NEED OF PUBLIC WHARF.

The lack of public wharf facilities the city buildings, to take in martello tower, which it was propos ed to use for freight. That plan well underway, but more pressing things overshadowed it. Now tourist traffic by boat is again coming eack to Kingston. This past summer scores of yachts arrived here each week from the Thousand Islands with their quota of passengers, some privately owned and others carrying small excursion parties. REVIVAL OF LOCAL INDUSTRY. Few news items have been receivwith more satisfaction than the announcement made yesterday that the plant of the Canadian Locomotive Company would re-open on or about Oct. 15th. This important Kingsfon industry has been closed down for the better part of two years, and the news of its resumption of activity was hailed with delight by all classes of citizens. Not ong ago it gave employment to from 1,000 to 1,200 men, and, needless to say, its closing for even a short period was bound to affect the industrial and business life of the community. Now that the chairman of the board is able to announce its re-opening, with orders on hand for the repairing of a large number of locomotives, it means that over 121 former employees will at once be reinstated. Additional men will loubtless be added from time to time, as the occasion warrants, and with the securing of orders for new locomotives-which is apparently only a matter of time-the works should soon again be operating to something approaching full capacity. The effect of this announcement will to a long way toward restoring conidence in the future of Kingston, ment coupled, as it is, with the news that | Q .__ Who is the new High Commis the large elevator, once owned by the M. If we all put our shoulder to the wheel and push tosether, better times must assuredly follow. The re-opening of the locomotive works is a certain indication of the better times shead. The coming winter is not going to be as had as some critics have prophesied.
