AMERICAN CERAMISTS GREATLY IMPRESSED

With Feldspar Deposits Near Verona—Banquet in Kingston.

Fifty members of the American Ceramic Society who have been visiting the mineral deposits in Quebec and Ontario, Thursday inspected the wonderful deposits in the vicinity of Verona where the Richardson feldspar mines are situated. The members of the society were met on their arrival by special train from Ottawa by members of the local city council, industries committee, business interests and other activities interested in the promotion of the development of the northern part of the county. The members of the party were able to examine carefully not only the feldspar deposits which constitute ninety per cent. of the available supply in Canada but also the splendid facilities of approach to the mines which have been constructed by the Ontario government in co-operation with the Canadian Pacific railway. The members of the expedition were very favorably impressed by the wealth of mineral deposits and as most of them are actively engaged in the manufacturing of ceramic products they were much interested in the availability of the products. Indeed, some of them announced their intention of remaining in the city a few days longer in order to examine more completely the feldspar resources of the county.

After a careful investigation of the properties many members of the party went in swimming and as a result it was nearly nine o'clock before the train reached the city. Hon. Beniah Bowman, minister of lands and forests, as well as F. W. Gibson, deputy minister of mines, arrived by automobile somewhat earlier and in conversation with the Whig expressed their complete satisfaction not only with the properties but with the communication which had been established for the transportation of the feldspar ore.

Owing to the lateness of the hour of arrival the dinner around the city which had been contemplated had to be eliminated and the members were driven directly to the Frontenac Club where a sumptuous and delicious dinner had been prepared. The ceramists were the guests of the city at the banquet and Mayor Corbett performed efficiently the duties of toastmaster. His worship welcomed the delegation to the city and trusted that their short stay had been both interesting and profitable.

The toast to the King was heartily drunk and was followed by brief remarks from other gentlemen upon the various toasts. In proposing the toast to the American Ceramic Society, W. F. Nickle, K.C., M.P.P., pointed out that Kingston had done its share in forwarding the development of science through the contributions of Queen's University and of Royal Military College. Men had graduated from these institutions fully equipped to promote the scientific development of the natural resources and were doing much to bring the astounding mineral wealth of the province to the notice of purchasers in other countries. He welcomed the members of the society as brothers and stated that antagonism could never arise between United States and Canada because we had learned that arbitration was the only sure means of solution for our differences and the war had brought us together as comrades in attaining a common end.

In seconding the toast, F. W. Gibson, deputy minister of mines, declared that Canadians had watched with interest and even with envy the growth of the ceramic industry in the United States. However, every effort had been made to keep in line with American developments in Canada and the government was well satisfied with the advances that had been made.

In responding to the toast G. F. H. Riddell, president of the American Ceramic Society, stated only about eight per cent. of the members were represented but on behalf of the whole association he thanked the city for the hospitality extended. He was immensely pleased with Kingston and hoped that the members of the society would again have occasion to visit it and have a longer opportunity to look around.

W. F. Beecher proposed the toast to the province of Ontario and declared that the ceramists were well satisfied with the opportunities which had been given them to study the geological formations in various parts of the province and that splendid impressions of its possibilities were being taken away.

Hon. Beniah Bowman, minister of lands and forests, insisted that Ontario was the banner province of the dominion, rich in minerals, lands and timber and other natural resources. He was glad to welcome the Americans within its boundaries and hoped that they would be able to invest capital and declared that the government was anxious to see that they made reasonable profits.

R. F. Segsworth, Toronto, pointed out that the government and the railways had co-operated in permitting the profitable working of the mines at Verona by providing marketing facilities. In this way the excessive costs under which American operators were laboring had been eliminated and the feldspar industry in Ontario was rapidly forging to the front. He declared in no uncertain terms that Kingston was one of the best places for the shipping of feldspar and made public his thanks to the city council for its assistance in developing the industry here.

J. C. Hostetter in proposing the toast to the city of Kingston stated that the company which he represented was anxious to establish a Canadian branch and that he would present the claims of Kingston. He also expressed his pleasure at meeting his former companion in the geological branch at Washington, Dr. Norman L. Bowen.

In responding to the toast Elmer Davis pointed out the many advantages that the city was prepared to give to new industries and also pointed out the beauties of Kingston and its amenities for the employees of industrial firms. Major Almey, representing the Canadian Pacific railway, was called upon for a few words and stated that he hoped that the members of the society on the trip would be able to examine the great productive regions of the west. He also declared that it had been a pleasure for the officials of the railway to look after the needs of the delegates. Everett Townsend, manager of the local tile company, also made a few remarks in which he stressed the advantages that Kingston could offer to new companies.

After the singing of the British and American national anthems the party adjourned to the city hall where they had the opportunity to examine the memorial windows under the direction of Hugh C. Nickle, before leaving at midnight on the train.

At the head table at the dinner of the American Ceramic Society at the Frontenac Club on Thursday evening were Elmer Davis, J. H. Purdy, secretary of the society, Principal R. Bruce Taylor, W. F. Nickle, K.C., M.P.P., W. T. Gibson, deputy minister of mines, Toronto, Mayor S. S. Corbett, Hon. Beniah Bowman, minister of lands and forests, G. F. H. Riddell, president of the society, Major-Gen. Sir Archibald C. Macdonell, Major Ommeney, A. M. Rankin, M.P.P., Col. Felix S. S. Johnson, American Consul, and Aid. W. P. Peters, chairman of the industries committee.

HEARD VIA RADIO.

Furnished by Canada Radio Stores to Daily Whig.

