WILL ONE PAIR OF GLASSES SUFFICE?

It is no longer considered advisable, nor in accord with modern customs, to wear the same eyeglasses for every occasion.

To have your eyes "well dressed" you should wear a different style for street use from those that you wear with so much comfort in the library or office. Very formal affairs require a more distinctive type than those you wear for ordinary use about the home.

We will be pleased to explain the correct modes in glasses to you if you are interested in being up-to-date in eyewear.

CONSERVATIVES WANT POLITICS IN COUNCIL
Believe It Will Put More "Pep" Into the City's Business.

The Conservative party in Kingston wants to have politics in the city council. Their reason for it, so they say, is in an endeavor to get more "pep" into the business to be carried on for the city. They believe that under party politics the business of the city can be despatched much better, or in other words the city will be receiving better service. However, this is a question. There are many citizens who are opposed to such a step. "Keep politics out of the council," has been the slogan of many of the broad minded and level-headed citizens.

J. F. Sowards's, coal dealer and president of the Kingston Conservative Association, was interviewed on Wednesday afternoon by a representative of the Whig, in regard to the platform as set out by the Conservative party. He said that the party was of the opinion that it would be in the best interests of the city to have politics in the council. It was found that the greater affairs of the country were carried on better under party lines, and it was felt that such a policy was better for municipalities.

Among the planks in the platform, as outlined by Mr. Sowards, are those calling for the whole-hearted support of the city for the Kingston industrial fair; permanent pavements for the main streets of the city; oiling of all the side streets; a more efficient system in garbage collection, to include a daily collection during the hot weather; Community Day for the raising of funds for charitable organizations; park for the "kiddies" on the north side of Princess street.

Mr. Sowards is firmly of the opinion that it would be a good thing to have party politics in the city council, that it will tend to bring out good men, and that in this way, the city will derive the best possible service.

Mr. Sowards also believes that such a policy will appeal to citizens generally who have at heart the progress of the city.

"What about cheap coal on your platform?" queried the reporter.

"Well, the city could go into the coal business, too, if they see fit," remarked Mr. Sowards. "The council would be in a position to start a municipal coal and wood yard if they wanted to."

Did You Ever Stop to Think.

That more cities die for want of public spirit than for any other reason.

That the advertising columns of your newspapers are serving constantly to inform the thrifty buyers as to where to find bargains.

That the spirit of "We Can and We Will" of your citizens is what has made your city what it is to-day.

That if this spirit of boasting is nourished by men of vision, and who have the will to bring these visions into the realm of the material, your present greatness is simply a prelude of what is to come.

That if this spirit is lost, your present greatness will fade away.

That in some cities many city knockers are taking altogether too much "law exercises."

That there is no better advertisement for a city than prosperous newspapers. The more advertising they carry, the better impression they make upon the outside world. Seen anywhere, they give the impression that they represent live, up-to-date communities, and such communities are good ones in which to live.

That some men have their vision obscured by the darkness cast by their own shadows. Nothing satisfies them because they are unable to please themselves.

IN MARINE CIRCLES

The steamer Penland, which was sunk in the St. Lawrence opposite Morrisburg last year, and which was raised a short time ago by Capt. Hinckley, of Oswego, is now at the St. Lawrence Marine Railway at Ogdensburg to undergo a general overhauling. The work is expected to be completed early in November.

The steamer Jeska cleared for Sodus Point Wednesday afternoon, to load coal for the city.

The steamer Brantford is expected to clear on Thursday for Oswego to load coal for Crawford's.

The schooner Newlands cleared on Thursday morning for Sodus Point to load coal for the city.

The steamer Susie Chapman, which is due at the penitentiary with coal from Oswego, is not expected to arrive to-day, owing to the stiff north gale blowing.

The steamer Greypoint passed down on Thursday morning with freight from Toronto to Montreal.

The steamer Brockville arrived from Picton on Thursday morning with canned goods and other freight.

The steamer Dardanelle cleared on Thursday for Rideau River points.

The steamers Winona, City of Ottawa and City of Hamilton are due on Thursday.

Did Bandit Come This Way? The Kingston Police Notified

Did the lone bandit who held up two clerks in a jewelry store at Toronto; at noon on Wednesday, come towards Kingston?

The Kingston police on Thursday morning received a description of the bandit, and have been asked by Chief of Police Dickson, Toronto, to keep a lookout for the man, as it is believed he may have come this way.

The bandit armed, with his face half covered with a handkerchief, walked into the Ontario Diamond store on Yonge street, and held up two clerks and compelled them to hand over $10,000 worth of diamond rings. He then made his escape.
