FOUR PEOPLE WERE SAVED WHEN DINGHY WAS UPSET

Thrilling Rescue Was Made Near Mackenzie Island on Sunday Morning.

Had a "movie" man been down near Mackenzie Island, on the St. Lawrence river, about 11 o'clock, on Sunday morning, he would have been able to have secured a real thriller, when a dinghy upset, and three young ladies and a young man, were dumped in the water, and a thrilling rescue made by some of the people summering in that vicinity.

The moral to this story is, "don't sit on the rope of a dinghy." One of the young ladies, who was enjoying a sail in this particular dinghy did so, with the result that the boat was upset. With ideal weather, and every member of the party in fine spirits, the little craft pulled away for what had every indication of being a pleasant trip, but it came very near having a very sad climax. And as already stated, all because one of the young ladies, in a moment of forgetfulness, sat on one of the ropes. While the young lady was thus seated, a stiff breeze came up, and the master of the boat tried to right the craft, but alas! the rope would not respond to his endeavor, due to the fact that the young lady was sitting on it and before any one in the party could realize what had happened, all four had been dumped out into the water.

A call was given for help, and it was as if a life saving crew had been in readiness for such a call, for in less than it takes to tell the story, a fleet of a half dozen or more skiffs were on the scene, and had rescued the party. The rescue party was made up of people summering in the locality.

"All's well that ends well," says an old saw, but the members of the party will have a good reason to remember the close call they had for many a day. The affair caused quite a sensation around Mackenzie Island and at Eastview Park, where all the people concerned, are well known.

RAIDS MADE ON THREE ALEXANDRIA BAY HOTELS

Bar-tenders at Crossmon, Thousand Island House and Rathskeller Under Arrest.

Posing as polo players from Buffalo, three members of Parson's Flying Squadron, of New York city, worked themselves into the confidence of the bartenders at the Crossmon House, Thousand Island House and Rathskeller, Alexandria Bay, and as a result the bartenders at each of the summer resort hotels were placed under arrest charged with violation of the Volstead Act, for the alleged sale of intoxicating liquors.

According to William McKay, head of the three-man squad, William H. Warburton, proprietor of the Crossmon House and the Thousand Island House, is being sought on a charge of violating the Volstead Act for possessing intoxicating liquors and also for maintaining a nuisance. The federal agents declared that they would place Warburton under arrest on sight. The three bartenders were apprehended upon an open charge.

John P. Stock, aged forty-eight years, of 410 State street, Watertown, was taken into custody behind the bar at the Rathskeller, where he was acting as bartender. Stock is also lessee of the place, the agents say. Michael Pror, aged forty-eight, of New York city, was arrested behind the bar at the Crossmon House, while Thomas McLean, who gives his address as Alexandria Bay and New York city, was apprehended behind the Thousand Island House bar.

IN MIDST OF THRESHING.

The Crop of Yielding in Great Abundance.

The farmers in the district are now in the midst of threshing, and the threshers state that the crop is an extremely abundant one. In most of the localities the yield is good, sixty bushels of oats per acre being a fair average. It will be some time before all the crop is threshed.

The feature of the threshing of late years has been the change from steam to coal oil and gasoline engine power. Most of the threshers are using gasoline motors to run their machines. This releases a man and a team which, for the steam machines, had to draw water for the boiler.

Robbed by Masked Man.
 Brockville, Aug. 14.—Awakened at a late hour by the sound of his front door being forced, Owen McGovern, a farmer living alone near Oxford station, was confronted by a masked man, carrying a revolver and flashlight, who demanded his money. This request complied with, McGovern was ordered to get under his bed and remain quiet. McGovern places his loss at $300.

Corns Go

Just say Blue-jay to your druggist

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in a colorless clear liquid (one drop does it!) and in extra thin plasters. The action is the same.

WAS READER OF WHIG FOR OVER SIXTY YEARS

Oliver Bozell Passed Away Quite Suddenly at Auburn, N.Y.

News has been received in the city of the death which took place two weeks ago in Auburn, N.Y., of a former Kingstonian, in the person of Oliver Bozell, who was a reader of the Whig for over sixty years.

Deceased, who was eighty-five years of age, passed away rather suddenly. He had been enjoying good health and his death caused sincere regret among a wide circle of friends. The late Mr. Bozell was a tailor by trade, and learned his trade in this city with a Mr. Richardson, who kept a shop on Brock street, in the sixties.

Deceased is survived by his wife and three daughters, Ida, Katherine and Martha, all of Auburn. He was an uncle of John Watts, 157 Stuart street, this city, and Miss Annie Watts, New York. Interment took place at Auburn.

Sunday broadcasting included KDKA, Pittsburgh, at 2.45, "The Children's Bible Story—Stumbling Blocks"; at 3 p.m., Radio Chapel conducted at the Westinghouse station by Rev. Johnston Calhoun, pastor Second United Presbyterian church, and at 7.30, the open air services from the Wilkinsburg Confederation of Churches, Wilkinsburg, Pa.

REV. MR. RICE'S PLEA

For Deeper Reading and Thinking by the People.

Rev. E. LeRoy Rice completed his two Sundays of supply in Sydenham Street Methodist church for the combined congregations of that church and Chalmers on Sunday. In the evening, he made appeals for deeper reading and thinking, claiming that many of the people of the present age were reading and thinking shallow things. He stated that while he thought the editor of a paper a prophet of God in many cases, yet he thought too many let the newspapers do their thinking. These people he would advise to read some good literature to stir their thoughts.

The musical part of the services was pleasing. In the morning a quartette of Misses Woodman and Pollard and Dr. H. Angrove and J. Alexander sang "Soft Floating on the Air," and Miss Dora Amey rendered the solo, "Jesus My Lord." In the evening, under the leadership of Miss Shaw, the organist, the choir rendered the anthem, "Sun of My Soul," and Rev. G. A. Sisco, Cata-raqui, sang the solo, "Plains of Peace."

On Thursday the death occurred at Charleston Lake of Mrs. Laura Killenbeck. She was born at Greenbush eighty-six years ago and for thirty years had resided at Charleston Lake. She was a daughter of the late John Tyrone, of Greenbush.

The Charleston Lake Association held its third annual picnic on Wednesday at Bortha Island, the summer home of Mrs. M. A. Johnston, Athens. It was an ideal day for the event and a splendid time was spent by all.
