He Might Go It Blind. A dandy entered an optician's shop and asked to be shown some eye-glasses. He was given a pair, but finding them unsuitable, he remarked: "These don't suit."

"Well, I'll give you a stronger pair."

"Well—er—er—and if they don't suit?"

"Then I'll give you a stronger pair still!"

"And if they fail," inquired Bertie, "what would you advise me to do?"

"Oh!" snapped the frate salesman, "get an intelligent dog and a yard of string."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Recipes From Readers. Mrs. D. L.F.: "I am glad to donate the two following recipes for other women to use: Sour Cream Cake—One cup granulated sugar, two eggs, one cup sour cream, one teaspoon soda, two teaspoons baking powder, any flavoring desired (I use nutmeg). Mix together in ordinary way, adding enough flour to make a regular cake batter. Bake in a loaf, or in two layers. This is fine and keeps moist."

Sugar Cookies: One and one-half cups of granulated sugar, two eggs, one-half cup melted butter, one cup sour cream (thick), one small teaspoon of soda, one small teaspoon of baking powder, one-half teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of vanilla extract, and just enough flour to roll on board. It must be a very soft batter. I roll them medium-thin, and they make a nice, large, thick and rich cookie. If you roll them thinner you get a smaller cookie. 1. Stir butter and sugar together, then add egg, cream, and the other ingredients."

M. E.: "Sponge Cake:—Put three eggs into the mixing bowl and beat them for one minute; add one and one-half cups of granulated sugar and beat the mixture for five minutes; then add one cup of flour and beat for one minute; next add one-half cup of water, a pinch of salt and another cup of flour which has been mixed and sifted with two teaspoons of baking powder, and also add one teaspoon of extract, and beat the batter hard for one minute. Turn it into a buttered pan and bake in a slow oven for almost an hour."

Golden Pumpkin Chips: Six pounds of pumpkin chipped, four and one-half pounds of light brown sugar, six lemons grated (using both rind and juice) and one-fourth pound of green ginger root cut fine.

That this is the time to get the true Christmas spirit. Don't give more expensive presents than you can afford, and don't turn a pleasure into a pain by leaving every thing to the last minute. Think of some one outside your immediate circle of friends and help them to have a happy Christmas and you will find you will have a happy one yourself.

That many Kingston householders drive out into the country to get pure drinking water from tested wells. It seems hard luck to pay twice for water, but many people who have not cars, would be glad to pay enough for a jar of pure water to make it worth while for some one to deliver it at their door.

Blundering Gallantry. At a reception a woman chatted for some time with a distinguished man of learning and displayed such intelligence that one of the listeners complimented her.

To-morrow's HOROSCOPE By Genevieve Kamble

SUNDAY AND MONDAY, DEC. 17TH-18TH.

Sunday's astrological map is promising for spiritual, mystical and social or romantic activities, but holds little of encouragement in other directions. It would be inadvisable to undertake important journeys or changes.

Those whose birthday it is should shun travel and change and give close attention to business during the year. A child born on this day will be sensitive, impressionable and trustworthy, although it may require careful early training in self-control.

Monday's horoscope urges the necessity, for attending carefully to business, and points out a certain hazard attending the use of money in speculation or outside the customary avenues of expenditure. Domestic affairs are well aspected for happy conditions.

Those whose birthday it is may have a satisfactory year if they use their money wisely and attend strictly to business. Home affairs should bring happiness. A child born on this day is likely to have a rather quiet career and possess unusual mental endowments.
