INDUSTRIAL HEART OF GERMANY IN FRENCH HANDS.

The Ruhr area is estimated at about 1,234 square miles in extent, but something of its immense mineral wealth can be gathered from the above map. Each of the round black marks represents a mine shaft. The district has a population of four million, of which a half million are coal miners. In pre-war days its coal production was 113,000,000 tons a year. It has a visible reserve of 54 billion tons, and an estimated unmined reserve of 220 billion tons. Steel production in the year the war ended amounted to ten million tons. Over nine hundred million dollars is invested there.

Why Jenny Lind Is Called the "Swedish Nightingale."

Early in the last century, at the Royal Opera in Stockholm, there was a famous dancer named Mme. Lundberg. She had a maid who used to tell her about a child she passed every day on her way to the theatre. This little girl was the daughter of a widow. She lived with her grandmother while her own mother went out as a governess.

It was not a very bright place for this little nine-year-old girl. But she did not mind it, because she had a pet cat to which she talked, and sang. People stopped in the street to look up at the pretty picture the child and the cat made in the window, and to listen to her sweet voice.

Mme. Lundberg's maid became so interested in the child that she brought her to see her mistress, and had her sing some of her songs. Mme. Lundberg said: "This child must be educated for the stage."

She took the little girl to the manager, who started her instruction immediately at the Royal school.

This was the beginning of the career of one of the greatest of singers—Jenny Lind, the Swedish Nightingale.

Jenny started to study and work with an interest and determination which never left her.

She had small parts in the opera, acting children's parts. When she grew older she literally took the world by storm.

At one time when she left Stockholm for a trip to London, the battleships lying in the harbor were decorated and fired a salute for her as if she had been a queen.

Her greatest success was on her visit to America. Here she first sang at the old Castle Garden, at the Battery, the present Aquarium in New York city.

P. T. Barnum was her manager. Her contract read for one hundred and fifty concerts at one thousand dollars each. Later, of his own accord, this wizard of the show world, changed her contract to read that they should divide equally any excess over five thousand dollars per concert.

Jenny Lind's proceeds of her first two concerts in New York were ten thousand dollars. She immediately turned over this sum to the mayor to divide among the city charities.

She gave many thousands of dollars not only while in America, but during her life.

It was while in America that Jenny Lind fell in love with and married Otto Goldschmidt. Goldschmidt was twelve years younger than Jenny Lind and a very fine musician.

The marriage was ideally happy. They toured the continent together. She was feted at all the courts of Europe, but was never spoiled by her success or the wealth which she accumulated.

Few women have been adored as was Jenny Lind. Her life seems to have been blessed because of her goodness and the joy which she gave the world with her beautiful voice.

She passed the later years of her life with her husband, children and grandchildren around her—a happy, contented woman. She could not help singing.

A few days before her death, when she was sixty-six, she sang with a sweetness which was like her character.

People stopped to Listen to Her Sweet Voice.

AT ALLEN WOLFE ISLAND.

A Budget of News From Our Own Correspondent.

Allen, Wolfe Island, Jan. 27.—The farmers in this vicinity are busily engaged in sawing wood. R. Burke is the owner of the sawing machine.

Archiberry spent three days at the home of his sister, Mrs. Macgregor, Bell's Point, on account of her severe illness. John Niles is still very sick. He has now been confined to bed since December 1st. News arrived this morning of the illness of Mrs. Isadore Rattery, of Fulton, Delaware. Her son, Roy, leaves to-morrow for his home in Delaware. One of John Niles' horses fell and broke his hind leg yesterday and Mr. Niles was compelled to shoot him.

Miss Madeline Morgan and her brother, Aldon, spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Morgan. Miss Moore and Miss Delaney spent Sunday with them, also Howard Niles.

A party will be held next week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burke. Leelle King and George Bates have made a rink, and if the weather continues cold and dry there will be good skating. James Ruth has broken in his new colt. In time he shall be a good road horse. The ice between Wolfe Island and Howe Island is in very good condition. A sleigh ride party has been planned between the two islands for early next week.

Eddie King has been hired by Mr. Allison for the coming month. Mr. Allison is retiring from farming on account of Mrs. Allison's ill health. Miss Edith Montgomery spent one day this week at the home of Richard Berry's. Miss Margaret Halliday spent the week-end with her parents. Miss Lillian Halliday, who for the past two weeks has been with her sister, Mrs. James Kenny, has returned home. John T. Murphy, formerly of Wolfe Island, spent one day with his mother, Mrs. Jerry Murphy. Howard Niles and William Kiel crossed the river from their homes to the American side last Sunday. They said the ice was not in very good condition. The crossing from Kingston to the island is excellent.
