Life is just one darned detour after another.

The girl of the period seldom comes to a full stop.

The greatest enemy of law and order is one dead-letter law.

Sophistication is just a slow and painful process of getting fed up.

College: An institution that operates in conjunction with a football team.

To say that virtue is its own reward is to intimate that vice pays a profit.

The difference between statesmanship and politics is that we still have politics.

The artists who draw the fashion pictures draw mostly on their imagination.

The one woman missionary left in Smyrna has a glowing lecture field before her.

A centenarian says to avoid worry; but, then, some would have no employment.

Suspenders are coming back with a rush, says a haberdasher. They hold up the hip pocket.

Most of the things men fight for could be purchased with the money expended in the fight.

We may yet find the portraits of pretty men placed in cigarette packages to encourage sales.

After all, about the only difference between this and earlier civilization is in the speed limit.

An educated man is one who can distinguish between a Greek letter fraternity and a Chinese general.

The more things the customer calls for, the better the merchant is pleased. Until he calls for a blank cheque.

Nearly all the No. 13 collars are sold to men who use that insulting tone of voice when talking on the phone.

Let's see: wasn't Greece the little country that thought it could grow great without any advice from the Allies?

Habit is a great thing, and the retired farmer is abroad at 4 a.m. in order to get an early start waiting for bedtime.

Our own opinion is that Eve had to work her tear glands a little before Adam finally agreed to eat the core.

Still, there might be even more casualties if wives should develop the habit of protecting the honor of their homes.

he more girls there are who do not know how to keep house, the more restaurants there will be to raise their prices.

Correct this sentence: "Just use your own judgment," said the wife from the back seat; "I never like to give advice to the driver."

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

The squirrels and cotton-tail rabbits of the scientific east have challenged the Yakima Indians and their claim to methods of formulating infallible forecasts of the weather.

But—the squirrels and rabbits of the east have not put on their autumn fur, which is interpreted by those who know squirrel and rabbit habits to mean that the beginning of cold fall weather is well in the future.

A DISAPPEARING CRAFT. In these days when conviction for murder is the most uncertain of things, it is not to be wondered at that the business of hangman has so declined that an Iowa preacher found it possible to combine the job with that of preaching.

IN A HURRY. A citizen who is an observer of human nature remarks that it is the "hurry bug" that causes most of the accidents. He thinks it is almost as definite a thing as the bookworm, which makes people unnaturally and insufferably slow.

ALONG LIFE'S DETOUR BY SAM HILL. Poor Girls. Cold winter comes apace. When girls must face the breeze, with little on their backs, and nothing on their knees.

More Important. Efficiency Expert: "I can show you how to make money." Tired Business Man: "I can make money, but what I want is some one to show me how to say it when it is going out faster than it comes in."

THE CZAR'S JEWELS. Capt. Kidd's buried treasure and all the other pirate loot, which have inspired a certain school of romanticism since the freebooters ranged the Spanish Main, seems destined to be forced into a secondary place by some trinkets of great price which have passed from their previous estate into the realm of mystery in the whirl of recent world happenings.

Still, there might be even more casualties if wives should develop the habit of protecting the honor of their homes. he more girls there are who do not know how to keep house, the more restaurants there will be to raise their prices.

jewels, to dispose of to rich Americans. All the searchers found were a few thousand dollars' worth of ordinary diamonds and other gems that some passengers had not declared.

THE NEWSPAPER'S JOB. The city of Vienna, Austria, has been without newspapers for a week and one of the most striking results, according to correspondents, has been the circulation of sensational rumors that have not the slightest foundation in fact.

During the great war there were many illustrations of how stories spread and of the function of the newspapers in stopping the progress of falsehoods. Every editor remembers the yarns about the shooting of spies at training camps.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TO-DAY. ASK WHAT YE WILL.—If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you.—John 15:7.

was in gear. It knocked him down and broke his right leg in two places below the knee.

No Joke. I'd a heap rather see A dog that wags its tail Than have to listen to A wag who tells a tale.

The dog doesn't talk, As it wags its tail, But not so with The wagging male.

We Can't See Them, Either. "Pa," said Clarence. "Be careful, young man, I'm in no humor for foolishness," warned his dad.

Folks, Mit These New Members. Dear Sam: I've been thinking about you and Mary Etta Fox lives on the Old Trace Road, near here.

Daily Sentence Sermon. Never call a man down unless you are able to stand up to him.

News of the Names Club. Lotta Foulks of Independence, Mo., has just been married and we suppose it won't be long before she hears her husband growling about their visit 'em so much.

Ouch! "Hasn't your husband kissed you recently?" asked the Judge. "Oh, yes, he kissed me last night," replied the fair applicant for a divorce.

"I'm, then, what are you complaining about?" the Judge asked. "The ball was dark, and he mistook me for our pretty maid," she snapped.
