CORBETT AND ANGROVE MAYORALTY CANDIDATES

There Will Be a Keen Contest Between Them on Monday Next.

H. C. Nickle And R. N. F. McFarlane Are Elected By Acclamation to Utilities Commission--Addresses Given By the Candidates.

There will be a mayoralty contest in Kingston next Monday between Mayor S. B. Corbett and Ald. Thomas E. Angrove. The nominations took place on Monday morning in the city hall, with the city clerk presiding. They were made as follows:

For Mayor, Thomas Bryant Angrove, proposed by E. J. Dunphy, and seconded by F. J. Todd. Samuel Stewart Corbett, proposed by P. B. Chown, and seconded by C. J. Graham.

Utilities Commission. For the public utilities commission the following were elected by acclamation: H. C. Nickle, proposed by R. E. Burns and P. B. Chown. Robert N. F. McFarlane, proposed by C. J. Graham and C. H. Wood. Mr. Nickle will take the place of Thomas Hewitt, who recently announced his retirement from the civic service.

The two mayoralty candidates spoke after 11 o'clock, when Dr. Sands announced that the time for receiving nominations had closed. About fifty men and a couple of ladies were in the hall, when Ald. R. E. Kent, who was voted chairman, invited the two candidates to a seat on the platform.

MAYOR CORBETT SPEAKS.

Reviews Work of Year--Asks Aid, Angrove a Question. Mayor Corbett was called upon first. He said that he was sorry that there was such a small attendance at the meeting, and that the citizens did not take greater interest in the elections. One heard a great deal of criticism in the newspapers about the council's actions on certain matters, but he felt that people who were doing all the talking, should also do some of the work. The mayor said he was quite willing to have the council of 1923 criticized. He had been proud to be mayor during this year. He would be glad to have citizens, who had criticism to offer, come to the platform and he would endeavor to answer all the questions put to him. There may be things that would not meet with their approval, but he felt that it would be far better for those who had objections to offer, if they would discuss these matters on the public platform, and not talk on the street corners or write anonymous letters to the newspapers. Mayor Corbett thanked the electors for having elected him a year ago and remarked that the contest had been a short and happy one. "And this looks like another one," he added. The mayor stated that he and Ald. Angrove had been personal friends.

Regarding the work of the past year, Mayor Corbett stated that the new council took over the reins of office, they faced strenuous times. The speaker had been told that it would be a hard year, and he soon realized this. At this time there were many out of employment and here, the mayor paid a warm tribute to the Kiwanis Club, which provided over $7,000 to help the unemployed. A general committee was formed and the mayor stated that the money was judiciously spent.

"Today things look better in Kingston," added Mayor Corbett. "They look better today than they have for some time. No doubt this winter we will have certain responsibilities which we are ready to assume, but I feel certain there will not be the hardships like last winter."

Continuing, Mayor Corbett said that for some years past there had been a great deal of criticism over the securing of industries for the city. He paid tribute to the industries commission and Commissioner Sands, for what had been accomplished. He made references to the establishment of four industries brought to Kingston during the past year, the woolen mills, Aylward & Lean Packing Company and the Coca Cola plant.

Expect Small Surplus. Regarding the finances of the city, Mayor Corbett said that owing to the fact that the elections were being earlier, the exact figures could not be ascertained, but he read the following letter he had received from the city treasurer:

"Owing to the fact that a month's expenditure will yet be made, and the city engineer's department is not able at this time of the year to give any definite figures as to their various expenditures, I can only give you an estimate of the standing of the city's finances at the end of the year."

"The revenue will be short about $1,000 on account of license fees, while the total of the appropriations ought to nearly balance with the budget."

"There was a surplus as a result of the money received from the government on account of unemployment of about $4,000, which will be practically all used up by shortness of revenues, $1,000, police department damages from automobile accident, $2,000, and sum overdrawn by the Board of Works."

"In summing up the whole situation, I think I am safe in estimating that the statement at the end of the year will show a small surplus."

