SOCIAL SERVICE COUNCIL

Its Need is Outlined to Kingston Kiwanians by Peter Bryce.

The need for a social service council in Kingston was the subject of an address by Peter Bryce, Toronto, before the Kiwanis Club at the weekly luncheon in the Frontenac hotel on Monday. Mr. Bryce outlined briefly the work accomplished in the city of Toronto where there were fifty-five philanthropic charitable and religious bodies dealing with social welfare and the unemployment problems. The work was done in a haphazard manner and there was much overlapping. The formation of the Social Service Council eliminated all this and by the application of business to sentiment made the work more effective and placed it upon a permanent basis. It was in a position to provide the funds to meet all the demands of the fifty-five organizations and this year it has the certainty of being able to deal with what demands may arise. "You must always remember," said the speaker, "that while about five per cent. of the persons who come under the consideration of the council, are unemployed, there are about eighty-five per cent. in actual need of assistance and entitled to it. What we try, above all else, to do is to make self-dependence our aim, but the very best must be done for children, for the weak and helpless."

"The Rotary and Kiwanis clubs got behind the organization of the Social Service Council in Toronto to make it efficient, eliminate overlapping and put family welfare work on a high plane of excellence. There is in every community human need and this should not be left to sporadic effort, but we should be in a position to find out what needs to be done and see that it is done. The underprivileged must be given an opportunity. The social service worker has been described as one who takes money from one person or several persons and gives it to others, and this is really what takes place. Those who have it to give are glad to have an organization upon which they can depend to use the money as it should be used." The speaker concluded with a strong appeal for the formation of a Social Service Council in Kingston.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Bryce on a motion of Prof. Jolliffe, seconded by Frank Anglin, and on a motion of F. J. Hoag, B. N. Steacy, H. C. Nickle and P. E. Burns were appointed delegates to the civic organization meeting on Monday night.

Noble Steacy presided and the singing led by Garnet Lockett was very fine. Several poets were announced but were not subjected to the penalty of singing their own productions. Two new members, Wendling Anglin, of the firm of Johnston and Ward stock brokers, and W. M. Nickle, Barrister, of the law firm of Nickle, Farrell and Day, were introduced by Harry Newman in a manner highly complimentary.

During the roll call the following guests were announced: Peter Bryce, Toronto, Lt.-Col. B. J. McDonald, D.S.O., M.C., officer commanding the Lord Strathcona Horse, Calgary, A. Lemmon, Rev. Dr. H. H. Bell, Oliver Chown, Captain Volkes.

Major-Gen. Sir Archibald Macdonell, commandant of the Royal Military College, was the booster, and, in addition to providing a beautiful historical sketch, with pictorial views, of the college for each member and guest, gave several very fine prizes that were won by Fred Wilson, Arnett Minnes, Eugene Donnes, Harry Wilder, J. S. Asselstine, Columbus Hanley, Walter Cusick, Murdoch Johnston and Howard Dick. Quite a number failed to obtain prizes owing to absence from the last two meetings.

CAUTION PREVENTS FIRES.

Clean Up of All Districts is Necessary for Kingston's Protection.

It has been said that fire, under control, is man's greatest friend, and that fire, out of control, is man's greatest enemy.

In Fire Prevention Week, there is a seeking after the perpetual chaining of man's greatest enemy so that it becomes man's most powerful friend.

The campaign has as its object not only a reduction of the stupendous fire loss which the Dominion suffers yearly, but in addition the general improvement of homes and their surroundings, to the end that all danger of fire may be a thing of the past.

Carelessness and neglect of rubbish are two great causes of fire, and with a general clean-up campaign and the instilling into home-owners and tenants a pride in their surroundings, these two sources would be removed.

Ambition cannot be furthered without pride in what has already been accomplished, and a city cannot forge ahead unless citizens can sit back in their few leisure moments and view with complacency what has already been accomplished.

Citizens Must Help.
Houses, well painted and in good repair, with neatly-kept back yards and gardens, can be a source of pride to any city, but dust and rubbish piles, and sordid vistas of worn and weather-stained lumber can be an inspiration to nobody, much less an aid to the advancement of a city.

To that end Kingston may keep up its low fire loss record, the movement for fire prevention has been widespread amongst citizens.

Prevention is decidedly better than cure, in the case of fire, and fire cannot be prevented without an attendant clean-up of homes and buildings in the city.

No fire-prevention campaign can be carried to a successful completion without the aid of the women of Kingston. The use of electricity has, somewhat contrary to the general trend of opinion, done away to a great extent with danger of fire, since it caused the passing out of the old oil lamps and other dangerous implements, but there is still an element of danger caused by carelessness, and neglect of children which allows them to indulge in pranks.

However, equal responsibility rests upon men who are careless smokers, and between the two, that is to say, amongst all the citizens of Kingston, there must be a close co-operation, that the city may be genuinely improved and all danger of fire reduced to a minimum.

Issues Timely Warning.

The Dominion fire commissioner at Ottawa recently compiled a list of common causes of fires, named under two headings. Under the first is mentioned the spontaneous combustion of oils, paper, waste, benzine, rubbish, city rags and paint materials; the second, careless handling of matches, gas fires, cigarettes, electricity, chemicals, pipe ashes and cigar stumps.

There follows the significant question, "Are we as careful as we should be?"

Out of an experience of long standing, the Dominion fire commissioner says:

"Don't overvalue your property when placing insurance."
"Don't start fires in stores, furze-places or fireplaces, unless you are sure the flues and chimneys are clean."
"Don't allow a stove pipe to come in contact with wood. Use cement tin or galvanized iron where the pipe goes through."

"Don't wash clothing or other articles in gasoline, benzine or naphtha, nor allow it to be kept in your house."
"Don't throw water on flames caused by burning gasoline, benzine, naphtha or coal oil, as it spreads the flames. Smother the fire with a rug or covering of some kind."

"Don't use any but safety matches; others are dangerous."
"Don't permit children to play with matches or start bonfires."
