Rugby Prospects Thought Good

Writing in the Toronto Star, Stan. Raymore says:

With the commencement of the rugby season in sight managers of local teams are beginning their pertod of greatest Worry in their annual hustle for players.

In the senior ranks, however, the situation is somewhat changed from previous years, and in many cases i will be the players who will have to get busy if they want to make sure of a permanent berth. With the Torontos out of the O.R.F.U. series, magnates won't have to wait until the opening game to be certain as to what their line-up will be. The O.R.F.U. apparently is destined to have the biggest and most successful year in its history. The Ontario Union has always, led the way in the intermediate and junior series and with the inclusion of the University of Toronto and Hamilton in the senior group it bids fair to win the popularity which it has so long deserved. The assurance that all their games will be played at Varsity Stadium has also made the path of the union a most rosy one.

There has been some talk of Batstone Wills Meets Dempsey going with the west end club, but last year's captain of the dark and light blue is almost certain to be found alongside Conacher again, giving the Scullers the services of the most formidable pair of halfbacks to be found in Canadian football,

The showing that the University of Toronto squad will make in the O. R. F. U. race is being looked forward to with interest. He is also eligible to start in the Saratoga Cup, one mile and three-quarters, the get-away feature at the local course.

Speaking of his charge and his present condition. Trainer Burlew

"I haven't lost all faith in Morvitch. I still think he is a great race horse. The way he is acting, I would say that he is better than ever. A: east, he shows all of his old-time fire and dash. I want to met Whiskaway again. They say Morvitch can't go a distance. Well, maybe he can't-and then, maybe he can. No man can judge him on his race in the Kentucky Special.