Referring to the work of the Board of Works, Mayor Corbett said that this committee had accomplished much with the money granted. There was something to show for the expenditures and the work had been well done and he believed the citizens were satisfied. The money for in-

KLUX KLAN WILL STICK

Leaders Refuse to Be Driven From New York.

TO BECOME WORLD WIDE

Stands Opposed to Birth Control And in Favor of Prohibition.

New York, Nov. 27.—Rev. Oscar Haywood, New York, to-day defied Mayor Hylan and announced that the Ku Klux Klan will "make New York its greatest stronghold." The organizer answered the mayor's order to the police to treat the Klan as they would "disorderly houses and gangsters" with the announcement that E. D. Smith, Buffalo, grand dragon for the state, would come here to help in forming chapters.

Simultaneously the Klan became a storm centre in New York. While rabbis, officials and others denounced it, some ministers defended the organization from the pulpit in Sunday services. Rabbi Wise, a noted speaker and leader, denounced the order "as in the phase of a worldwide anti-semitic movement."

Haywood, in an interview, answering critics, declared that the Klan standing against birth control, feminism and crime and for prohibition in America would eventually become worldwide.

Ku Klux In Canada. New York, Nov. 27.—The first step toward an international organization of Ku Klux Klan will be made in Canada, it was announced here yesterday, by Rev. Oscar Haywood, national leader of the Klan. In making an announcement he said that he had received hundreds of applications for membership from residents of Canada and the British Isles and that the campaign in Canada would begin as soon as officers could find time to do it.

Mayor Corbett said that at banquet last winter, that Ald. Angrove had made the statement that he would not oppose the speaker if he ran for a second term. Ald. Angrove could not deny this, as there were people in the hall now who knew about this. In 1920, the speaker had been termed a "funkier" as he did not run, but he did not run for the reason that he wanted to keep his word with H. C. Nickle. A week ago last Sunday, Ald. Angrove had told the speaker that he had no aspirations to be mayor.

Turning again to the question of politics in the council, Mayor Corbett referred in an impressive manner to the work of the late ex-Mayor John McDonald Mowat, who, he said, had banned politics from the council. The principle, he said, had been laid down by a big man—a man who had laid down his life for his country.

Mayor Corbett was warmly applauded as he resumed his seat.

ALD. ANGROVE'S ADDRESS.

Candidate Refers to the Whig's Reference to Him.

Ald. T. B. Angrove spoke in part as follows:

"I wish to thank the mover and seconder of my nomination for mayor. To the numerous friends who have asked me to stand for mayor I give my heartfelt thanks."

"I was elected in the year 1920 as alderman for Cararuaq ward, being brought out by the G.W.V. Municipal Committee. I was also endorsed by the business men's association. Eleven new members were elected. Several new chairmen of committees were appointed and among them I was appointed chairman of Board of Works, which position I held for two years. During these two years there was a lot of paving done, including Bagot street, Montreal street, Brock street, also the market square. We also did a considerable amount of sewer construction, much of this was done as unemployment relief work."

"You will remember that in May, 1921, the Locomotive Works ceased operations and in the fall of the year we found ourselves confronted with a serious unemployment condition. Men were at their wits' end to know what to do to keep body and soul together. I went to Mr. Nickle, who was then mayor, and asked him to give his consent and co-operation in finding employment for these (Continued on Page 14.)"

Their testimony promises to be sensational when they relate once more the gruesome confession made by the alleged self-confessed murderer.

Binet himself will be called to the stand, and as to whether he will repeat his former declarations or deny them as he did at the trial, will be another act in that startling case.

Sensational evidence is also expected to be given out by the foster parents of the dead girl, Michel Baribeault and his wife.

Ottawa, Nov. 27.—Three Ottawa convent girls and their sister, a twenty-four-year-old drug clerk, are heiresses, along with their three brothers, to a million-dollar estate in San Antonio, Texas. Miss Monica Mousseau received the news last week. The legacy comes from the late Mrs. Irene Barahart Wilson, who was the widow of George Wilson, oil and cattle king in Mexico.

