Still, if there were no small towns, what would large towns feel superior to?

How times change. When Eve discovered that she was naked, she was ashamed.

Progressive: One who yearns for the dinch once enjoyed by the conservative.

The unkindest cut of all is the one the surgeon makes to get at an inoffensive appendix.

The glory of romance grows a little dim when first he lies awake and listens to her snore.

Some women always have something to talk about, and some never have any aches or pains.

It will be hard to convince the rising generation that "ruthless militarism" isn't all one word.

The robber barons of old merely took it; they didn't put folks to the trouble of filling out tax blanks.

The thing that keeps an old bachelor single is the conviction that all women are like those he knows.

You can't hope for much in the way of prison reform until we get to sending a better class of folks there.

The world may not be better, but fewer great men feel constrained to use a signature nobody can decipher.

Some good people patiently deny themselves here in the hope that they will have a high old time in Heaven.

At twenty he thinks he can save the world; at thirty he begins to wish he could save part of his salary.

The troublesome part of teaching the children good manners is that you feel under obligation to set them an example.

If you can't travel, you can get Pullman luxury at home. Just crawl up on a closet shelf and stick a cinder in your eye.

The difference between peace and war is that in time of war you hate the enemy and in time of peace you hate your friends.

The trouble seems to be that too many people think the law should be enforced, and not enough think it should be observed.

What some people think a spiritual blessing is just a delightful consciousness of being more righteous than the neighbors.

Don't be too conceited about it. Not every man who will give you a glowing recommendation will endorse a note for you.

Correct this sentence: "Mother," pleaded little Bobby, "won't you please let me off this time without another piece of pie?"

From a German source it is suggested that the United States assume a mandate over the Ruhr. That job appears to be more than filled already.

THE PASSING OF THE GRAND TRUNK.

At a meeting of the new directors of the Canadian National Railways, held at Ottawa the other day, it was decided to go ahead at once with the task of merging the Grand Trunk Railway system with the national system, and an agreement was drawn up by which the old Grand Trunk Railway will cease to exist, and will simply become a part of the greater system which forms the largest public owned railway property in the world.

With the successful merging of the two great systems which form the major part of the national lines, the people of Canada will look for a speedy improvement in the railway situation. They have been told for the past three years that the only possible way of making the national lines a paying proposition was to merge the two systems under one management, and consolidate the properties into one.

There is only one regret to be voiced in connection with the consolidation of the systems. That is that Hon. W. C. Kennedy, the late minister of railway, did not live to see the completion of the task which he faced with such energy and courage when he became a member of the King cabinet in December of 1921.

AN "AIR FLIVVER."

The Literary Digest calls attention to the fact that from time to time the report goes out, usually on indefinite authority, that Henry Ford, manufacturer of the most frequent motor car, is planning to enter the aeroplane market with a machine that will fill the highways of the sky even as his famous "divvers" are darkening the highways of the earth.

When a boy I belonged to an athletic club which had weekly cross country runs of from four to six miles. We jogged along together so that the very poorest runner would be able to keep up with the others.

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.

The Turkish delegation to the Lausanne conference, according to yesterday's despatches, have refused to sign the Near East peace pact. There may be much significance in this move. Some days ago we were informed that the Russian government was massing troops on the Turkish frontier.

SUCCESS.

Achievement is not always success, while reputed failure often is. The most successful men are not necessarily the ones noisily attracting public attention.

Cops Always Can Hear It. The dry sleuth smiled and said "I'm here to tell you boys, a 'stilt' explosion makes an awful lot of noise."

Observations of Oldest Inhabitant. Back in the "good old days," you hear folks sighing for, the people were harping back on the "good old days" of the preceding generation.

We'd Like to Remark in Passing That—What Europe needs most is a good laugh, and if she only could see how ridiculous she is making herself she surely would get it.

She Gave Up Storm For Storms. Eht (Lamped by a LaSalle (Ill.) Reader in an Owensboro (Ky.) Paper).

You Certainly Did. "A Power Dam is Rebuilt"—headline. Which suggests to T. C. F. that if you have a "rebuild car" you need a good many powerful dams.

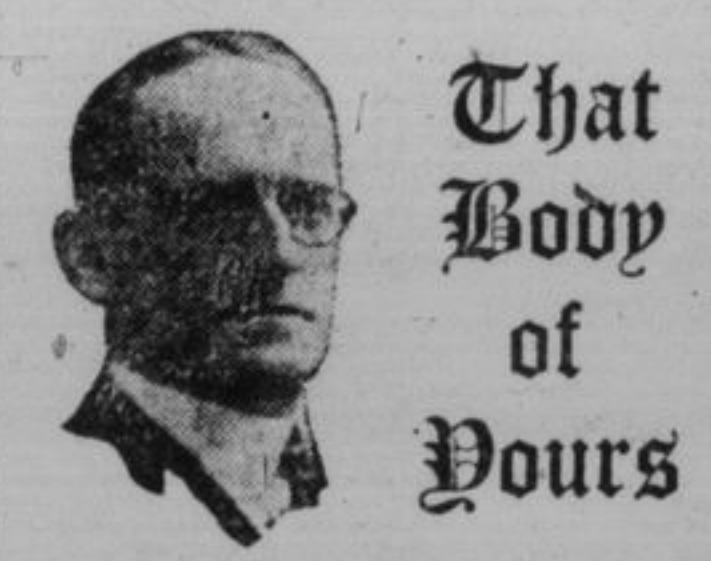

Pa's Idea of Them. "Pa," said Clarence, "what are mournful numbers?" "The bills I get the first of every month," growled his dad.

Pool Questions. W. E. S. asks: "Do the firemen enjoy playing on the ruins after the fire?" If the K. K. K. are not busy they might see what they can do with W. E. S.

Welcome Back, Holyoke. The Peacock is a wonderful bird. A wise, conceited thing; But nothing like a chicken that displays a diamond ring.

So There. We often wonder if a man ever gets rich enough to provide his wife with all the clothes she things she "absolutely" must have.—Sam Hill. Probably not, says our steno, but he will get rich enough to buy all he wants for himself.—Tom Deming.

Gems From Guide Book to Success. The man you so often hear telling of his marvellous achievements, his ability and works of note, but shows no further evidence of his successes, proves but one thing—that he is an
