COOL WAVE IN KINGSTON; FIRES IN MANY HOMES

A Sudden Change Follows a Week of Sweltering Heat.

After sizzling in the heat wave for several days, the Weather Man sent along a cool wave on Saturday night and Sunday and while a little cooler weather would have been appreciated, it was altogether too cool for comfort.

As a result of the cold spell, many citizens had to start a fire to keep comfortable, and those who had coal were indeed lucky.

"One day you roast and the next day you freeze" was the way one citizen put it on Monday morning and he hit the nail on the head.

Thursday and Friday the people of Kingston were sweltering in the heat. Everyone was heading for the parks and all the cool spots in their leisure time. Sunday citizens were glad to close all the doors and windows and enjoy a fire. My! but what a difference a few hours make.

The thermometer registered 50 degrees early Sunday morning.

THE VOICE OF THE PULPIT

Dr. R. Bruce Taylor Preaches in Sydenham Street Methodist Church.

At Sydenham street church, Sunday, Dr. R. Bruce Taylor, principal of Queen's University, preached at both services. In the morning from the life and trials of Ezekiel he preached on the text: "Son of Man stand on thy feet and I will speak to Thee." Vital lessons were drawn by the speaker. "Behind the puzzling movements of our times stands the same God," stated the preacher, who impressed the fact that while the form of expression of religion is temporary, some churches having a creed and some having none, yet behind all religion is the God of our fathers. The changes in modern religious life, more particularly following the war, may appear puzzling but the preacher reminded his hearers that God shall be justified.

The attitude in which the message is received is also important added Dr. Taylor, and impressed the value of faith. He further remarked that some now would put an embargo on what learning is doing for the religious thought. This he regretted, as he stated that it was putting obscurity on a pinnacle. He felt that the God who inspired the Word and made possible modern advances in learning would work all out for his glory. In closing he impressed the necessity of Christians "lifting up their lights" and letting the world know how they stand.

During the services of day, besides anthems by the choir, Mrs. Airth, Renfrew, and Dr. Harold Angrove, rendered solos.

Large attendances represented Chalmers and Sydenham street congregations at both services.

At St. Andrew's Church. A strong lesson on the value of repentance was given in the course of a sermon in St. Andrew's church, on Sunday evening, by Rev. Alexander Gordon, in which he sketched the history of Peter and Jesus Christ at the time of the crucifixion. Peter had denied his Master, but he realized the grave sin he had committed, and he immediately repented and was forgiven. No appeal for forgiveness had ever been made in vain.

There was an abiding value in this Bible story for us, remarked the minister. We can be sure that Christ knows us through and through, and reads our hearts to see hidden possibilities. When He forgives us, He trusts, and gives us work to do. There is nothing in this world that brings out the best in man as trust. If boys are placed on their honor, they will do a lot more than if they are not trusted by their elders.

So it was with Jesus and Peter. Sin had been done by Peter, but he knew that all hope was not gone, and that Jesus would forgive him. This was done, and Peter became a stronger and a better man thereby. When we seek God's forgiveness for the mess of our lives, we may be sure that salvation will be allowed us.

Victim of Accident Buried.

The funeral of the late Samuel S. Drysdale, who was victim of an accident at Clayne on Thursday last, took place from the Canadian Pacific Railway station to Cataragui cemetery at 6 p.m. on Saturday under the direction of John Cornelius, undertaker. Rev. T. W. Savary officiated at the grave. The remains were accompanied by Samuel Drysdale, son of the deceased, and his wife.

Ten years ago Sunday General William Booth died in London, Eng. Mr. Swaine, piano tuner, orders received at 100 Clergy street w. Phone 564w.

Benjamin Robinson, of New York, a former resident of Kingston, is visiting in the city, and renewing old acquaintances.

H. B. Wilson, a returned soldier, recently appointed postmaster at sub office No. 1, on Princess street, took over his duties on Monday.

Capt. Fred Reid, who has been confined to his home with a severe illness for several days, was reported to be somewhat better to-day.

R. J. Bushell was in Ogdensburg, N. Y., on Friday, boosting the Kingston Fair, and there is every indication of a good size crowd attending from that place.

Two motorists pleaded guilty to speeding on the provincial highway west of the city and have paid their fines at the court house. One was a Belleville and the other a Madoc man.

Miss Emma Peters, left by boat for Toronto, Saturday to buy fall millinery for Miss E. V. Grease. On her return they will show their numerous patterns, the newest creations in fall and winter millinery.

Princess street residents were entertained on Sunday by three automobile races. Speed limits went to the wind as the motorists tried out the merits of their cars. The residents were anything but pleased with the exhibition.

The steamers Waubic and Brockville carried capacity crowds on their Sunday excursions to Cape Vincent and Alexandria Bay respectively. The weather was slightly cool and light overcoats were found to be comfortable on the trips, for the first time this season.

During the offertory at St. George's cathedral on Sunday evening, Mrs. Garnet Greer sang, "Just as I am," (Hawley), in the sweet mezzo soprano heard all too seldom by the people of Kingston. Mrs. Greer's distinct enunciation and sympathetic interpretation of the composers theme add greatly to the pleasure of her hearers.

Letters to the Editor

A Good Suggestion.

Kingston, Aug. 18.—(To the editor.) Here is a matter that ought to be taken up by the council, the Women's Clubs, the Retail Merchant's Association, or the Kiwanis or Rotary. One of the greatest needs of this city is a public lavatory, especially one for the use of women—shoppers or visitors. There is a large vacant lot at the corner of Bagot and Queen streets, and a piece of this on Bagot street might be purchased and a small but artistic building erected. A small charge could be made or perhaps some enterprising citizen would maintain the building if she received the shoe shine or other privileges. We have just seen $150,000 being granted to the contagious section of the General Hospital, which is quite worthy. Kingston has also been enriched by a bathing pavilion, a stadium, and an arena. Here is something equally worthy of public or private benevolence.

Has A Splendid Instrument.

Ludus Kell, Bear Point, Wolfe Island, has a radio outfit of the finest range. It is the only one on the island and the equipment is of the Armstrong invention and is said to be one of the best manufactured in the United States. Mr. Kell is greatly enjoying the instrument because he is able to catch anything broadcasted on the continent of North America. His friends drop in during the evenings and enjoy the concerts and talks that are heard through his amplifier.

The Late Mrs. M. C. King.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Margaret C. King took place from the residence of her son-in-law, James G. Bews, 230 Colborne street, to Cataragui cemetery on Monday morning under the direction of James Reid, undertaker. Rev. J. W. Stephen officiated, and there was a large attendance of relatives and friends. The casket was lanked with beautiful flowers expressing the affectionate regard in which the deceased was held.
