"THE TAILOR-MADE MAN" PRESENTED AT GRAND

Rex Stock Company in Splendid Offering For Balance of Week.

Rex and his popular stock company are at the Grand Opera House for the balance of the week, with a play that is most pleasing and entertaining. "The Tailor Made Man," with Rex as "The Man," went over big in its initial appearance on Thursday night. There are four acts, and the story unfolded is a most interesting one. It has to do with a young man, employed in a tailor shop, who has the necessary ambition to climb high even if he does have to purchase a dress suit left in the tailor shop by a customer to be pressed, to tune the trick. Events follow in quick order after he takes the dress suit, but it is this one act that puts him on the first rung on the ladder to fame. He makes some climb, as he goes from a tailor's hand, to the head of a big corporation. As the tailor chap, Rex has a part that he fills well. There are many amusing situations, and taken altogether it is one of the most delightful plays the company has presented this season. John Paul Bart, as the tailor's hand, had nerve, but also displayed ability, and when put to the test, was able to do things and his being able to do things, worth for him the high position he desired.

There are many interesting characters in "The Tailor Made Man." Howard Brown, as Mr. Huber, the proprietor of the tailor shop, showed marked ability in this important role, while "Bill" Yule, as Peter McConkie, also a helper in the tailor shop, had an interesting part. Zana Vaughn appears as Tanya Huber, the old tailor's daughter, and played her part in a charming manner. William Seymour, in the role of Dr. Gustav Sounstay, handled a difficult part well. There are sixteen speaking parts in the play, so William Yule, Howard Brown, Hazel Williams and Joe Kelly each had a double role, and their work calls for special praise. Florence Winters, Gloria Machan, Hazel Brown and Charles Hannah were good in their parts. The Browns put on a very clever and amusing vaudeville act, and the orchestra has a special programme. "The Tailor Made Man" will be presented again tonight and Saturday, matinee and night.

DIED AT DESERONTO.

The Late W. J. Roach Was An Old Settler.

After a couple of years of extreme suffering and pain William J. Roach passed away at his home on Dundas street, Deseronto, on Monday evening. Mr. Roach was born in Deseronto fifty years ago, his parents being Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Roach, who were the first white settlers and built the first home in Deseronto more than seventy-one years ago. He was the youngest child born to these thrifty pioneers.

At the age of four he removed with his parents to what is now known as the Roach farm on the Deseronto road, and upon the death of his father and mother became the owner of the farm, operated and maintained it together with his sister, Elizabeth, until about two years ago, when, on account of failing health, he with his sister established their residence in Deseronto.

The deceased was unmarried, as was his sister, Elizabeth, who has lived with him during all his life and now mourns his loss.

His sister, the late Mrs. Robert Dowling, was the first white child born in Deseronto, seventy-one years ago, and his deceased brother, John, who died three years ago, was the first white male child born in Deseronto. Another brother, Cornelius, predeceased him some years ago and two others died in their infancy.

The surviving bereaved members of the family in addition to the sister, Elizabeth, include Mrs. Orvin Foley, a sister, Hawley, Ont.; Thomas Roach, Calgary, and M. D. Roach, Washington, D.C., brothers, also a number of nephews and nieces. The funeral and high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Vincent de Paul's church on Wednesday, after which the remains were placed in the vault of the Deseronto cemetery.

Carey-Moseley Wedding.

Another southwest pretty wedding took place Oct. 17th, at Trinity church, Third street and Maryland avenue, Northwest Washington, Wash., when Miss Allie Moseley was married to William G. Carey by Rev. David R. Corvell. The bride wore a beautiful gown of dark blue with a picture hat to match and a fox fur. John Ergle acted as best man, and Miss Margaret H. McCarthy was bridesmaid. They will make their home in Canada the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Carey, Picton.

To Be Home Demonstrator. Miss C. H. Martin, Preston, has been appointed home demonstrator for Prince Edward county, commencing about the middle of November. Miss Martin will take charge of the domestic science work in connection with the three months' course in elementary agriculture and domestic science to be held at Washington consolidated school from Nov. 27th to March 3rd.

