, has been placed in position. A big crowd was in the water on Thursday, and while they had a great time on the raft, it was the general opinion that the powers-that-be had been pretty slow in taking action. The raft did good service last year, and surprise was expressed over the fact that so much time had been wasted this season before it was put in the water.
