QUEEN'S COMMENCE SECRET PRACTICES

Weights of Men in Squad—Five Hundred Additional Seats in Bleachers.

Yesterday afternoon the Queen's rugby squad started on secret practice. The inauguration of this is not so much to insure secrecy as regards the different plays being used by the team as to allow uninterrupted work on the bleachers which will be moved about ten feet closer to the field and another row added, giving accommodation for about five hundred more spectators in preparation for the big crowds which Queen's will draw this season.

At the same time it will be a good thing for the teams to have the Richardson Stadium to themselves and to work hard and quietly without distractions outside comment.

There is joy in the ranks of the scribes also, following the announcement that their stand will be moved from its present awkward quarters to a position in front of the grand stand, where players and officials can readily be reached and no danger threatens because of spectators obstructing the view of the field. The former press box was in such a position that when an excited crowd stood up in the bleachers the scribes were forced to climb to the roof to see the plays. It is understood that one of them, who is no giant, had ordered a periscope for this season.

Thanks to the skill of "Billie" Hughes, the whole squad is rounding into beautiful shape, physically, and George Awwrey will do the rest. Here is how the scales talked while the different members of the brigade marched by and were tested out for weight:

result of first and last attempt at a punching bag, Harding has a few bruises left from lacrosse, but others are all o.k. The players are still satisfying their thirst with apples instead of the city water as "Billie" Hughes does not think it wise to take chances on it yet.

Syracuse Makes Yanks Favorites at 10 to 7

The Yankees are the favorites to win the world's baseball championship in Syracuse betting circles. Odds are being offered. There at 10 to 7 on Huggins' men to turn the tables and take the title flag away from the McGrawites their conquerors of 1921. Syracuse, ordinarily a strong Giant town, evidently has turned to the junior league title-holders because of their marked superiority on the mound and the lack of strength shown in this department by the Giants toward the close of the league campaign. One wager of $1,000 to $700 on the odds as quoted above already has been placed by two well known Syracuse speculators.

Loses Eighteen Straight.

Joe Oeschger, of the Boston Braves, probably will draw the hand-embroidered safety razor for most games lost in succession this season. Joe's count, according to reliable statistics, was eighteen lost in a row up to the Braves' return home from the west last week. His losing streak started June 14th.

PETER MANNING TO RACE AGAIN AGAINST TIME

It is announced that Peter Manning, who lowered the world's trotting record to 1:57 will make another attempt to lower his mark at Lexington, where practically all of the horses will go from Columbus.

COBB TIED RECORD.

Detroit Manager Equalled Three Major League Marks. Three major league batting records were tied by Ty Cobb in the season that closed on Sunday. The Georgian has hit .300 or better for seventeen years, has 200 or more safeties to his credit in eight seasons, and has batted .400 or better in three seasons.

His single at Cleveland on Sunday assured him of a tie for .400 percentage record, the hit making his average for this season slightly above that mark. The feat ties the record of Jesse Burkett. Burkett, however, set the three-year record before the foul strike rule became effective.

A Montreal View.

Although the reports would indicate that Queen's will have an exceptionally strong team this season, the majority of the McGill students seem to still look to Toronto University as the spot from which the greatest opposition will come. The general opinion seems to be that the Kingston University, with several stellar players, will not be able to stand up withVarsity as far as a wealth of available substitutes are concerned. Local followers of the sport are willing to concede that both Queen's and Toronto have better aggregations of brilliant players than McGill and the main hope for the latter seems to lie in perfecting their team play.

Anyway he would see a pennant-winning American League team whose pennant was won largely by six of his old grade—Joe Dugan, Whitely, Wilt, Wallie Schang, Frank Baker and the two best pitchers the Yanks have got—Joe Bush and Bob Shawkey.

Long Time Ago.

It was twenty-five years ago Aug. 28th that Star Pointer, driven by Dave McClary, started the two-minute list by pacing the Readville track in 1.59 3/4.

Harry Frazee, too, could visualize himself as the owner of a world series club if he should look in on his former slaves, a full nine, to wit, as follows from left to right: Ruth, Schang, Mays, Hoyt, Dugan, Smith, Bush, Scott, and Jenes.

Hutchison to Try Again.

Jock Hutchison, winner of the British open golf championship in 1920 and runner-up to Walter Hagen this year, will make another attempt to recapture the trophy next spring. Jock has written to a friend on the other side, declaring his intention of visiting Scotland during the coming winter, and that it is his intention of getting in considerable practice over the Troon links, on which the British open championship will be played next year.

Four Players Get 3,000 Hits. Only four baseball players in the forty-seven years of the major league baseball history have succeeded in making 3,000 hits during their respective careers. They are: Hans Wagner, the famous Cobb, Lajoie and Cap Anson. Cobb in eighteen years had a record of 3,240; Lajoie in twenty-one years got 3,336, and Anson in twenty-two years registered 3,071.