A wonderful evening was the verdict of a score or more people last evening who heard their first radio concert, and it certainly was. Commencing at 7 p.m., the Toronto Star station CPCA, was heard very strongly with a very good programme and at the same time, by tuning the dial on the receiving set, WGY, the General Electric station at Schenectady, N.Y., could be heard very plainly. At 7.30 WGY shut off till 8.40 p.m., and during the interval, several other stations were tuned in, amongst them being WBZ, the Westinghouse station at Springfield, Mass. This station was heard just as loud and at times much louder than WGY and had an exceedingly fine programme of music. The Uncle Wiggly Bedtime Story, address, market and weather reports and baseball scores, were but a few of the many interesting things received.

At 10 p.m. WGY with their fine regular Thursday evening's concert was clearly heard. It might be said here that all these stations were heard both on the receiving telephone speaker and on the Magnavox Loud Speaker and the many persons present heard everything that went on at the different stations. The Schenectady concert included the following: "Fox Tots," "Ray of Sunshine," "By the Sapphire Sea," bass solo "In the Garden of My Heart," waltz "Song of Love" and many others. This evening there will be two programmes by this station, one at 9.45 and closing at 10.30 and the second special late concert commencing at 11.30 and continuing till around 12.45 a.m.

A feature of this concert will be the saxophone solos and radio fans will be wise to hear all that WGY will send out this evening. The late concert will follow along the same lines as the first one.

WJZ was heard early last evening as KDKA, Pittsburg, Pa., both with several good numbers. A new station WGAM, the Western Telegraph and Telephone Co., New York, was also on the air with a fine programme.

It tonight is the same as Thursday night, the radio bug will bite much harder on the Kingstonsians who are interested in being present. Anybody interested is welcome at the Canada Radio Stores; there is no charge. This applies to out-of-town people as well as people of the city.

Want to Come to Queen's.

That the professors of England and Scotland wish to come to instruct in Canadian universities is shown by the fact that Queen's medical college when they advertised for a man to take the professorship of sanitary science and preventative medicine have had more than twelve applications. The number of men qualified in this branch would be more or less limited and this makes the number larger than it really looks. Queen's is anxious to get one of the best men possible to teach this work, which has come to be considered one of the most important branches of medical teaching and instruction. The world war impressed the fact that the most important part of medicine was the preventative side. Dr. Miller, pathologist at Queen's, while on a visit to the old country is interviewing the applicants for the position and on his return the new professor to the staff of the school will be appointed.

"The Prince of Wales Durbars," the grand store spectacle at the Canadian National Exhibition, will have approximately 1,200 performers. The scenery will be 800 feet long.

T. Patrick Smith, regulator of traffic for the railways on Ontario street, left Wednesday night, accompanied by Albert Cooper, on a visit to Toronto, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

Some repairs are being made to the street car track at the corner of Union and Ellerbeck streets.

HENS MUST NOT PERCH AROUND ON DOOR STEPS

Police Receive Complaints and Action Will Be Taken in the Matter.

It must be nice to keep hens in the city and have fresh eggs, but it is not so nice for your neighbors if the hens are allowed to stray around the neighborhood, perch on the neighbors' doorsteps and in many other ways make things disagreeable for the people of the neighborhood.

Complaint has been made to the police about a resident of Upper Princess street who keeps hens, and allows the birds to go around just where they please. The birds take a fancy to the surrounding door steps and just make themselves at home, very much to the annoyance of the people living in that locality. The people have stood for it for a long time, and with a view to having the nuisance stopped, this complaint has been lodged with the police, and it has now been announced that there is trouble in store for the owner of the hens if there are any more complaints about the matter.

Citizens who want to keep hens must keep the birds on their own property. They can take this article as a gentle hint that there is sure to be trouble if they allow the birds to stray away and annoy the people of the neighborhood.

CHILDREN PUT ON PLAY.

Entertaining Event at Frontenac Inn, At Wolfe Island.

At the Frontenac Inn, at Wolfe Island, on Saturday evening last, an entertaining event was put on by the children, for their parents and other visitors, when they presented an Indian play. Those who took part were Melville Thompson, Jr., who played the part of the chief; Molly Stein, (Rochester) as Aloha; Lois Billings as Winona; Leon Goldsmith (Rochester) as the French trader.

The play was given under the management of Jean Goldsmith, Rochester, N.Y., who is deserving of much praise for the splendid offering. The various roles were exceptionally well taken and provided a fine treat for all who had the pleasure of witnessing it. The costumes are deserving of special mention. The play was given in three acts showing many interesting scenes, including the Indian camp, at supper time and the trader disposing of his furs and beads.

Receives Another Advance.

Philip Gersdorf, for a number of years cashier in the Grand Opera House here, has received another promotion in the theatrical business. For some time he has been supervisor of the Southern Theatrical Enterprises, Ltd., at Macon, Ga., and he has now received appointment as manager of the Rialto Theatre, one of the largest in Atlanta, Ga. During his stay in Kingston Mr. Gersdorf made many friends who will be delighted to learn of his advances in the theatrical world.

Boosting The Fair.

R. J. Bushell returned home on Thursday from Cobourg, where he attended the horse show, and boosted the Kingston Industrial Fair. On Friday morning he left for Ogdensburg, N.Y., to put in a good word for the local fair. It is expected that quite a large number will come to Kingston from Cobourg for the fair. Mr. Bushell has warm words of praise for the Cobourg horse show.

Morrison Changes Mind.

Toronto Globe. According to R. J. Bushell, a Frontenac U.F.O., Mr. Drury accepted the premiership on condition of advocating a broadening-out policy. Mr. Morrison apparently agreed, and later changed his mind.