WOMEN'S MISSION SOCIETY

Of Kingston Methodist District Holds Convention in Queen Street Church.

The seventeenth annual convention of the Kingston Methodist district Women's Missionary Society was held in Queen street Methodist church Thursday afternoon and evening. The meetings were largely attended and were a source of inspiration to the delegates for the fall and winter work. The district organizations were well represented. The afternoon session consisted of the election of officers and routine business while at the evening gathering the convention was addressed by the president of the board of managers, Mrs. H. A. Lavell, and by Miss Margaret A. Armstrong, a missionary at Kokolooka, Alta.

The election of officers returned Mrs. A. E. Knapp as district superintendent. Mrs. E. Cook, Cataract, was elected associate superintendent; Mrs. R. O. Joliffe, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. B. O. Britton, Gananoque, superintendent of Mission Circles and Bands, with Miss Mildred Pierce as her assistant. The afternoon session was opened with prayer by Mrs. Cummings; devotional exercises conducted by Mrs. Brebner and greetings given by Mrs. Shurtliff. The report of the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. E. Cook, showed a successful year. In the district there are 13 auxiliaries, 6 bands and 5 circles, the majority of which were represented at the convention. The total collection amounted to $3,380.81. Individual reports of these organizations were excellent and encouraging, particularly fine being those of the bands and circles.

The report of the district superintendent, was read by the associate superintendent, and was an inspiration to the workers. "Our Kingston District," a chalk talk, was contributed by Mrs. James Cooke, and a talk on "Christian Stewardship" was given by Mrs. Britton. Mrs. E. Joliffe gave a report of the recent meeting of the Board of Managers.

In order to facilitate the work of the nomination committee, a new proposal, by which the committee will be appointed by certain of the churches and will have completed its work before the convention opens met with approval. Mrs. Knapp presided at the session.

A splendid supper was served in the hall of the church at 6 o'clock. This was provided by the city auxiliaries.

Two very fine addresses featured the evening service at which Rev. V. S. Lennon, D.D., presided. During the evening, Mrs. John Evans rendered a solo and Mrs. J. Crawford and A. Middleton, a duet.

Mrs. H. A. Lavell, who is the president of the Dominion Board of Managers of the Women's Missionary Society, gave an inspiring address on the ideals of opportunities of the society. Pointing out that ideals are necessary for success the speaker emphasized the advisability of preparing original and practical plans for carrying these ideals into practice. She made particular reference to the life of Susannah Wesley. The ideal speaker set before the women was that the auxiliaries should be the open window through which the world might see the crying multitude desirous of the knowledge of the gospel. She added that with knowledge and conviction the great missionary project must be conducted. The opportunities in all foreign lands was spoken of by Mrs. Lavell.

The second address of the evening was given by Miss Armstrong and was illustrated by views of the district in which she has been laboring among the Ukrainians in northern Alberta. The slides were illustrative of the type of citizens these people are making for Canada. During the account of the work, which was described as a very ordinary task but which the audience could easily imagine must have been one of great hardship, Miss Armstrong told of the advance of the Nationalist movement among these people. She also referred to the fact that the government was putting Ukrainian teachers in the schools in the place of Canadians. Also in illustration of her interesting address Miss Armstrong had one of the women among whom she has been working appear in the church in the native dress. The whole lecture was a revelation of the work being done in north western Canada.

It is better to be right than consistent.

"I Now Feel Fine"

Mrs. F. G. Murdoch, Box 433, Portage la Prairie, Man., writes: "I was troubled for years with biliousness, constipation, kidney and liver troubles. Many foolish persons add to the burden of tomorrow before they are called upon to bear it. We can all increase our worries—it is as simple, and surely better, to lessen them. Many a man in the hour of his need finds that he has been so busy making money that he has forgotten to make any friends. Heroism is active genius; genius, contemplative heroism. Heroism is the self-devotion of genius manifesting itself in action.
