STOLE BIG SUM OF MONEY, GOT LIGHT SENTENCE. Previous Good Character Saved John McDermott From Heavier Sentence.

John McDermott, who pleaded guilty to stealing about $800 from the canteen funds at Mowat Hospital was on Tuesday morning sentenced by Magistrate Farrell to not less than three months and not more than one year, in the Burwash reformatory. McDermott was employed in the canteen. After taking the money he skipped out of the city, and three weeks ago was taken in charge at Toronto, and brought back to Kingston by Constable Thomas Mullinger.

An elderly man was charged with vagrancy, and the punishment meted out to him was that he must return at once to his home in Belleville. The old fellow jumped to his feet, as spry as a man twenty years his junior, and saluted the magistrates, when his name was called.

"It's two years since I was here," said the accused. "Yes, and you don't look any younger," replied the magistrate. The old man has been creating a great nuisance on the street by using bad language towards people, so it is alleged.

The magistrate gave instructions to the police to see that the man got on a train for Belleville at noon.