The Ottawa girls' mother, Mrs. Annie Moroney Mousseau, of Campbell's Bay, Que., was the favorite niece of Mrs. Wilson, and it was to her that the legacy was given, but as Mrs. Mousseau died in 1914 the fortune passed to her children.

Asked by a reporter as to her future plans, Miss Mousseau admitted that she was engaged to be married next year to Endora Gulbord, a local drug store manager.

The increase in civil servants from 760 to 1,100 was noted.

"They have done everything to raise money," Mr. Ferguson declared, "but pick your pocket, or impose a tax, in order to raise money."

Adrianople, Nov. 27.—The establishment of absolute prohibition was the first care of the Turks upon their entry into this city last Friday. The measure, promulgated soon after the arrival of General Tahir Bey, new governor, impressed the population rather disagreeably.

Calves and goats, drooped with flowers, were slaughtered under triumphal arches as a sacrifice of thanks to Allah. Tahir Bey has asserted the sovereignty of Turkey throughout Eastern Thrace. In the evening, contrary to all custom, women paraded until a late hour throughout the brilliantly illuminated streets.

Edmonton, Nov. 27.—Northern Alberta is in for another dry season next year, according to the wise men of the Indians. These first citizens of the country contend that the northland is visited with drought in cycles of twenty years, each period lasting from eighteen months to two years. So they say that last summer's exceptional experience of a shortage of moisture will be repeated in 1923.

CITY HALL BELL CLANGED IN HONOR OF THE VICTORY

Queen's Sensational Win Near Finish of Game Made Kingston Wild With Joy.

Thousands Turned Out on Sunday Afternoon to Greet the Champions at the Grand Trunk Station--Players Slip Quietly Away.

Wild scenes were enacted in Kingston Saturday following the final bulletin that Queen's had defeated the Argonauts. Students and citizens alike went wild with excitement. Hats were thrown in the air, and Queen's yell was given as it was never given before. Students carried each other up and down Princess street in their enthusiasm—in fact some of them were so happy over the great victory that they did not know what they were doing.

The crowd was so big that traffic on Princess street was at a standstill for a time. Autos tried to make their way through the crowd and the people blocked the way of the drivers and almost lifted the cars in the air. In the midst of all the excitement, "Big Ben," at the City Hall pealed forth. At first, people were of the opinion that there was a fire, but when no box was struck, they realized that the bell was being sounded in honor of the big football victory. Outside of "Armistice Day," this is the only time the big bell has been worked overtime and it was most fitting for the occasion. It clanged for ten minutes.

Young and old mixed in the great celebration. Even women with small babies, were out in the jam, and raked the lives of their little ones in order that they would not miss the fun, and there was fun galore when the joyful tidings arrived.

Soon after the news of the victory, a big bon fire was started on Queen's grounds in the vicinity of Grant hall, and quite a large crowd gathered and joined in the festivities.

Down on the market square, another big crowd congregated and the cheering for good old Queen's could be heard many blocks away.

Whig Received News First.

The flash saying that Queen's had won was first received by the Whig and a great cheer went up when the score was shouted to the crowds from a Whig window. The crowds were speculating as to whether Queen's could come from behind and win out in the Whig office an old Queen's graduate declared that the Tri-color would surely win, despite the assertions of a Toronto supporter who was willing to wager anything of a small nature that his team would hold their lead.

Theatre Not Compelled To Admit Colored Woman

Edmonton, Nov. 27.—Alberta courts have decided that a colored woman has no legal redress if a theatre refuses her admission, even though she holds a ticket for a reserved seat. Judge Dubuc, in a reserved case, held that the management of a theatre could refuse admission to anyone upon tendering the price of ticket, in view of the reservation printed on all theatre tickets that such refusal can be exercised at the option of the management. Mrs. Lulu Anderson sued a local theatre for damages when she was refused entry because she was colored.

Lloyd George to Reply To Clemenceau's Charges

London, Nov. 27.—Lloyd George is receiving private reports of Clemenceau's speeches in America for his personal information, including textual quotations of all the Tiger's direct references to Great Britain or Lloyd George personally. After he has read the reports carefully, the former premier will prepare a written reply. He is not contemplating a trip to America, but probably will take a rest in southern Europe after January 1st.

