The funeral of the late Mrs. James Leslie took place from her late residence, 71 Nelson street, at Catarqui cemetery on Thursday afternoon. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends. The casket was banked with beautiful flowers, expressing the esteem and affectionate regard in which the deceased was universally held. Rev. J. S. GUIDE TO R. M. C.

Just Completed By The Job Press of British Whig.

Fresh from the Whig job press for the Christmas Season, comes a "Guide to the Royal Military College of Canada," which, beautifully illustrated and issued in close co-operation with the College authorities, will form a treasured souvenir for all who have pleasant memories of the Institution across the Bay.

The book is profusely illustrated with views of The Royal Military College and the descriptive matter is of intense interest to all. While originally intended as a help to visitors and tourists going over the Institution, it is something which all friends of the College will be glad to have. Many improvements have been made at the College, and the Guide explains them in detail. The College has many traditions and the book shows their importance.

Printed on a coated paper and retailed at the popular price of 25c, it offers to citizens and visitors a means of obtaining a beautiful souvenir of the Limestone City and Canada's West Point. Though only prepared on sale on Thursday morning, many expressions of admiration have been received regarding the artistic manner in which the book has been printed, and it is anticipated that the first edition printed will be speedily exhausted.

The Guide to the R.M.C. can be purchased at Uglow's, College Book Store, McAuley's Book Store, McGahey's Cigar Store, Baker's Cigar Store, or at the office of the Whig.

LATE J. A. WELSTEAD.

Burial of Aged Horseman took Place on Friday.

The funeral of the late John A. Welstead took place from his late residence, 444 Albert street to Sydenham cemetery at 10 a.m. Friday, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. It was also the occasion for the attendance of numerous trackmen who knew the deceased intimately, and held him in high esteem for his great zeal, his integrity, his fine sporting spirit that made him a leader among the horsemen and won for him a lasting place in the affections of the fraternity. While the family asked that flowers be omitted, beautiful wreaths were sent from some organizations.

Rev. J. de P. Wright, rector of St. Luke's church, officiated, and the religious service was most impressive. Twelve pall bearers were chosen to carry the casket, six at the residence and six at the cemetery. Those at the residence were: J. Hoppes, L. G. Guess, R. Patterson, W. S. Gordon, Fred. Metcalfe, Blake Thompson. After the service the cortege proceeded to Sydenham cemetery where interment was made. The procession on Albert street was a long one, many of those in attendance going to Sydenham by motor.

A LONELY "BUDDY" LOOKING FOR A GIRL

War Veteran Was Stationed at Kingston For Four Months.

The Whig has received a letter from C. M. Johnson, First Company, D.B.G., Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, U.S.A., in which he asks the editor to publish a request for him. This man served for four years in the Canadian army during the war, being attached to the Field Artillery. For four months he was stationed at Kingston, and it seems that he made many friends here, especially among the ladies, and grew to be very fond of the old Limestone City. He was twice wounded during his overseas service and was one of the first to enlist, although American born. He is now with the United States Army at the above mentioned address and according to his letter says: "I wish, by your help, to become acquainted with some lady, maiden or widow, to write to and to be friends with as, the truth is I am lonely and lonesome for the friendship of a true Christian woman."

The young soldier seems to have every element of sincerity and good faith in his letter, and it would be a good Christmas or New Year's gift for him to receive a letter from a nice Canadian girl. Here's a chance to do a good turn for a lonely buddy, girl.

Trentonians hope that this company will pay another visit and vary our somewhat limited and monotonous form of public entertainment."
