THREE RUGBY GAMES WITH SOCCER MATCH Scheduled For This Afternoon In Kingston—Stadium and Lower Campus.

There are three rugby games scheduled for today in local circles, and a soccer match. In the morning Queen's IV. and Regiopoks meet in one section of the junior intercollegiate group. In the afternoon R.M.C. and Queen's class in the other division of the juniors, in the first game of a double fixture at the George Richardson Memorial Stadium, while the senior cadets take the field against Queen's seconds immediately after in the intermediate intercollegiate group.

During the afternoon, Queen's lower campus will also be busy when the R.C.A. soccer squad will meet that of the tricolor in the second of the Whig trophy games. Football fans, whether soccer or rugby, will have plenty of entertainment all day today.

In the first junior rugby game the contest should be close. The Regiopoks team held K.C.I. to a one point lead and threatened to tie just as the full time whistle sounded. Queen's IV. were audly trounced by K.C.I. but showed great improvement in the late stages of the game and have been working steadily ever since.

Both the battles between Queen's and R.M.C. will be interesting and closely contested. The juniors are playing the second match, the first having been taken by Queen's. For the intermediate it is the opening game.

Don Patch made his record of 1.55 for the mile on Sept. 8th, 1908.

INTERCOLLEGIATE MEET.

Three Universities in Annual Field Day.

Only three colleges will be represented in the annual intercollegiate track and field meet to be held under the auspices of the McGill Track Club at the Stadium on Friday. The Royal Military College at Kingston has decided to stay out of the sports this season, while the University of Manitoba will be unable to send their athletes eastward in quest of the honors. The meet thus narrows down to a three-cornered struggle between the old rivals in intercollegiate sport, McGill, Varsity and Queen's.

The decision of R.M.C. and Manitoba to have no representation is to be regretted. Recent reports from Winnipeg that the U. of M. had cleaned up in the western intercollegiate meet, breaking eight records in sixteen events, indicate that the institution has gathered together a number of able performers on the track and field. A representation from the west would certainly add more interest and competition to the event.

Varsity and Queen's athletes have been training steadily for the meet this season and both universities will send strong teams to this city. The McGill entry will not differ greatly from that which captured the intercollegiate championship at Kingston last fall. The track club yesterday issued a list containing twenty-seven names of athletes who are eligible to take part in the sports, but under the intercollegiate ruling only eighteen may be used.

It is not yet known for certain whether Queen's will send a team to the meet but there may be developments before Friday.

Queen's in Race. In his write-up of the Queen's McGill game in the Ottawa Citizen, George A. Mackie, has the following:

"On their showing Saturday, Queen's may well be considered as inter-collegiate and Dominion championship contenders. They have confidence in themselves and their handlers, and the old fighting spirit of Guy Curtis' days seems to have experienced a re-incarnation in the person of Leadley, Batstone, Thomas, et al.

The Queen's team and supporters deeply resent the aspirations which have been cast upon the bona fide student character of some of the players, notably Batstone and Thomas. This fact was very apparent in the manner of their attack. The wing men literally "paved the earth" in their anxiety to come to grips with their opponents, and while they played clean football, it was not of the parlor variety. McGill in defeat were not disgraced. They went down with colors flying and fought to the end against superior strength and seasoning. "Flin" Flanagan, until he was injured in the second quarter, did some classy work, while Dink Carroll displayed his accustomed ability in evading tackles and returning kicks. Queen's should make a place for themselves in 1922 rugby history.

A Coming Man. Among the new men, Grondin looks like a coming man in putting the shot. He sent it 34 feet, 5 inches, which is quite good for an inexperienced man. Grondin has the weight and balance to make great improvements in this event. Hunter, a basket-ball player, who just reaches the six-foot-four mark in height, kept them moving the high jump mark up until he reached five feet, 5 inches, and then stopped. The same man has shown good form in the discus throwing. Ill luck gave him a small mark of 84 feet, 6 inches, yesterday, but he has hurled the discus as far as 102 feet.

Cannot Afford to Fumble. The Hamilton Spectator remarks: Queen's will be here next Saturday for an exhibition game, and Tigers cannot afford to fumble as they did on Saturday. While there may be no Conachers on the Kingston team, it is a well-drilled machine, which takes greater advantage of mistakes than the Argos did.

At Buenos Aires, the Argentine Derby was won by the three-year-old favorite, Rico. The race was worth 80,000 pesos; the distance was 2,500 meters, which Rico covered in two minutes and thirty-seven seconds.