Earth tremors shook southern Illinois Sunday night. Chimneys tumbled to the ground.

EDMONTON ESKIMOS TO PLAY QUEEN'S TEAM IN KINGSTON

For the Dominion Rugby Championship on Saturday Next--The Westerners Say Queen's Will Have To Go To the Limit to Win.

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 27.—News of Queen's victory over Toronto Argonauts was received by the Edmonton Eskimos here Saturday with mixed emotions. There was some surprise and some regret, for Deacon White and his pets had been looking forward to a return game with the Scullers. That 23 to 0 defeat last year has not been forgotten, and the Eskimos were anxious to show Toronto that the western champions could be a whole lot better. On the other hand, while recognizing the ability of Queen's, the Eskimos feel a great deal more confident of trimming the collegians than they did the Toronto Argonauts. The Edmonton players feel that against a light division, their line plunging tactics will prove effective. So that the Eskimos are looking forward to the game in Kingston next Saturday with high hopes. No alteration in the travelling schedule will be made, as all arrangements for leaving here Tuesday morning had been completed and it would be almost impossible at this late date to decide to leave a day earlier and get as good service from the railway. This means that the Eskimos will not reach Kingston until afternoon on Friday, and there is just a chance that, by cutting the time allowance so fine, they may not be able to put in a full practice on Friday.

"The team to-day is just about twenty-five per cent. better than when we played Winnipeg," says Deacon White. "I am confident that we will make Queen's play to their very light to hold us."

The team will have its last workout here Monday afternoon. Cullen, who has not played a game this year, but who has been working out with the team, will make the tryout. He takes the place of Jimmy Enright, whose ankle is not yet strong enough for a game. Cullen was with the Eskimos in 1913 and 1914 and is one of the speediest outside wings in the west.

THREE COAL VESSELS ARE DRIVEN ASHORE IN SUNDAY NIGHT'S STORM

Schooner Daryaw Had 335 Tons For Kingston--Horace Taber And Simon Davis Also in Trouble--Katie Eccles May Be Lost.

Kingston schooners engaged in carrying hard coal from American lake ports to Canadian ports suffered badly in the storm on Sunday night. The schooners Daryaw and Horace Taber, both belonging to Kingston, which left Oswego, N.Y., on Sunday afternoon on Four-Mile Point, filled with water and in a very bad position. The schooners Daryaw and Taber were owned by Capt. C. Daryaw. The former carried 335 tons of hard coal for S. Anglin & Co., and the Taber had a cargo for A. Rankin, M.P. F., Collin's Bay.

The schooner Simon Davis, owned by J. McCullough, Nanapan, is reported ashore on Waupoos Island. This vessel was loaded with hard coal for Belleville. The Donnell Wrecking and Salvage Company to-day sent a tug to pull the Simon Davis off, as she is reported to be in a better position than the schooners ashore on Four-Mile Point.

The schooner Katie Eccles left Oswego after the Simon Davis, but nothing has been heard of her whereabouts. It is feared the Eccles may be lost. She is owned by Capt. Mitchell, Portsmouth.

The captain of the schooner Simon Davis, which went aground at Waupoos Island, said that the Katie Eccles had followed him for considerable distance during the storm, but he fears very much that she is lost.

Capt. Daryaw, who arrived in the city on Monday morning, stated that the schooners Daryaw and Horace Taber were both ashore and that all the members of the crew were safe. Capt. Daryaw claimed that although his boat was hard on, he thought that she could be released. The schooner Horace Taber is in a very bad place, and it was feared that she might break up.

Although nothing official is known about the Katie Eccles, it is thought that her crew consisted of Capt. Mitchell, Portsmouth, and his son. The schooners all left Oswego together on Sunday night, and it is not known if the Eccles has foundered or is in danger. When the schooner Simon Davis last saw her she had a broken beam and appeared to be in trouble. With the breaking of the boom, it meant that the schooner was left at the mercy of the heavy gale which was blowing. The schooner was one of the old timers and was engaged in carrying coal from Oswego to Belleville.
