Frequently sour grapes add piquancy to memoirs.

Boys can't injure a party; they usually take the nuts along with them.

A strike is settled when both sides are ready to let the public settle for it.

It is a case of genuine love if he doesn't even think to ask her whether she can cook.

A new car next door is of great assistance to the salesman in closing the contract.

And it may be that the reason Don Juan got away with it was because he wasn't a rector.

The man who has a big idea should put it over instead of telling everybody about it.

One of the slowest things in transportation is a freight car getting where it is needed.

Correct this sentence: "Mamma," said the small boy, "may I take a bath to-night, please?"

The person who can see only one side of a question is just as likely to be seeing the wrong side.

We don't need an invention to make movies talk, but something to keep movie patrons from it.

A scientist expresses the opinion that man is made of electricity, but only a few men are live wires.

The fact that a motorist has the right of way does not help him to pay hospital and doctor bills.

It is sometimes helpful to get the other fellow's point of view, even if it has been dulled by much use.

Women suffer much more than men, but they probably never will learn to buy shoes large enough.

If both are poor, and he is bow-legged and she chews gum, rest assured that it is a love match.

The man who objects to that kind of pipe in the smoking car is the one who tells that kind of stories.

It is hard to tell which is more fun, making clothes for the baby or buying accessories for the new fit-coupe.

Under the circumstances, Lloyd George will doubtless feel free to use a little high-powered adjective in his book.

It might be a good idea to give Europe a dictionary showing the relative positions of "peace" and "prosperity."

The school boy who thinks eight pins are required to make a gallon will never make a success of a filling station.

Let's see; what were front pages used for before women developed the knack of shooting husbands and lovers?

The world isn't really growing better; it just seems that way because writers have quit talking about "he-men."

The business man who puts push into his business is not worrying about what his competitor is going to do.

THANKSGIVING NEGLECT.

There was but one Thanksgiving Day service in the Kingston churches on Monday and that was in Chalmers Presbyterian. The churches generally had allowed the thanksgiving services of Sunday to suffice, leaving the day specially appointed by the Canadian government as one for rest or pleasure.

NEWS CENSORING.

In a city pulpit the suggestion was made that British news in Canadian newspapers is censored. Nothing is further from fact. The news may be abbreviated, but there is nothing in the way of censorship, with English, Scotch and Irish papers following on the heels of the cables and reaching Canada within seven days.

A CHRISTMAS SUGGESTION.

Christmas is not too far away to begin planning for it. Many of the churches have already begun to lay plans for the proper observance of Christ's natal day. There is so much about Christmas coming up with thoughts of it that, if one were to write, he could easily cover many pages and scarcely know it—and yet, half of this sweetest story would remain untold.

STREETS TO BE PAVED.

On motion of Aids. Peters and Kelly, the Utilities Commission was asked to look after the underground work required in York street from Barrie to Division, and on Barrie street from York to Pine. These streets are to be paved next year.

In Militia Orders.

The following extracts from the Canada Gazette are of interest in local military circles: Capt. N. L. MacDowell is promoted to the rank of major; Capt. J. E. Mackay, M.C. to be provisional major; Prov. Major W. A. Delahay is transferred to the Reserve of Officers; and Lieut. W. E. Cowan is retired.

To Go To Colorado.

After disposing of his farm at Allisonville Benjamin Noxon left on Monday for Denver, Colorado, where he will join his wife and family. Mr. Noxon will be greatly missed by a large circle of warm friends who regret his departure.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TO-DAY.

BELIEVE AND LIVE.—Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die.—John 11:25.

BLUNDERS.

Dr. Briggs had the qualities of a successful publisher. He knew what the public wanted, and he rarely published a poor seller. For example, it was he who sent Robert W. Service's first book out, not for private sale, but upon the sea of public literary criticism; and in doing so his judgment was sound.

ALONG LIFE'S DETOUR.

BY SAM HILL. What's His Name? "It never puts him out. When I ask him for codn," said Brown; "He always sets me up. Because he never turns me down."

ASK COUNCIL FOR $5,000.

(Continued from Page 1.) Kelly. Both said that the purchase would be a good investment. A by-law was passed, on recommendation of the finance committee, providing for the issue of $3,000 debentures, in response to the request of the Board of Education, for the improvement of the heating system in the Collegiate Institute and to provide accommodation for increased attendance. The debentures will run for twenty years and the yearly amount to be paid will be $265.80.

Other Recommendations.

The finance committee also recommended that the account for the removing of a body to Kingston for an inquest early last spring be paid. The account was deferred until the opinion of the city solicitor was obtained as to whether the city or the county was liable. The present solicitor reported that the city must pay. This was also the opinion of the late city solicitor, J. L. Whiting. Accordingly the council ordered payment of the account.

Should Wear Belt.

(East St. Louis Journal) Chicago—Two bandits robbed Arthur Koengsberg, garage keeper, of $1,000 and then flipped their victim's suspender buttons so that he was helpless to pursue.

Squirrel Food.

He surely is a nut. His grave is to let; Of bread he's mimes, but The squirrel'll get him yet. —Sam Hill.

Get the Limit.

"Judge," said the traffic officer who had arrested the fair motorist, "she talked to me as if I was her own husband."

Gold Mine For Doc.

What's happened to old Doc Pillsbury? When I lived around here he didn't know enough to cure a ham and never earned enough money to buy one. Now he is one of your rich citizens and appears to have the best people in town as his patients."

Both Bone Laws, Eh?

"Americans would like to repeal their bone-dry law," remarked Blinks. "Yes, and Lloyd George would like to have England repeal her Honor Law," added Jinks.

Daily Sentence Sermon.

Don't call a man down if he is able to beat you up.

Observations of Oldest Inhabitant.

I kin remember when folks thought matches were made in heaven. Nowadays a good many of them appear to have been made in the other place.
