M'GILL WINS TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES

Takes Both Singles and Doubles-Did Not Play Off Final.

McGill carried off the bulk of the honors with Queen's and Varsity sharing second place in the intercollegiate tournament which was concluded Friday afternoon. Crocker. who was undoubtedly the most finished player at the gathering, won first In Local Group of Intercolplace in the single defeating "Bud" Thomas only after a hard five set struggle. The finals in the doubles was not played off in Kingston as two McGill pairs were matched and the students wished to get home. Morrice and Douglas qualified for the finals by defeating Williams and Fhillips, Toronto, and Crocker and Kamsay were the other finalists defeating the Queen's hopes, Thomas and MacLachlan.

The finals in the singles was an interesting contest. Crocket is picked by the critics here as a Canadian champion of the future while "Bud" Thomas on Friday turned in a bril-Mant performance. The winner took the first, third and last set while Thomas won the second and fourth. Crocker appeared the more finished player but Thomas got in some strokes that were the best seen during the tournament.

The final game of the local internediate intercollegiate group will be played at George Richardson Memorial Stadium this afternoon with R.M.C. strong favorites and not much faith being placed in the statements that Queen's will at least make a strong comeback. It is fully expected that the tricolor will make a much better showing then they did on Wednesday but they will not win the game, let alone the round without wonderful improvements. Should McLeod be taken to Hamilton the second squad will lose one of its mainstays.

R.M.C. will probably take their group and qualify to meet McGill or Varsity in the next round.
