 What the Press Agents Say About Coming Attractions

Rex Stock Tonight.
 "The Man on the Box," will be presented at the Grand tonight, Friday and Saturday. The Rex Stock Company certainly draws bigger crowds with comedy than anything else. Not but what they play drama very well indeed, in fact some of their best work has been heavy drama, but nevertheless, as Rex says, "The customers want to laugh," and he seems to have made that his creed, and mission in life. Rex has the faculty of not going to either extreme. Absolute farce is not a good diet for an audience and they soon weary of it. On the other hand they have proved that they don't want drama, therefore the happy medium must be found, and Rex has hit it, with a line of comedies, that while they are comedy all through, have just enough heart interest, and human touch to please all and give a little substance to the play. His choice for this week is very good. Most of us are familiar with the story of "The Man on the Box," and we cannot imagine a more amusing coachman, or a more vivacious, gleaming and pretty Betty than Rex and Zana. Joe Kelly has the part of the young friend, and Bill Seymour plays Count Karloff.

CIDER FROM CHURCH HAD WICKED KICK
A Hotelman Was Found Not Guilty When the Source Was Learned.
 Strathroy, Oct. 26.—Cider seized by provincial officers in the hotel of Edward Upton was found after analysis to be too strong, but Magistrate Trisman quickly found the defendant not guilty on a charge of "keeping for sale," when it came out that the cider had been brought to the hotel from a church bazaar one day before the seizure. Evidence for the crown was given by Officers Stratton and Barr, the latter being the provincial officer of Elgin county. Mr. Upton, proprietor of the Queen's hotel, gave evidence that the cider was brought to the hotel by George Dickson, who had made it at Scott's cider mill and had it on sale at a church bazaar. Mr. Scott, who made the cider, stated that it would not ferment enough to make a person intoxicated in two weeks, but that it fermented very fast when once started.

The "Dumbells" New Show.
 "The Dumbells Revue of 1922," a new and entirely different "Dumbells" show, will be the attraction at the Grand Opera House on Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 30th and 31st, two nights only. This will be the farewell appearance of this clever company of Canadian soldier boys in this city for a long, long time. They are just now completing a limited tour of the east prior to sailing for England, where they will be one of the holiday attractions in London. The personnel of the organization remains practically the same as on their previous visits here. Al Plunkett, Ross Hamilton, Red Newman, Jimmie Goode, Arthur Holland, Fred Fenwick, Charles McLean, Alan Murray, Bill Tennent, Tom Young, Jerry Brayford, Ted Charter and Bert Wilkinson, all have important roles in the new show, and several of them have outstanding individual numbers. Among the song hits to be found in "The Dumbells Revue of 1922" are: "That Dumbell Melody," "My Lady's Dress," "Joshua," "Hank-Ho-ho-ho-ho-ho-ho-ho-ho-ho," "Mandala," "Widows Are Wonderful," "Tally-Ho," "Coal Black Mammy of Mine," "The Girls of My Dreams," "Incense," "I'm a Daddy," "Say You'll Not Forget," "Swing Along," "Something Doing Over the Way," and the season's biggest song success, "K-K-K-Heave Ho Again." The "Dumbells" have always proved immensely popular here, as well as in every city in Canada, and it is with genuine regret that we bid them au-revoir and bon voyage. May their engagement in London prove successful in every way, but don't forget to come back some day.

CUTTING DOWN EXPENSES.
 Fort William Public Utilities Brought Under One Head.
 Fort William, Ont., Oct. 26.—Acting on the economy recommendations of a street railway expert, George L. Guy, Fort William council, served notice on A. L. Farquharson, street railway manager, that his resignation would be required this month, and that he would be granted three months' pay in recognition of past services. The experts' advice is taken with respect to bringing all Fort William public utilities under single management, and C. H. Moors, director of the Light and Telephone departments, will be the big boss. Reductions in the railway staff, and the transfer of some of the work to the telephone and light department, such as maintenance of overhead wires, are made in the report.

"The Infidel," Big Film Drama.
 There is something quite different from all other motion picture productions in a Katherine MacDonald screen feature. Quite aside from the wonderful beauty of the star herself, she always is surrounded by a supporting cast of players of proved worth and acknowledged popularity. A Katherine MacDonald production typifies all that is refined, elevating, artistic and aristocratic, and in her latest vehicle, "The Infidel," which has just been released by Associated First National and which will be seen for the first time in this city at the Allen Theatre commencing today, the popular actress offers a screen entertainment that is declared to be quite out of the ordinary. The locale of the "Infidel" is the South Seas, always mysterious and magical. The character Miss MacDonald portrays is entirely different from any she has ever before interpreted, and her acting is said to be more vivid and graphic than any of her earlier histrionic endeavors. Lloyd Hamilton, the Mermad Comedy star, in his latest gloom chaser, "The Speeder," and other short reel subjects, make a real top-notch programme.

THE STRANGE EFFECTS OF BRITISH ELECTION

Political Situation Gives Rise to Many Conjectures as to Result.
 London, Oct. 26.—There is no end to strange juxtapositions in this campaign. The Liberal ex-chancellor McKenna is supporting Bonar Law, Lord Birkenhead has offered to go to Dundee to fight for Churchill, who is obliged to conduct his campaign from a sick bed. Cynics say that Birkenhead in Dundee would be more welcome to opponents than to Churchill. One of Lloyd George's secretaries, Shakespeare, is appearing as a Liberal candidate and another, Sir Edward Grimm, the ex-presser's favorite adviser on foreign affairs, appears as a Chamberlainite Unionist candidate. Scotland Unionists are practically ignoring the Carlton decision and the coalition will be maintained in the constituencies. The Labor party declares that the coalition is being maintained in a more or less disguised form everywhere, where Labor chances appear to be good. Apart from headquarters' decisions, local bargains are being made between Conservatives and both sorts of Liberals to get out of each other's way when Labor looks like winning. Labor prospects are believed to be improving. Labor gains from the split among the Liberals and it can make good election capital out of the alliances between the Conservatives and Lloyd George Liberals by asserting that this means either the continuance of the detested coalition or else that the Conservatives are absorbing Georgian Liberals as they did the Liberal Unionists when Chamberlain split from Gladstone. Many observers think the present peculiar combinations will prove the two-party system is henceforth impossible in England and that the only way to avoid a minority government is by proportional representation which now occupies a place in the Liberal programme.
